Dan Walker, nearing the end of a 1,100-mile walking campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor, will arrive in Elk Grove Village late tomorrow. Walker will leave Wheaton tomorrow and is expected to enter Elk Grove Village late in the afternoon. He will spend the night in the village and continue his trek Thursday morning, passing through Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines.

The independent Democrat announced nearly a year ago he would seek the party's nomination in the primary election on March 21, 1972. He has emphasized he will not seek endorsement of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley or the Democratic State Central Committee.

Walker resigned as vice president and general counsel of Montgomery Ward & Co. to campaign for governor. He was the chairman of the commission which investigated the riots at the Democratic convention in 1968 and issued the controversial Walker Report. He managed Sen. Adlai Stevenson's campaign in 1970.

HE BEGAN the walk on July 9 at Brookport, on the Kentucky border. Last week he reached the Wisconsin border at South Beloit and has since covered parts of Winnebago, Boone, McHenry, Kane and DuPage counties.

A campaign aide reported the candidate's zig-zag route has covered parts of 40 counties. Evening side-trips by auto put Walker in another 20 counties along the route, he said.

The walking campaign will end on its 114th day in Chicago Sunday. A rally of supporters has been planned at 1 p.m.

Sunday in the Sherman House hotel, where he announced the walking tour last July.

Walker will enter Elk Grove Village on Arlington Heights Road. Tomorrow's route is:

Thomas Smith Lauds Antioch Humanistic Society

by TOM JACHIMIEC

ANTIOCH, Ill. — Thomas E. Smith is alive and doing quite well in this small community of 3,500 in Northwest Lake County.

Smith is his old self, walking down Antioch's Main Street greeting many friends, and enjoying his new role as president of the Antioch Humanistic Society.

"I like small towns," Smith said, recalling even when he worked in Elk Grove Village for 18 months and Elk Grove Elementary Township Dist. 59 before that, he commuted to Antioch.

"The air is cleaner and the world seems softer here," he said. He prefers not to live in the suburbs, saying they are a nice place to work "but I wouldn't want to live there."

It has been almost a year since Smith was asked to resign his position as executive director of Elk Grove Village Community Service, the municipally-funded mental health and social service agency.

SMITH, A PSYCHOLOGIST, stayed on the job until Jan. 30, a Friday, and immediately started at the Diagnostic Learning Center in Arlington Heights where he is presently employed, the next Monday.

So the long 50-minute ride to his home along a lake in Antioch continued.

His house, a spacious building on Lake Catherine near Ill. Rte. 173, is the headquarters of the Antioch Humanistic Society, a newly organized nonprofit corporation serving the Chain O'Lakes region near the Wisconsin border. It is also home for his wife, Charlotte, and their six children.

"My goal is to make the world a better place to live — especially the Chain O'Lakes area," said Smith, as optimistic as ever.

SPORTING A GRAY beard, Smith was driving through the winding roads of Lake County, talking about the people-helping programs the society is organizing.

They include Camp Antioch for children from 7 to 17 with adjustment and achievement problems, a mental health center, child development center, and another program known as the Antioch Institute.

"It will take a couple of years," he said, "but if the people want to support it, it will survive."

Smith still believes communities should all have a "chief of human problem solving" on the level with the fire chief and police chief.

The problem, Smith believes, is that there are people problems that need to be solved just as there are fires to be put out and laws to be enforced.

THE SOCIETY is founded on the assumption that more people are hurting than ever before and more people are concerned than ever before. It is now the Society's role to develop the local resources to deal with these problems.

Smith said he has no ill feelings about his departure from Community Service. "I'm glad it's going well," he said. "And I'm glad I'm gone."

Smith had been accused of alienating the community while in Elk Grove Village. He subsequently lost the backing of then Village Pres. Jack Pahl and the community service and mental health board.

SMITH REALIZES HE may face community controversy again — this time in Antioch.

"In some ways people here are more easy going. They are not caught up in the pressure pervading in suburban panic," he said.

"But in relaxation there exists a certain amount of apathy from the older segment of the community," he said, noting that a segment of the community may not be willing to recognize there is a drug problem when in fact there is.

Smith said working with youth is controversial and should be recognized as such. He said he has always felt if you're not stirring people up that is an indication you're probably not doing anything.

Smith maintains that Elk Grove Village Community Service is a unique program for a community. He has strong praise for the community for having the foresight to establish it with municipal funds.

"GLENN POWELL (the first Community Service director) made a hell of a contribution," Smith said. "I felt I was the right man at the time to pick up on a dream and move it to reality."

Smith laughs, adding.

"At one time I became the wrong man, but the foundations were laid.

"I hope they move on to the responsible, helpful, people-oriented program that was envisioned," he said.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

As the Pentagon took 2,000 troops off standby alert, pouring rain washed out an opening antiwar protest in Washington, but its organizers vowed to conduct a year-long campaign against President Nixon's reelection next year. About 400 persons showed up at the Washington Monument and nearly all sought cover when the skies opened with a torrent. John Froines, a Chicago Seven defendant and a leader in the antiwar movement, said the events would be held today.

A few hundred persons dotted Arlington National Cemetery to honor America's veterans, including those of the Vietnam War who Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said have "paid a higher price than usual."

An announcement on the date of President Nixon's visit to mainland China is expected soon after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returns today from Peking.

A dynamite blast caused extensive damage to the Detroit Police Officers Association headquarters in what police called an "obvious attempt to assassinate police officers." No one was injured but damage was estimated at $3,000.

The War

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 40 guerrillas in scattered clashes, mostly in the southern half of the nation as action remained light. B52 bombers stayed out of Vietnam for the second straight day, hitting supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, beginning his first official visit to a Western nation, smiled his way through a lukewarm welcome in Paris and promised President Georges Pompidou to wipe out traces of the Cold War.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

American officials said the South Vietnamese government would have to direct its own relief efforts in the wake of typhoon Hester, although U.S. helicopters moved swiftly to rescue thousands of homeless refugees.

The World

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $1.3 million federal grant to rehabilitate 1,500 persons on welfare. Ogilvie said the grant — to which Illinois will add $200,000 — will rehabilitate 1,000 persons in Chicago and 500 in the Peoria area so they can get jobs.

A birth control pill taken within 72 hours after sexual intercourse has been shown successful in tests upon 1,000 women of child-bearing age without serious side-effects, a physician reported. Dr. Lucille Kirtland Kuchera of the University of Michigan Health service said nearly 900 of the women had used no form of protection.

The Weather

Atlanta	75	55
Houston	78	64
Los Angeles	64	50
New Orleans	79	55

The Market

Stock prices moved lower in the duller session since mid-August of last year. Neither the softness nor the lagging pace of trading was expected. Observers noted the list, marking its ninth consecutive decline, was under pressure from a number of continuing economic and business factors. The Dow Jones industrial average, measuring 30 selected blue chips, eased another 3.87 points to 848.50. The Dow lost more than 22 points last week. Of the total 1,586 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances, 804 to 434.

Tax Bill A 1972 Christmas 'Gift?'

by TOM WELLMAN

Taxpayers may receive an unwanted Christmas present in the form of a tax bill next year in December, if the state legislature has its way.

George Dunne, Cook County board president, told 75 members of the League of Women Voters in Oak Park Friday that taxpayers on Dec. 1, 1972, may receive a bill for one-sixth of real estate tax due.

Dunne explained the proposal would allow the county treasurer to bill taxpayers for one-sixth of their previous tax payment. The bills would be sent out Dec. 1 and would be due Jan. 1.

Other bills would be due on March 1, May 1 and July 1, he explained.

AFTER THE speech, Dunne said the bill is on third reading in the legislature and is close to passage.

He "plained the new plan would reduce the number of tax anticipation warrants the county must sell, because of the early collection of taxes. The savings would be passed along to county taxpayers, he reported.

Dunne also told the League members the county is considering a plan to seek collection costs from all taxing bodies, which includes municipalities and school districts.

He said the idea may soon be submitted to the County Board as an ordinance. The new Constitution eliminates the direct collection of 1 per cent of tax revenue by the county.

Dunne added the collection would replace a one per cent collection by the county which was ruled unconstitutional earlier this year. County government is short $14 million because of that loss, Dunne explained.

The county will also face a $6 million price tag for the 1972 county elections and county department heads have asked for $6 million for 500 more jobs next year, he reported.

SPEAKING AT a luncheon seminar, Dunne said 1970 census figures indicate the suburbs will gain one commissioner in time for the 1974 county board election.

He said the board must reapportion itself before that election. The 10-5 city-suburban balance would become a 9-6 balance he reported.

Such a move could benefit the Republicans, as the city representatives, elected by Chicago voters, are traditionally Democratic, while the suburban board members are Republican. However, the Democrats would still maintain a 9-6 edge.

Dwelling on home rule powers granted the county by the 1970 Illinois Constitution, Dunne outlined some of the ways in which the county is responding:

—Contract policing for the suburb of Burbank, under a home rule provision in the new constitution.

—Ticketing of air pollution violators under an ordinance adopted a month ago by the board, Dunne said, however, he "would prefer no violations" to the ticketing revenue.

—Home rule provisions allow the board to determine if the County Board president should be a non-voting member — which Dunne said was "not a serious problem."

A court test to determine if bonds can be issued by the County for renovation work in the 60-year-old County Building.

HE ADDED the idea of mini-Civic Centers in the suburbs was "well worth various considerations," but stressed the County Board has not formally discussed the idea yet. A court test and then the advice of a planner and consultation with other leaders of county government would be needed first, he explained.

He asked his audience to supply ideas of raising revenue, as the new Constitution does not permit governments to levy new taxes or to license for revenue.

"With the help from you, we can acquire the technique of raising funds in other ways."

Says 'Lincoln County' Wrong Name

Secession Sure: Hanrahan

A secession of the Northwest suburban area from Cook County is inevitable, but Lincoln County is the wrong name, Edward Hanrahan, Cook County state's attorney, said Saturday.

Hanrahan's comment came at the dinner dance of the Democratic Organization of Schaumburg Township. Other key Democrats who appeared included County Board Pres. George Dunne and gubernatorial hopeful Thomas Foran.

Hanrahan said he doesn't endorse the idea of a separate county for the Northwest suburbs, as proposed by a group of area Republicans, but he sees the move as inevitable based on the amount of growth and the surprising size of the court records he sees.

But the new county, if it evolves, should be named for Harry Truman, Franklin Roosevelt or John F. Kennedy, said Hanrahan, citing the former Presidents as leaders of our time who set the way for modern-day society.

The committee studying the Lincoln County idea, which would involve the secession of six area townships from Cook County, is awaiting a clarification from the state attorney general's office on legalities involved in such a secession.

Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, a member of the committee, has written the attorney general requesting the interpretation of the statute but has not yet received a statement.

Merwin Soper, Palatine trustee and chairman of the study committee, said yesterday he did not expect the next meeting to be held until November or early December, depending on when the attorney general responds to Graham's request.

HANRAHAN'S comment followed those of John Morrissey, Schaumburg Township Democratic committeeman, who said the Republicans proposing Lincoln County are doing so because of the Democratic sweep in the last county election.

"When the Democrats sweep up in the next state and national election those Republicans will want to secede from the union," said Morrissey, drawing a laugh from the crowd of nearly 250.

Foran spoke of the disillusionment of youth with politics, and with reference to the race track scandal. He said politics has "lost its heroes."

He said it is up to the Democratic Party, through politics, to bring new and worthy heroes to elected office. He called politics the only way to forge forward in modern times and a great way to show youth how society can work.

DUNNE, PRESENT for only a few moments, thanked the local Democrats for their support in his last election.

He later reiterated having no intention of running for governor.

"I have enough to do," said Dunne, adding that the idea he was interested in the governor's position originated with the press, not himself.

Bill Colson, campaign manager for Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, another Democratic gubernatorial candidate, also attended the dinner dance.

Ghosts Occupy The Haunted House

Goblins, ghosts and ghouls will flourish this week in the Campus Life haunted house in Mount Prospect.

Members of Campus Life, a high school religious group, have been working to convert the basement and first floor of old Central School, Main Street and Central Road, into a spook house. Paul Veerman, Campus Life spokesman, estimates it cost $2,500 to transform the school into a chamber of horrors.

Veerman said he expects about 10,000 people to tour the house during its seven-day run. The house will be open until Saturday. Hours are from 7 to 10:30 p.m. weekdays and 7 to 11 p.m. weekends. Veerman said the house may be open Halloween, depending on the demand.

Last year during four days of operation, the haunted house was toured by more than 4,000 people. Another 3,000 were turned away.

FEATURES include a spider room, Dracula's Den, a fog room, a live boa constrictor and a gorilla room. Children under seventh grade are not allowed and seventh and eighth graders must be accompanied by an adult.

"This is mostly for high school age," said Veerman. "One year we let junior high school age kids in without parents and they ripped the place apart. They were so afraid they struck back against it."

Admission is $1.25 at the door and $1 if tickets are purchased before the event from area Campus Life organizations. Tickets can also be purchased by calling the Campus Life office at 259-5144.

Veerman advised visitors to wear old clothes "because they'll have to crawl around." He said partitions have been used to create small rooms and a route through the building.

In two previous years, activities have been held in old, about-to-be destroyed homes in Arlington Heights. Veerman said there are no plans for Central School, which has been rented by Campus Life, to be torn down, however.

"The day after the house closes we will return it to its original state," he said. "The building is electrically sound and we will just be using our electrical things for effect."

THE MOUNT PROSPECT Fire Department has inspected the house to make sure it complies with fire regulations. Two fire guards will be on duty each night, according to Fire Chief Larry Pairitz.

Veerman said the haunted house project is conducted all over the country as part of a national Campus Life program. He said in the previous three years, the local organization has not made any money on the project. "It just gives the kids something to do and promotes Campus Life," he said.

Blind Entertainer Figures He's 'Seen' Most Of The World

by MARCIA KRAMER

John Rice figures he's "seen" all but nine countries in the world.

That's a lot of traveling in itself. It's an even greater accomplishment because Rice, 49, has been blind since 1944.

The entertainer, who has established residence at 1215 N. Waterman, Arlington Heights, has been on the road since he joined a vaudeville troupe at age 2. He says he "can't even begin to guess" how many miles he's traveled.

Whatever that total is, he and his wife, Jeanie Kay, 28, will be adding to it with their current trip, begun last week. It'll take them to Quincy for three months at the Starlight Terrace Ballroom, and then probably Las Vegas or Florida, followed by Europe.

"I have no idea when we'll be back," Rice said just before leaving town. "We may get thrown out of a country the first year, and we may stay for 10. We intend to play wherever music is needed."

JOHN, WHO PLAYS drums he made himself, and Jeanie Kay, who plays the organ, prefer not to book engagements far in advance, preferring instead to go someplace and take their chances.

They've been fairly successful at finding work, "but God knows, we don't make much more than a living at it," Rice said.

Their repertoire includes "everything from Bach to rock," according to Jeanie Kay.

"The kind of music that groups like Chicago and Chase do is on the order of what we do only without the brass," John said.

He felt that music in general "has been in bad shape for awhile," but that "there's been some very, very fine rock lately."

JOHN'S SEEING EYE dog, a German Shepherd named Reddie, will be accompanying the entertainers wherever they end up going. Reddie has been to China, Japan, Chile, Peru and Ecuador among other countries.

The threesome will be traveling in a truck "because we wore out three cars with trailers in the last three years," John explained.

The Rices set up residence in Arlington Heights four months ago and have been performing at Fritzel's for three months. Their album, "Boats," is expected to be available soon.

Consider Fire Engine Replacement

Replacement of the Elk Grove Village fire engine damaged in an accident Oct. 5 will be considered today by the village board of trustees.

The board will consider a recommendation to buy a used pumper truck for $4,000 from Mack Truck at its meeting at 8 p.m. in the municipal building, 901 Wellington Ave.

When the new truck is completed in eight to 10 months, the used one will be traded in to the company, according to Fire Chief Allen Hulett. The used truck, a 1957 model, will be stationed at the department's new fire hall at Ill. Rte. 83 and Greenleaf Avenue when it opens in December, he said.

Hulett said the new truck will cost $52,605, the same amount as another one ordered earlier this year by the village. He said the fire department has not yet reached a settlement with the insurance company on the truck damaged in the accident.

In the accident the truck collided with a semi-trailer at Busse Road and Greenleaf Avenue. Fire Engineer Randall Scott, 38, was critically injured.

Scott remains in fair condition in the intensive care unit of Alexian Brothers Medical Center.

Puerto Rico: Fascinating Mix Of Old And New Worlds

LUTECE ON THE BEACH, one of Puerto Rico's 50 guest houses, is an informal and friendly establishment for the visitor who wants a casual vacation at moderate prices. There are some 30 such places in the San Juan area.

Others are located in lovely corners of the island and in the mountains. All differ in style as well as locale. (Puerto Rico Department Of Tourism)

SAN JUAN, PUERTO RICO — No other island in the Caribbean sun offers such a blend of old and new or such a contrast between two cultures — 16th century Spanish and 20th century "mod."

You can follow in the footsteps of Columbus, Ponce de Leon and Sir Francis Drake as you explore historic landmarks in Old San Juan (450 years old this year) — or you can swing in some of the world's most "with it" resorts.

Nightlife? Best in the Caribbean! Take your pick from spectacular big-name floor shows at one of the fabulous big hotels, or drop into an atmospheric Old San Juan nightspot to listen to Flamenco music and dance until dawn. If you're lucky you may even run into a street festival.

With several hundred miles of swimming, sunning, snorkeling and surfing beaches — and climate that's delightful all year 'round (no rainy season) — you'll have no trouble finding a quiet beach to work on a good tan.

Deep-sea fishing's good. So are golf and tennis.

Shopping's a real adventure. Island merchants offer articles ranging from antique to mod. There are no custom duties, and merchandise has been jetted in from exotic worldwide spots.

"Made in Puerto Rico" items include clothing, art, ceramics, handwoven fiber articles, stringed musical instruments and jewelry.

Cristo Street is the main shopping thoroughfare in Old San Juan — a zealous shopper can spend days there!

In Puerto Rico anything beyond the metropolitan San Juan area is called "out on the island."

If you drive eastward (with a guided tour or on your own) you come to El Yunque, a tropical rain forest on mountains whose peaks tower more than 3,500 feet into the clouds.

Not far from El Yunque is the sleepy town of Luquillo whose crescent-shaped beach is one of the world's most beautiful, the port of Fajardo, and the fishing village of Los Crobabos.

At Fajardo you can stay overnight at the Delicias, a modest little waterfront hotel, or sail to the offshore islands of Vieques and Culebra.

South of Fajardo, the coast road meanders through tiny villages. A day's drive takes you to Ponce, Puerto Rico's second largest city.

West of Ponce are delightful little places: Guanica, site of the first U.S. troop landing in 1898; La Parguera, a fishing village famed for its Phosphorescent Bay; Boqueron, with sparkling new recreational and beach facilities, and San German, one of the most delightful towns in Puerto Rico — pure "old world" from its plaza to its pastel houses to its ancient church of Porta Coeli.

In Mayaguez, Aguadilla (where Columbus landed in 1493) and Rincon — on the west coast — you're apt to find chic resorts side by side with sleepy old fishing villages.

About an hour and a half's drive southwest of San Juan is Barranquitas, a little town high in the hills. Here Luis Munoz Rivera, one of Puerto Rico's greatest political leaders and poets, was born and is buried. Nestled in the mountains a few minutes from town is the Hotel Barranquitas — a perfect place to "get away from it all."

A short drive away is the 700-year old Indian Ceremonial Ball Park. On the northern coastal road back to San Juan is Arecibo which each year stages a colorful three-day pre-Lenten carnival. Outside of town, near the ocean, are caves etched with Indian drawings centuries before Columbus discovered the island.

OUT ON THE ISLAND, in the southwest corner, is the charming "old world" town of San German, settled in 1511. On a knoll at one end of its serene plaza is the church of Porta Coeli, dating from the 17th century. (Puerto Rico Department Of Tourism)

"Golly, Mom, this is really BIG — I mean — WOW!"

My son, the traveler, who has been lucky enough to have flown several hundred hours in his scant 11 years — and who likes to consider himself a "cool" character — was more than impressed Saturday morning when he and I stepped inside the door of a giant TWA 747 Superjet to embark on one of their scenic flights over Chicago.

It's a great way to check out a 747 first-hand — taking one of these TWA scenic flights.

You're in the air about 30 minutes — time enough to find yourself completely overwhelmed with the immense size of this Big Bird, described recently by one traveler as being "like Jules Verne's great 'Ship of the Skies'."

We felt like VIPs Saturday as we entered the full-sized softly-carpeted foyer (that's right — a regular lobby!) of the TWA 747.

The plane carries 342-passengers in First Class and Coach. It can carry many more in both classes; but fewer seats mean more space and comfort.

In the two Royal Ambassador First Class compartments the two-abreast seats extend right into the nose. The front seats here have a forward view — seeing ahead almost as the Captain does.

There are 58 big bucket-style seats in the First Class Compartments. And are they comfortable!

Once the TWA scenic flight is on its way everyone on the plane jumps up and EXPLORES! What fun it is to roam up and down the wide aisles, peek into the six walk-through galleys, take turns sitting in Coach and First Class seats, and climb the winding staircase to the First Class Lounge ("The Penthouse").

In between your reconnoitering on the Big Bird a friendly voice on the speaker system astounds you with some "like-wow!" facts. "Walk 13 times up and down the cabin and you've actually covered one mile — a round-trip stroll through this giant plane takes FOUR MINUTES."

"The 30 baggage containers will take 720 pieces or 85,000 pounds of luggage — and they can be loaded and headed toward the airplane, or unloaded and rolling to the terminal

KITCHEN OF TOMORROW? No, it's a kitchen of today as seen in a Trans World Airlines Boeing 747. TWA's 342-passenger superjets have seven before you are . . . "When fully stocked the airliner has aboard something like 491 coffee cups, 972 plates, 847 glasses, 176 bottles of wine and 25 gallons of liquor." . . . "Each of the Big Birds has a fuel capacity of 46,770 gallons, or enough to keep your family car going for almost 60 years!"

My son garnered other facts — the TWA 747 cruises at 584 miles an hour. With full passenger load, it has a range of 4,800 miles — and it weighs about 710,000 pounds at takeoff!

"walk-through" galleys with enough ovens to prepare enough meals at one time for twice that number. (Trans World Airlines Photo)

Taking a TWA Scenic Flight over Chicago is a wonderful way to enjoy a couple of hours of family fun on a Saturday — and to learn all about a 747 Superjet. I suggest you check with TWA, for tickets on one of their next Scenic Flights.

Also in the fun line — TWA inaugurates the first daily Boeing 747 jet service between Chicago and Las Vegas Oct. 31.

Give you any ideas? TWA's domestic number is 332-7600. Better still — check with your local travel agent.

Travel Service Free, Says Agent

"Many travelers don't realize that the service of travel agents is absolutely free to the customer!"

So reminds Milan (Mike) Sarvady, owner-operator of Best Travel Tours, Inc., which just opened a new office at G-135 Woodfield, Schaumburg.

Stating that the travel agent's income comes from commissions received from hotels, airlines, tour companies and other travel accommodations, Sarvady also added that people can save themselves time and trouble by using the free service of their local travel agent.

Confirmed reservations are made by travel agents for hotels, airlines, sight-seeing tours and cruises for both pleasure and business trips, foreign and domestic travel, and for short weekend trips or long vacations, continued Sarvady, who has a background of more than ten years in the travel field.

Best Travel Tours, Inc., established in 1969, also has an office at 4733 N. Cumberland, Chicago.

Other owners are John Ursin, M.D., and Martin Potucek.

Funds To U.N. Could Be Cut By $258 Million

by BOB LAHEY

United States contributions to the United Nations would be reduced by $258 million annually under provisions of the bill introduced in the House of Representatives by U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-13th.

Crane has informed the House the U.S. will give the U.N. an estimated $335 million during fiscal 1971.

"This contribution amounts to nearly 40 per cent of the funds collected by the United Nations and its related agencies from the present 131 member nations," Crane declared. "However, the United States' population represents only 7.6 per cent of the combined population of the U.N. nations."

Robert A. Lahey

Crane said information provided by the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress showed the U.S. contribution would be reduced to $77.3 million if it were based on our proportionate population among the 131 nations.

He said admission of Red China, with a population of 740 million, would reduce the United States' proportionate contribution to $63.7 million.

While Crane's bill makes no reference to U.S. efforts for a two-China policy in the U.N., it is viewed by many on Capitol Hill as a veiled threat to those nations which are wavering on the question of retaining Nationalist China as a member.

To call attention to this threat, a number of congressmen have hastened to add their names to the list of sponsors. Originally co-sponsored by Illinois Congressman Robert Michel, Peoria Republican and Democrats Joe Waggoner of Louisiana and G.V. Montgomery of Mississippi, the bill has since attracted over 60 co-sponsors in the House.

In the Senate, some 23 senators have joined in a similar resolution originated by Conservative James Buckley of New York.

No action is anticipated on Crane's bill, which is now before the House Appropriations Committee, before the holiday recess which Congress hopes to begin by Nov. 15.

Should the effort to retain the U.N. seat of the Taiwan government fail, the Crane bill will undoubtedly attract many more votes.

CRANE LAST week was named to a 15-man Republican task force on International Economic Policy. According to Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., one of the duties of the group will be to study the 10 per cent surcharge recently imposed by the President on all imports.

The surcharge has been of particular concern to legislators from Illinois, the nation's leading agricultural exporter and the second leading state in overall exports. They fear that extension of the surcharge past the original 90-day period will bring retaliations from other nations and could lead to an extended trade war.

Also on the task force is Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-4th.

Frelinghuysen cited Crane's experience on the House Banking and Currency Committee as the reason for his selection for the task force.

Eighteen girls were chosen as finalists Sunday to compete in the 1971-72 Paddock Publications Junior Miss Pageant.

Altogether 57 seniors from area high schools had entered the pageant and the 18 finalists were selected after personal interviews. The pageant finals, at which time two junior misses will be named, will be held Sunday, Nov. 21.

Forest View coeds chosen are Susan Busch of Mount Prospect and Nancy Cole of Rolling Meadows.

Arlington High School students that made the finals are Mary Lee Cronin, Holly Hansen, Carol Jernberg, Andrea Polites, Laura Sivertsen and Sharon Wellhausen, all of Arlington Heights.

Wendy May Fiesler of Palatine, a student at Fremd and Barbara Gorgol of Des Plaines, Maine East High School, are also finalists.

Also, Heidi Fron, Carol Smitherman and Gail Greaves of Elk Grove Village, Elk Grove High School; Christine Sprinkle of Palatine, Palatine High School; Ann Leimetter of Wheeling, Wheeling High School; Kristi Jacobson of Bensenville, Fenton High School; Joyce Jones of Mount Prospect, Prospect High School; and Sue Crom of Mount Prospect, Hersey High School.

To be eligible to enter, girls had to have a B average or better. At the pageant Nov. 21, the finalists will be judged on poise, physical fitness and talent. The two chosen junior misses will receive scholarships of $500 and be eligible to compete in the state pageant. Runnersup and special recognition scholarships will also be awarded.

Three new judges have been named to replace those who were forced to withdraw.

Claim No Tax Bill 'Control'

The Cook County Collector's office has declared it should not be the direct target of a lawsuit filed by a group of county school districts.

The office, in a statement released last week, said the office "does not have control" over the "complicated and time consuming procedure" of preparing tax bills.

In September, several area school districts announced they were joining the lawsuit sponsored by the Illinois Association of School Boards, to challenge the late distribution of tax bills.

This year the bills, normally mailed out in April, were not sent until July. Thus, local school districts were late in receiving local tax revenues.

The Collector's statement describes the process of tax assessment and collection as involving state and county agencies:

"THE COUNTY Assessor's Office must assess all county property and the Board of Tax Appeals must hold its hearings. Assessment figures are then compiled by the County Clerk who turns them over to the Board of Local Government Affairs

(a state agency) for the establishment of the equalization rate.

"The County Clerk then sets the tax rates for the county. These figures are then sent to the County Data Processing Center for the preparation of the tax bills, which, when completed, are forwarded to the collector for mailing."

The statement also asserts the office "had one of the best collection and distribution records in county history," despite the delay in mailing bills.

"The point is that the county collector does not have the responsibility of assessing property or preparing tax bills. Our job begins when the tax bills are received by our office," it states.

High School Districts 211 and 214 and Elementary Districts 23 (Prospect Heights), 54 (Hoffman Estates-Schaumburg), 59 (Elk Grove Twp.) and 21 (Wheeling-Elmhurst) are contributing money to file the suit.

"It is unfortunate that many school districts have been misguided in joining this suit which, we feel confident will be dismissed by the courts for lack of merit and error," the statement concludes.

When Rebuffed, Miss A Freeload

 "We bought tickets and didn't go in."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Every red-blooded American must have been incensed, as I was, over the treatment accorded Rep. Wayne Hays at the White House last week.

After being invited to attend a presidential briefing, the Ohio Democrat was turned away at the gate by a guard who couldn't find Hays' name on the admittance list. Shocking!

Although the White House later expressed regrets, saying the whole thing was a mistake, Hays understandably felt highly aggrieved.

And when you consider that he has one of the lowest aggravation points in Congress, you can see that this was a case of massive indignation.

Even so, official Washington was stunned by the severity of his reprisal. For Hays chose as a retaliatory measure a truly crushing stroke of Old Testament vengeance.

He told newsmen he would deny President Nixon the pleasure of his company at a White House dinner honoring President Tito of Yugoslavia later this month.

In a town where freeloading is held sacred, this was tantamount to heresy. Nixon is reported to have blanched and gasped "Oh, no! Not that!" when he heard the news.

As I was saying, I'm sure the public shares Hays' sense of frustration at being rebuffed at the White House gates, even inadvertently.

I do question, however, whether he was wise in reacting so harshly. It could be counter-productive, causing public sympathy to shift to the side of the White House.

There are a number of less extreme ways that Hays could have hit back. If, for example, the administration wanted to build a new dam in his home district, he could refuse to accept any credit for it.

Cooler heads tried to persuade Hays to reconsider his drastic tit-for-tat approach. "Wayne, baby," they implored, "we don't blame you for being vexed, but couldn't you show a little mercy?"

At last report, however, the congressman was standing firm in his resolve to absent himself from the White House dinner. I don't know where he intends to dine that evening, but if he really wants to rub it in, he'll send out for hamburgers.

Essay Contest For High School Seniors Told

Any Illinois high school seniors are eligible to enter the annual Illinois Editors' Traffic Safety Seminar essay contest.

The contest provides for 10 winners — five boys and five girls — to each receive $500 Chicago Motor Club scholarship grants.

Paul Coffman, seminar president, said the essay theme this year is "My Program For Improving My Community's Teen-Age Traffic Safety Record." He added all high schools in Illinois — public, parochial and private — have been supplied with information about the contest and entry blanks. He urged school officials to encourage participation of all seniors in this worthwhile project.

The contest rules are:
 —The contest is open to all Illinois high school seniors in public, parochial or private schools.

—The top 10 awards — $500 Chicago Motor Club scholarship grants — will be divided equally among boy and girl entrants.

—Entry blanks or facsimile must accompany all entries (entry blanks are available at schools, Chicago Motor Club branch offices or by mail from Seminar Headquarters, 66 E. South Water Street, Chicago, Ill. 60601).

—Essays must be received at Seminar Headquarters postmarked no later than Dec. 31, 1971.

—Seminar Scholarship committee will screen entries and forward each of those qualifying to entrant's local newspaper with the suggestion that it be published in whole or in part. Publication of an essay qualifies the entrant for final judging.

—Tear sheets of published essays must be returned to seminar headquarters no later than March 15, 1972, for final judging by a panel of University of Illinois educators.

—Scholarship awards will be presented by the Chicago Motor Club at the Seminar Honors luncheon, May 12, 1972 in Henrici's Motor Inn, Rockford.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I would like to know about a slipped disc. My doctor said I had one and recommended an operation. Well, most of the pain went away and I feared the operation.

My left leg has been quite numb since and now, due to a little work, my back and leg have been aching quite a bit. Is there any way besides an operation to take care of this? People tell me that if I just let it go, being rather numb from my knee down to my toes, that gangrene would set in. Is there any truth in this? I am very worried and would like your opinion.

Dear Reader — It might help to explain what a disc problem is. Between the vertebrae from the sacrum to the head there are small cushions. These are like small plastic bags, filled with fluid. In the center of each cushion is a small, round, rubbery disc. Immediately behind the main body of each vertebrae is the hole or canal for the spinal cord. Its branches pass out through the spaces near the canal, formed where each vertebra joins with the next.

The small pulleys prevent jarring during walking. They are nature's spring. If a pillow ruptures the disc may be pushed out and press against one of the main nerve roots from the spinal cord or the cord itself can be damaged. The pressure leads to numbness of the leg, if those nerves are involved, and problems in movement.

Sometimes doctors put a patient in traction, to try to widen the space between the vertebrae, hoping the little disc will stay where it belongs. Often such procedures merely postpone the day something more specific must be done.

THERE IS DANGER that an additional strain on the back might cause the disc to protrude even farther, causing more nerve damage. Discs are apt to pop out when a person is bending over and lifting. The widened space with the pressure of lifting causes the little pillow to rupture.

If the problem really is a ruptured disc and not simply muscle spasm (sometimes confused with the problem) it is usually best to have an operation. Once the disc is removed it cannot produce pressure on the nerves and cause damage. Of course, the function of the little pillow is lost and sometimes the two vertebrae involved are joined (fused). The operation is usually simple. Some individuals are up and walking around the next day.

It is unlikely that you will get gangrene, since it is the nerves in the spine that are under pressure, not the arteries. But you can cause permanent damage by neglecting the problem. Recently some studies on dissolving the disc by injections have been tried but you should discuss that with your doctor. The problem is important and you should by all means do what your doctor suggests. Friends mean well but the place to get your medical advice is from the doctor trained to give it.

Area Peddler Law Is Used As Model

Ordinances in force in Arlington Heights and Wheeling for the control of door-to-door peddlers are a case study in the powers of "home-rule" and "non-home-rule" municipalities under the new state constitution.

Wheeling Village Atty Paul Hamer last week used the Wheeling ordinance and a model law similar to that enacted in Arlington Heights as an example for communities throughout the state of what they can do to regulate doorbell ringers. He made the presentation during the annual conference of the Illinois Municipal League in Peoria.

Arlington Heights, with a population of 65,000, well over the 25,000 home rule limit, because a home-rule unit under the revised state charter, with expanded legislative powers.

Wheeling, with a population of approximately 15,000 remains a non-home-unit, with powers still limited to those authorized by state statute.

Hamer explained the Wheeling ordinance was based upon express statutory authority giving municipalities the power to prevent trespassing.

THE ORDINANCE enacted by Arlington Heights, however, was based upon implied authority granted to home-rule municipalities under the new constitution.

The difference points up not only the expanded jurisdiction of home-rule communities, but the confusion among local officials about how far that jurisdiction extends.

While the Wheeling ordinance is modeled on a detailed statute and appears to carry little question of legality, its scope is much more limited than the Arlington Heights regulation. The Wheeling "no-trespassing" law is the lone survivor of a series of three ordinances passed in 1964 aimed at giving homeowners protection against unwanted solicitors. Two stronger regulations were thrown out in court cases.

Following the limited authority of the statute, the Wheeling law specifies that no one shall enter premises posted against such entry, and provides violation of a posted or oral protest against such entry. It provides a $500 fine for failure to respect such protest.

While based on less certain authority, the Arlington Heights ordinance is much broader.

A study by a committee of attorneys for the Illinois Municipal League concluded that home-rule units have the power to license and regulate businesses as part of their police power to promote

Community Colleges Help In Protecting Environment

As industry and government gear up for the battle to improve the environment, community colleges figure to play a primary role in producing the technicians and skilled personnel needed for the fight against pollution, according to a report just published by the American Association of Junior Colleges.

Entitled "Environmental Education in the Community College," the report discusses the extent of present environmental programs in two-year colleges and the possible demands for tomorrow. Author-editor of the report is Arden L. Pratt, director, Vocational-Technical Institute, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill., formerly with the association.

The need for technicians, operators, and other workers in environmental fields will be markedly increasing over the next 5 to 15 years, Pratt notes in the book.

"Prior to 1965, there were only a handful of two-year colleges with specific programs to train technicians in any environmental field," according to J. N. Carsey, president, and Carl Schwing, chairman, pollution abatement technology department, at Charles County Community College in La Plata, Md., contributors to the publication. "Today, over 100 community colleges have become involved in some type of training designed to educate post-secondary students in environmental technology."

CARSEY AND Schwing believe the greatest need in the pollution control battle in the future will be for technicians, trained in two years or less, who can do tasks such as controlling pests, treating polluted water, planning use of land, sanitizing food, conserving timber, saving the ocean estuaries.

The authors say development of environmental control technology programs has been hampered by concern about the quality and number of jobs that might be available. It is their opinion that "the need for these technicians will soon be greater than the community colleges can furnish unless they gear up quickly."

Wild Game From Start To End

THE ARLINGTON-Palatine thriller at Palatine Friday, today's game of the week, was the kind of game in which fans will tend to remember only the last minute of play.

That brought a wild and woolly finish, one of the most exciting in Mid-Suburban League history. When was the last time, if ever, in a league game that both touchdowns came in the last 48 seconds, the winner on the last play?

The Pirates pulled it off for a 7-6 upset after Jim Stauner's 30-yard scramble on a broken pass play and John Finlay's extra-point kick. This, for those who Bert Newman).

"Sometimes little things like that make the difference. It can be so small. Maybe we've just needed a slight change in attitude. That can be the winning edge."

Still and all, Walther wasn't too harsh on his players. "They've played well all year and I can't be down on them. Games like this are nothing to be ashamed of. This team has played some real thrillers and you can never count them out. They have a fine spirit underneath."

Herstedt raved first about Stauner, "who has been a tremendous leader for us with great all-around talent" and then about what he called a true team effort.

"To be successful," he explained, "you need guys pulling together from the coaches all the way down. That's just what we have at Palatine and I couldn't be prouder of our whole program here."

Herstedt provided a fitting summary to the game when he said: "This is high school football. You know and I know that anything can happen in high school football."

That certainly held true Friday night, when you almost had to be there to believe it.

haven't heard, followed a 60-yard run to paydirt by Arlington's Bill Welton with just under a minute left.

But what many fans may not remember, and what is worth remembering, was many interesting aspects of the contest BEFORE that last minute. The first 17 minutes is the subject of today's discussion.

The first three quarters plus 11 minutes showed that a scoreless game isn't necessarily boring. Had it ended in a 0-0 deadlock, as seemed certain to be the case, it would have been more interesting than most 0-0 games.

It wasn't that the offenses were completely stymied. Arlington gained 296 yards, 248 on the ground, and Palatine gained a total of 241.

But much of that for both teams was what Arlington coach Bob Walther called "a lot of midfield statistics," in other words, the teams moved well between the 20-yard lines but were kept from punctuating the end zones by turnovers and mistakes.

Each team had two passes intercepted (both of Arlington were by Dave Auge) and there were seven fumbles in all, two lost by each side.

And that wasn't all. There were also other squandered chances which came back to haunt the Cardinals and nearly the Pirates.

First, about Arlington's lost opportunities, since they turned out to be much more costly.

In the third quarter, an Arlington rusher set sail for the goal line with no defenders ahead when he slipped on the wet turf and fell, having to settle for a 17-yard gain.

Then in the fourth quarter, Bill Welton, who led all rushers with 128 yards, apparently had returned a punt from his own 27 to the Palatine five but was called back for stepping out of bounds.

And perhaps the most important missed chance could also be attributed to the wet conditions. That came after he Card TD that did count, when the snap for the extra-point kick attempt was fumbled.

Palatine wasn't without blown chances, either, though the Pirates could hardly care less now.

As coach Arv Herstedt commented, "Somebody up there seemed to be against us in the first half. First, we just barely missed a field goal (a 37-yard try by Finlay that had plenty of distance but was wide by inches). Just before that, we dropped two passes in a row that were accurate and with the receivers open."

"Then, the one that hurt the most (until the end, he might have added) was the fumble on their one-foot line with about a minute left in the first half. The kid who fumbled is a two-year regular and he really felt down in the dumps, but he's a fine boy and I wouldn't hesitate running him again every time inside the five."

So much for mistakes. Now, did Walther feel his squad outplayed the Pirates until the last moments?

"Definitely," answered the Card boss. "Especially on the ground. It was the best we've run all season. Their defense was geared against the long pass (successfully shutting off the aerials of the ever-dangerous Ormsbee) and their linebackers were playing loose so we were able to run well."

"But we didn't get real good field position and just couldn't get in the end zone."

Walther's other complaints against his charges were that "we didn't hit as hard as we should" and "we were trying to arm-tackle Stauner on that last run (for the winning score). We've had sloppy tackling too much this year. That was the same thing that happened in the Wheeling game (the Cards' other loss, 12-7, two weeks ago, on a punt return by

Victory Over Fremd And Then League Title!

A Banner Week(End) For Pirate Harriers

by LARRY EVERHART

"If the race had been 100 yards shorter we would have won."

That correct statement from Forest View coach Bill Mohrmann described just how close and exciting was the Mid-Suburban League cross country meet Saturday in Lombard on a misty, overcast day.

Few sports thrills can match a race's whirlwind finish with the winner coming on to pass up the leaders on the home stretch. That was the case in this race as the eventual top three runners rallied over the last portion of the course.

Palatine's youthful team, with the steady veteran one-two punch of Brian Barnett and Fred Miller as fourth and fifth runners in the meet, nosed out Forest View for team honors with 53 points to the Falcons' 50. Fremd, the other pre-meet favorite along with the Pirates and Falcons totaled 84 for third while Elk Grove was fourth, Hershey fifth and Arlington sixth.

It was the first time in four years that Fremd failed to win the conference meet. The last non-Viking winner was Arlington in 1967.

This was also Palatine's first conference title in cross country since 1963 (when it was a member of the North Suburban Conference) and the Pirates' first MSL championship in anything since 1967 in track.

The individual scramble was just as interesting as the team chase. Mark Nugent, who has emerged as Fremd's No. 1 man in the latter part of the season, won in 13:45, a seven-second margin over Brian Powell of Elk Grove. Damian Archbold of the Grenadiers, who like Nugent put on a furious finish, grabbed third ahead of Barnett and Miller.

Next came a pair of Falcons, Rick Wis and Scott McGovney, followed by sophomore, Arnold Jackson of Schaumburg, who had the best record in dual meets of anyone in the conference.

The big pack, which went around the course three times, was led by Jackson for the first third before McGovney took over for the middle part of the race. McGovney led as the runners disappeared around a hill for the last go-around. What followed was a wild ending as Nugent and Archbold came out of nowhere.

Another interesting thing about the win, besides the hair-raising ending, is the youth of the Pirates. Only their top three men are seniors, combined with two juniors and two sophomores.

"It was so close," said Palatine coach Joe Johnson, "that I wasn't sure right away that we had won. We had to wait until the official announcement."

He added, "This was a real team effort. The guys had to put out extra because Mark Johnson, who has been our second or third man all year, sprained an ankle early in the race. Things like that seem to have been happening to us a lot lately."

Johnson kept running but could get only sixth for us (in the meet). So (junior) Scott Williams, usually our sixth man, ran fourth and beat all the other teams' third men. And Steve Peterson (another junior) got third instead of his usual fourth (among Pirate runners).

Forest View coach Bill Mohrmann commented, "Our guys really gave it 100 per cent. We want to congratulate Joe Johnson and his fine team. They overcame a lot, having to get really worked up for two meets in a row."

The other had been last Tuesday when Palatine gained a "must" 23-33 win over Fremd to throw the league race into a three-way tie with everything riding on Saturday's showdown.

The Pirates started out slowly but have come on like gaubusters in the last few meets, improving their times more than any other team in the MSL.

"We didn't have organized workouts in the summer like some teams (such as Fremd)," Johnson says. "So I knew we wouldn't be real tough early in the season. I just hoped we could come along as we have."

"These guys were all real dedicated. They would run on their own, mornings before school, without being required to. We couldn't have one practice at the school all year because our track has been under construction. It will be a real help to have the new one ready this spring."

Fremd, of course, had perennially dominated the league until this year. The Vikings were dethroned not because of a decline on their part but because of a tremendous improvement in overall caliber of competition in the MSL.

"I had been very confident we were ready to go," said Viking coach Ron Menely. "I thought we'd come back strong after that loss to Palatine and I felt we had the ability to do it."

"But five of our top seven kids have had very little experience in big meets (three sophomores and two juniors). The pressure just got to them. Of course, that's not really an excuse, because look at Palatine!"

Of the Pirates, Menely commented, "They can run even better than that. Their first two men could get better. They have tremendous potential and, I think, a good chance to place in the state meet. Their sophomores and juniors showed a great deal of poise under pressure."

He was referring to sophs Paul Kearns and Dave Tehle and juniors Williams and Peterson. But Barnett, Miller and Johnson (if his ankle is fit) are the Pirates to watch in the state elimination series beginning today.

St. Viator Fifth In Conference Run

Benet Academy recorded both individual winners in the varsity and frosh-soph Suburban Catholic Conference races Saturday, but Notre Dame overcame the efforts with its own consistency in winning both divisions for the overall SCC championship.

St. Viator finished fifth on the varsity in a field of six teams - the top three from each of the East and West sections. Benet's Pat Blaney churned the three-mile course in 15:23 to reign as conference champion, but Notre Dame's Dick Runtz was second, Gary Les third, Dave Miro 13th, Tim Riley 14th and Rich Steinken 23rd as the Dons accumulated 55 team points.

Benet was second with 80, Marist third with 94, St. Francis fourth with 111, the Lions fifth with 12 and Marmion Military Academy sixth with 123.

Viator finished third in the East Division varsity standings while the frosh-soph landed second. The Lions will now concentrate their attention on today's state district meet.

Punt Plays Play Key Role In 16-0 Meadows Triumph

by DON FRISKE

Punt plays are a big part of Rolling Meadows junior varsity football.

In the first five games of the season Meadows has had three blocked punts and scored a safety on a punt play. Meadows opponents have also scored a safety on a punt play and they've also run a punt 95 yards for a touchdown.

The Mustangs utilized two punt plays in their sixth game to defeat the Wheeling Wildcats, 16-0 in their first homecoming game Friday night.

"Those two punts had to be the turning points in the game," said Angelo Barro, Meadows head coach, after his team's fourth victory. "We were really up for this homecoming game."

In the first quarter Wheeling was punting on fourth down from mid-field Mustang defensive end George Kocian blocked the kick and linebacker Dave Blake picked up the ball and ran to the Wildcats' 27 yard line. This was Meadows fourth blocked punt and the third for Kocian.

After the Mustangs scored on the blocked punt, they failed to do anything with the ball the next time they had it. So punter Len Link came in to kick. Link's punt got by Wheeling's safety man and the ball rolled to a stop at Wheeling's six. The punt was good for 74 yards and an eventual touchdown.

"That 74-yard kick and the blocked punt were what really hurt us," said Wayne Selvig, Wheeling's head jayvee coach. "They put us in the hole for good."

When the Mustangs took over on the 27 yard line, courtesy of the blocked punt, halfback Gordon Johnson quickly got a first down by carrying the ball to the 16. After a couple of short runs, quarterback Bill Geegan took the ball into the end zone from the one yard line. Halfback Gary Enderle barely got the ball in for the extra points and Meadows led 8-0 at the end of the first quarter. It was the second week in a row Meadows had cashed in on a blocked punt.

The 74-yard punt and a three-yard penalty against the Wildcats gave them the ball at their own three yard line. Wheeling, now 2-4, was in the hole so they had to punt after three downs from the five. Punter Bill Pickler's kick was good for 17 yards but Wheeling received a face-mask penalty and Meadows had the ball on Wheeling's seven. Geegan again took the ball in from the one yard line and his pass to fullback Larry Pressl made the extra point attempt good so Meadows led at halftime, 16-0.

This was the second week in a row Meadows had shut out their opponents. It was also the first time they had won ball games back to back.

"This was our toughest game as far as hitting is concerned," said Barro. "It was also our best defensive effort so far."

The Mustang defense, holding their opponents scoreless in eight straight quarters, was led by defensive tackle Mark Abruzzo with 10 tackles followed by Jim Freres with nine and Marc Klemp with eight.

Meadows defensive unit recovered all three of Wheeling's fumbles and safety Klemp intercepted a Wildcat pass on the last play of the game to preserve the shutout.

"Our defense kept us in good field position the whole game," said Barro.

Both teams game plans were entirely the opposite. Wheeling quarterback Jim Stoik completed eight passes in 26 attempts for 107 yards. Geegan only threw twice, neither one completed.

While only 40 of Wheeling's 147 total yards came on rushing, all of the Mustangs 127 yards came on rushing.

"Even though we got less total yardage, we were tough in the key situations," said Barro.

Wheeling also earned more first downs than Meadows, 13-8. Only three of Wheeling's firsts came as a result of running while six came from passing.

The other four Wildcat first downs were scored by penalties against the Mustangs. Meadows was penalized six times for 70 yards while Wheeling swallowed the flag five times for 43 yards.

"This was a total, all-out team effort," said Barro, "We're 4-2 now and on our way."

Harper Runners Fifth In Invite

The College of DuPage Invitational just may be a preview to the national cross country championship.

Running on the Maryknoll Seminary grounds in Glen Ellyn, 14 teams, including Harper College, saw possibly the top team in the nation in Vincennes of Indiana. This team easily won the meet with 18 points with the University of Illinois frosh-soph team taking second with 67.

The Hawks finished fifth behind third place Florissant Valley (96) and DuPage (97) with 194 points.

Pat Dunning, who probably would have finished second last year because of the competition, according to head coach Bob Nolan, ended up in 21st place with a time of 21:54.

Three Hawks finished in less than 23 minutes over the four-mile rolling course — John Geary in 30th (22:10), Frank Savage in 38th (22:20) and Steve Feutz in 43rd (22:25).

Dave Wittenburg was 62nd (23:40) and Vince Weidner was in 78th (25:25) among the over 100 young men competing.

"I thought we did pretty well as a team," said Nolan. "I thought fourth or fifth was all we could have done there. With 15 teas, the competition was quite a bit stronger than last year."

Harper recently finished its dual season with a perfect 14-0 overall mark.

Harper Golfers Three Strokes Off The Pace

Harper College, co-champion in the Skyway Conference last year, nearly gained a share of the title again this season at Midlane Country Club.

The Hawks, tied for second place with two other teams heading into the SC championship meet Friday, finished three strokes off the pace of Lake County, the only undefeated league entrant, 326 to 329.

Rated the fourth toughest course in the Chicagoland area, Midlane proved a mystery for Frank Fenton, Harper's ace from St. Viator High School. The talented freshman couldn't break out of the 40's with a 43-41-84 finish.

Leading the Hawks to outright second place was Scott McMillon with a very solid 79 (38-41), good enough for third in the individual medalist battle.

Steve Leggett was the second best shooter for Harper with an 82 (41-41) with Brad Stake matching Fenton with an 84 (42-42).

Finishing the top medalist was Tim Hibbing with a 75 over the demanding par 72, 6800-yard layout.

Harper will host College of DuPage and Morton this afternoon at 1:00. Then the team will move on to the Region IV finals at Champaign on Friday and Saturday.

District CC Tests Today

Maine West, Fremd and Warren high schools will be the hosts for district cross country meets today starting at 4 p.m.

At the Maine West district will be Arlington, Forest View, Hersey, St. Viator, Maine North, Maine South, Maine East, Maine West, Elk Grove, Evanston, Prospect, Notre Dame, Rolling Meadows, Niles East, Niles North and Niles West.

Maine East is the defending state champion. Maine West won the Central Suburban League championship. Notre Dame won the Suburban Catholic Conference championship and Forest View finished second in the Mid-Suburban League meet last weekend.

Fremd, Palatine, Schaumburg and Coant will be at the Fremd District along with Antioch, Barrington, Crown, Dundee, Cary-Grove, Crystal Lake, Grant, Grayslake, Lake Zurich, McHenry, Round Lake and Wauconda.

Palatine was the recent winner of the Mid-Suburban League while Fremd finished third. Fremd was state champion in 1969.

Wheeling will compete in the Warren District in Gurnee with Deerfield, Glenbrook South, Warren, Highland Park, Lake Forest, Libertyville, Carmel of Mundelein, Mundelein, Glenbrook North, North Chicago, New Trier West, Stevenson, Waukegan, Wheeling, New Trier East and Jon-Benton.

The top five teams and the top 10 individuals from each of these three meets will advance to the Barrington Sectional meet on Saturday at 11 a.m.

A FRUSTRATING NIGHT. Harper College halfback Pat Packard is nearly surrounded by Triton College defenders Saturday on the Fremd field. Packard was completely stopped on the evening with 10 carries for minus yardage. Triton, possibly the best team in Chicagoland, won 40-0.

Do your share for clean air!

Drive to Penneys for a free anti-pollution test at our Scientific Testing Center.

If you're concerned about America's polluted air, Penneys Auto Center is offering a free test to car-owners showing them how much their automobile contributes to excessive air pollution. In many cases, our tests also indicate the parts of the tested car which should be adjusted or repaired to reduce emissions and pollutants, which often accompany low gas mileage in an inefficiently operating automobile. Our tests check your car for raw fuel, crankcase and exhaust emissions. It only takes about 5 minutes. Of course, there's no obligation to have any repair work done at Penneys. If you feel concerned about our environmental crisis, stop in at Penneys. It's certainly worth the time.

Illegal Alien Problem Grows

Once again last week, a Northwest suburb was the scene of mass arrests of aliens by agents of the U.S. Naturalization and Immigration Service.

The arrests by federal agents centered on the industrial park in Elk Grove Village. Previous raids by the Immigration Service have centered on a nursery and other small businesses in the area.

This last raid was exceptional in its scope, however.

A total 47 aliens, mostly of Mexican nationality, were arrested in two days of searching by federal agents in cooperation with the Elk Grove Police Department. The agents swept through the Centex Industrial Park and entered places of business to seek out the aliens. At the end of the arrests, an Immigration Service spokesman said his agents will be back in the area in the future to again attempt to find workers who may have entered this country illegally.

Arrests made locally of course are only a fraction of the numbers of Mexican-born men, women and children who annually cross the border to find work in this country.

According to Immigration Service figures as many as 1 to 2 million Mexican nationals are living in this country illegally. Last year some 6,000 Mexicans were sent back to Mexico from Illinois alone.

Obviously many factors are at play in the migration of these people to this country and eventually the Northwest suburbs.

Poor conditions in Mexico, the termination of the bracero program in 1965 which allowed Mexicans to work in the United States, and the possibility of jobs with no questions asked all help to lure men, women and children across the Rio Grande River illegally.

The U.S. Immigration service can try to find these aliens and continue to provide them transportation back to Mexico, but the tide of illegal immigration continues almost unabated.

Because they are aliens in a strange land, Mexican workers and their families often lead demeaning and brutal lives once they arrive here. Open to exploitation, constantly under the threat of arrest, the illegal alien is often lured here by a job and then trapped by his own illegal act.

Although no single action by the federal government will halt the influx of Mexicans to this country, a proposal which will place more responsibility on the employer of illegal aliens could help the Immigration Service and reduce the lure of easy jobs here.

Under a proposed federal bill, employers of aliens might be subject to penalties of up to one year in jail and $1,000 for knowingly employing an illegal alien.

The intent of this law is not to persecute occasional employers who may hire a person without thinking of his national origin, but to give the federal agencies the tools required to effectively curtail exploitive employers whose businesses become centers for aliens.

Passage of this proposal into law could be a major step toward curtailing illegal immigrations, and we urge members of Congress to seriously consider its enactment.

How To Survive Halloween

Dorothy Meyer

While Congress was monkeying around with holidays and making a bunch of them on Mondays, it naturally overlooked the one day of the year that really needs to be Monday: Halloween, of course. You ARE aware that it's on Sunday this year? And that when it's on Sunday you can look forward to being looted Friday afternoon and evening, all day Saturday and all day Sunday?

I know all about it. I've survived three Sunday Halloweens — there was The Great Grab of '53, The Big Plunder of '58 and The Grand Shaft of '65 — and what I learned may help others to survive this year. Take any help you can get, you'll need it.

To my knowledge there are only two towns in the area whose council members have the foresight and compassion to proclaim an official date for the trucks or treats. But if you don't live in either one of them you can try for a neighborhood pact to restrict looting to a single day and hope you can all agree upon the same day. But it probably won't do any good. No matter which day you settle on, great droves of imports from the other side of town will appear on the alternate day. Then you will (1) be out of supplies and they will soap your windows or (2) they will clean you out of supplies for the coming neighborhood day and the children of your best friends will soap your windows.

You might just as well prepare for the worst. Buy big. But don't buy early. Some women think they have to start laying in the goodies the minute Halloween decorations appear in the stores.

Since this is shortly after the Fourth of July they not only go broke but their kids get a lot of cavities trying to keep up with the supply. Besides, the earliest stuff on the shelves is usually last year's surplus. I've been told that candy manufacturers do indeed keep last year's surpluses, in hermetically sealed, humidity controlled vaults. Maybe so, but I think everything I got was stored in the Gobi desert.

Even with a lifetime supply of every kind of treat you can find and afford, you may still run out before the weekend is over. If you do, you can be sure it will be during the crucial play in the closing minutes of the Bears football game Sunday and hell hath no fury like a husband who has to go out for Tootsie Pops at a time like that.

When your supplies and the clock on the football game are running out at the same time, it's still possible to survive by shelling out cold cash. It gets expensive but it's cheaper than having a husband with apoplectic stroke. When our kids were little, a couple of pennies would do, but inflation has taken its toll and now anything less than a dime will brand you as the neighborhood cheap-skate. And don't think you'll be able to con a porchful of five-year-old mercenaries into believing that the wage-price freeze applies to truck-or-treat.

For little mothers who have little darlings to dress up for the occasion, costumes present another problem when Halloween's on Sunday. An angel costume that looked heavenly when Angel-puss went to school in it Friday noon can look like a refugee from the Biz Bag by Sunday. Even the monster from Planet X and Superman get prettied, limp after three outings. Especially if he or she got rained on, or got excited and wet or his pants. Most costumes do not have run-proof colors and you will have kids with purple behinds who look like they've been tie-dyed. Put the little squirts in their play clothes, smear some burnt cork on them and turn them out as bums. Kids don't care what they're wearing as long as they get enough loot to get sick on.

If all this advice doesn't hearten you and you find that you can't face the thought of a whole weekend of Halloween, do what we're going to do. Cut and run. I'm hoping for lots of soaped windows and I'm praying for a driving rain Sunday night. I could do with some clean windows.

Asks 'Break' For Oldsters

This is in response to your editorial seeking a "break" for older citizens. I heartily agree and wish that local governments would take heed. There is a reason, other than climate, why most of our retired people leave the community they simply cannot afford to maintain residence here on a fixed income.

I appreciate the need for maintaining schools and local services, and surely the cost of everything has gone up. But is it fair to penalize the older person by forcing him to give up his home after a life time because he can no longer afford to pay taxes to support the school population? He has paid taxes all his life, and now when he is least able to pay he is socked the highest ever.

After saving and scrimping for 25 years and finally paying off a mortgage he is forced to give it all up because he can't pay the skyrocketing taxes.

I'm not in favor of penalizing innocent children who need and deserve a decent education, but neither am I in favor of penalizing innocent oldsters who need and deserve a decent security and standard of living in their retired years.

Emily Thompson
Arlington Heights

Gratitude For Dole

Older citizens DO deserve a break, but obviously they're not going to get it in suburbia. The attitude here is, if you haven't got the dough to pay your own way get out. How's that for gratitude for a lifetime of doling out tax money?

Urge Positive Action

At a recent District 211 Board of Education meeting it seemed that the Board was more interested in protecting the corporations from fair assessment than protecting the homeowner who must shoulder the increased taxes caused by these under-assessments. The recent disclosure of the drastic under assessment of the Arlington Race Track apparently does not concern the Board of Education even though this could have benefited High School District 211 by an estimated $338,000 in 1970 alone. The President of the Board mentioned that they were not aware of the assessments of other corporations in the area such as Motorola and Union Oil. If these companies are also under-assessed they should be investigated. If conflicts of interest arise they should be exposed to the taxpayers who suffer the result of any favoritism.

Now is the time for effective and dynamic leadership on the part of the Board of Education. I feel that possible personal interests are the real issue at hand and not the questionable legal opinion cited by the Board. The Board should take some positive action to help the taxpayers of the area. "Moral support" to fight the inequities of P. J. Cullerton is not enough. The idea of legal action against Cook County Assessor Cullerton was rejected by the Board of Education.

We who are concerned with education urge positive action by the Board or the removal of those persons with conflicts of interests who are putting an undue burden upon the homeowners.

Latin 'Partners'

On a nation-to-nation level, relations between the United States and Latin America have probably at some time or other been worse, but not by much.

If it is not the seizure of American fishing boats that dominates the news from the lower hemisphere it is the expropriation of an American-run mine or refinery. If it is neither of these it is reports of actual or potential coups, and their anti-Norte American overtones.

On a people-to-people basis, however, North America and Latin America have been forging a closer relationship and deeper understanding for at least the past six years.

The process has been an accumulation of little things. For instance, Lou D'Alessandro, former Boston Celtic and now phys ed instructor at St. Anselm's College in Manchester, N.H. recently conducted a three-week basketball clinic in Fortaleza, Brazil, for Brazilian coaches.

On the other side, a woodcarver from Natal is teaching art at Bates College in Lewiston, Me. The Colima (Mexico) University choir will perform in Oklahoma for 10 days, while a country-western group from Oklahoma plans to participate in the Tlaxcala State Fair.

Each example has one thing in common. It was made possible by a Washington-based private organization called The Partners of the Americans.

Founded in 1964 to serve as a mechanism through which private citizens of the United States and Latin America could act directly together — not as donor-receiver but as partners — in carrying out specific self-help programs, the organization now has 42 Partners committees in the United States working with 51 counterparts in 18 Latin countries.

Their programs run the gamut from agriculture to education to public health to environmental improvement to cultural exchange. The participants, who number in the thousands, include educators, businessmen, physicians, students, engineers, legislators and housewives.

Except for minimum government assistance on technician travel between U.S. and Latin-American Partnership areas, all projects are carried out entirely through private contributions.

Perhaps someday the people who run the countries of North and South America will learn to get along with each other as well as the people who live in them.

Nixon To 'Shadow' 1972 Primaries

by BRUCE BOISSAT

In next spring's primaries, President Nixon, the 1972 campaigner, may seem to be detached but probably will be very much involved.

He won't campaign in the conventional sense. Presidents don't like to do that. It smudges up the statesman image.

But Nixon will get around the country, and there will be some lovely coincidences between his travel stops and key primaries.

Informed sources say that almost certainly he will not use any stand-ins for him in the primaries. If such a man did poorly, the advertised identity between him and the President would be too close for comfort.

Unless some state-elected or party officials play a little hocus-pocus with the law, the President's name is going to be on the ballot in some primary states whether he likes it or not.

There are presently nine states where all legitimate presidential contenders are supposed to be named to the ballot, either by the secretary of state or some commission or committee. In two, North Carolina and New Mexico, a man can bow out by not filing a fee. No withdrawal is possible from Oregon or Massachusetts. To get out of primaries in Florida, Wisconsin, Maryland, Tennessee and Nebraska, a named contender must either say in affidavit that he is not a candidate or, in the case of Florida, persuade the three members of his party on a selection committee to knock him off the list.

For Nixon or his agents to lean on any state officials to keep his name out of certain primaries would look like cheap game-playing. It would also be branded as chicken. So he probably is hooked and must try to make a respectable showing in the nine all-candidate tests. This necessity will be costly and will tax the ingenuity of the President's voter-rustlers. They may be spurred to harder effort if his only evident 1972 rival, California Rep. Paul (Pete) McCloskey, is still active after the early primaries.

Nixon's primary problems don't end with the mandatory group. Some of the optional ones, like those in New Hampshire and California, will require his attention.

McCloskey is gearing everything to the opening March 7 New Hampshire contest. He says flatly that if he does badly there, he probably won't get the money to go much farther.

Nixon won't hand him anything. Says a friend, "One way or another, there'll be some votes for the President in New Hampshire."

The best guess today is a write-in campaign, since Nixon doesn't want his name formally entered there and doesn't want a stand-in who might take some kind of a licking from the handsome McCloskey.

In California, Gov. Ronald Reagan is expected to step in as favorite son (for Nixon), and save the President and his people the huge cost of drumming out a vote that will look good when set beside that in the heavily fought Democratic primary.

On his own initiative, for personal political reasons, Ohio Sen. Robert Taft already has declared himself a favorite son for Nixon. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York may be asked to shape up a full Nixon slate of 88 delegates there. There may be other favorite sons. But none can be mere Nixon shadows. Any failure must be seen as theirs.

Federal Reserve Eyes Freeze, After

by DEAN C. MILLER
NEW YORK (UPI) — A man responsible for investing $4 billion of insurance funds is bullish about the United States economy in the months ahead.

"I really think we will have a substantial increase in the Gross National Product and look for profits to be up 15 per cent next year," said Allen L. Lindley, 62, executive vice president and chief investment officer of Mutual of New York MONY.

"The economy is moving up and will continue to move up because of strong consumer spending and basic strength."

THE SIX-foot-three Yale graduate has a staff of more than 300 to help him figure where to put the $4 billion MONY has collected through mutual life insurance, health insurance and retirement plans. Right now, MONY has $350 million invested in common stock, most of it involving consumer-oriented companies.

Like many other investors, Lindley is heavy into IBM, the giant computer company. He also likes autos, appliances, building and major retailers. And a lot of people rely on his judgment.

The 128-year-old company has 1.1 million individual life and health insurance clients. Another 485,000 are covered under group plans. These policy holders account for $17 billion worth of life insurance protection.

The key to the country's prosperity lies in profits, said Lindley as he spooned a dish of chocolate ice cream. "Profits provide more jobs and that equals prosperity," he explained.

"While profits are low right now, I see that changing," he said. "Most companies have cut out the fat. As a result, rising sales will produce more productivity and better profits."

Lindley, who got experience in banks, brokerages and mutual fund operations before joining MONY in 1952, admits there are two dark areas in the rosy economic picture he sees — labor costs and inflation. "We need some kind of controls to permit wage increases but not exorbitant increases," he said.

"I personally believe we're going to have to go along with some of it," said Lindley. "It's not going to go away, but we can live with it if we hold it down to 3 1/2 or 4 per cent."

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago investigates "the freeze and after" in an article in its monthly review, "Business Conditions."

According to the bank, an assessment of the full impact of the Nixon Administration's new economic policy will not be possible until 1972 is well advanced. Much depends on the speed, and manner, of congressional action on proposed legislation. Nevertheless, the bank said, some tentative conclusions can be drawn concerning the first phase of the program:

First, there has been general cooperation with the wage-price freeze by management, labor, and the public; second, consumer purchases of autos increased sharply in late August and in September; third, although no upsurge in manufacturers' orders was evident in the weeks following the freeze, most analysts agreed that the President's program would be effective in achieving its principal objectives.

As the bank sees it, current economic conditions resemble those of the early 1960s more closely than those of the late 1960s in that overall demand is not out-running supply. But the forces underlying the price-wage spiral remain strong. The freeze, and the apparatus of Phase II may provide the means for bringing negotiated wage settlements, and cost-push price increases, back into touch with market forces.

ALTHOUGH MANY forecasters are optimistic about the chances of slowing price inflation, few would suggest a rate of price advance of less than 3 per cent for 1972. First, too many sectors are still in the process of catching up to what interested parties believe is an equitable position the bank said. Second, while the President has broad authority to "issue orders and regulations...to stabilize prices, rents, wages and salaries" under the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, an immense administrative apparatus, apparently not now contemplated, would be required to force compliance. Third, major elements in the new economic policy, such as tax reductions and restrictions on imports, are inherently inflationary said the bank.

Early in 1971 it was commonly proclaimed that the consumer holds the key to the outlook. It appears that "the key has been turned," said the bank. With consumers doing their part, and with government spending under restraint, the spotlight shifts to business investment, says the bank.

Except for public utilities, expenditures on new plant and equipment have been one of the weakest sectors of the economy. Reenactment of the investment tax credit, equivalent to a price cut, will tend to encourage the implementation of marginal projects. A strong revival in plant and equipment spending, however, must await some narrowing of the margin of unused capacity in manufacturing said the bank. The bank contends that such a development may become apparent in 1972 if the expansive standard forecast for the general economy is realized.

Another article in the same issue of "Business Conditions" discusses proposed amendments to the federal statute governing the powers of state and local governments to tax national banks. To illustrate the diversity of tax laws applicable to banks, the article includes a rundown of the types of bank taxes used in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

Joins Staff Of Health Center

Bruce Denner

Bruce Denner, a clinical psychologist and professor at the University of Illinois, has joined the staff of the Northwest Mental Health Center.

Denner, who specializes in problems of disturbed children, will have two books published next year in the field of mental health.

In addition to family therapy, in helping emotionally ill children, he plans to organize a course in child rearing at the center open to all mothers beginning in February.

The Northwest Mental Health Center is located at 1711 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights.

EXHAUST EMISSION can be reduced more than 70 per cent by vehicles that operate on LP-gas rather than gasoline, according to Petrolane, the largest distributor of LP-gas in the country. The California firm is currently selling the cleaner air idea to industrial bus, car and truck fleets in an effort to have them convert their vehicles. A clean air center, operated by Petrolane, is currently open in Elmhurst.

Help Clean Air—Convert To LP-Gas

It has been estimated that 10 per cent of the vehicles on our roads — trucks and buses mostly — produce 35 per cent of the exhaust pollution.

Petrolane, a California based liquid propane company, says they have part of the answer.

They go on to say they aren't a panacea for air pollution, but they can do much to help clean the air by urging industry to convert trucks, buses and fleet cars to LP-gas instead of gasoline as a fuel.

Bob Myer, director of sales for Petrolane, spoke at an open house Wednesday at the new Petrolane Clean Air Center at 622 W. Lake St., Elmhurst.

AT THE clean air center, Petrolane converts gasoline powered vehicles to operate on non-smog producing propane.

The market they are aiming at is primarily fleet cars, for businesses, utilities and police departments.

Myers said the advantages LP-gas has over gasoline as a car fuel are many:

Harmful engine exhaust emission is significantly reduced (more than 70 per cent).

High octane fuel containing no additives means LP-gas powered vehicles will equal performance of gasoline powered cars.

Because LP-gas burns clean, no carbon or gum buildups are likely to occur, reducing maintenance costs.

Operating costs are lower due to longer life of engine oil and spark plugs, elimination of the fuel pump and less wear on engine parts.

POLLUTION is eliminated.

And cost of fuel is lower than gasoline.

Cost of converting a vehicle runs between $350-$450, depending on the size of the tank required and modifications necessary to the engine.

Myers said not everyone is using LP-gas because first, it is not as conveniently available as gasoline, and two, the cost of conversion often prohibits its use except where the vehicle is heavily used (30,000 miles a year or more).

LP-gas is stored as a liquid under pressure and can be transported anywhere, giving it an edge over gasoline. Cars running on LP-gas, however, will use about 5 per cent more fuel than a gasoline powered engine. But LP-gas is cheaper to buy than gasoline and in California, LP-gas vehicles pay no road tax, a 7 cents a gallon savings.

HE SAID it is safe to use and that if the tank is ruptured in an accident, it will dissipate into the air, rather than leave a puddle. There are currently 250,000 cars on the road today using LP-gas.

He says because LP-gas is stored in liquid form under pressure in the tank, cars will start in hot and cold weather and will run smoothly at idle or high speed at either extreme.

"For instance, we have one customer up in Alaska with a fleet of LP-gas vehicles. Last winter they had a string of 66 days it didn't get above 40 below, with 50 mile-an-hour winds and the cars started everytime," said Myers.

Petrolane is the oldest and largest seller of LP-gas in the country, selling 500 million gallons last year in 41 states for $200 million in sales. The firm became involved with clean air centers and LP-gas conversion operations for fleet vehicles for years ago.

The Bottled Water Craze Is Coming

by LEA TONKIN

Some like it hot, so the saying goes. And the men in the bottled water business, always aiming to please, will give you hot water.

Of course you can always drink it cold or at room temperature. Would you like bottled water delivered to your home, dispensed from a five-gallon cooler or do you prefer a small bottle with your dinner?

Use it as a mixer, or if you're a teetotaler, drink it straight. You can even spray a fine mist on your face as an early morning pick-me-up.

Buy bottled water for your family's general good health, to ease your worries about water pollution or for its natural (sometimes unnatural) good taste, for granny's kidney ailments or your baby's optimal development.

YOU CAN WET your whistle on bottled mineral waters from out of state, distilled water from Elk Grove Village or even Chicago. Some prefer the snob appeal of the imported European waters.

Do you take your water naturally carbonated and mineral-laden? Or would you enjoy a deionized, softened and reconstituted version?

Test your ability as a connoisseur of fine waters. Can you see the difference, taste the difference?

The bottled water craze that started in California is coming, as the concern about pollution and its effects on water drinkability deepens. Midwest bottlers are happily bracing themselves for a deluge of new customers.

THE MOUNTAIN Valley Water Co., for example, recently moved from smaller quarters in Chicago to its plant in Centex Industrial Park, Elk Grove Village, to accommodate its expanding market. Famous for its mineral water from Hot Springs, Ark., the company recently celebrated its 100th anniversary. The parent firm, Mountain Valley Spring Co., is based in Hot Springs.

The new pollution-consciousness and resultant suspicion of tap water is enabling the bottled water industry to shed its image of a tonic for oldsters according to Laurence McNally, Mountain Valley president. "We used to advertise it as an aid for kidney problems," he said. "Now we advertise it as a general mountain spring water and our sales are up quite a bit."

McNally declined to estimate the total volume of Mountain Valley bottled water sales but said the volume climbed sharply in the last five years, especially in the last several months. He estimates that 400,000 gallons of Mountain Valley mineral water will be bottled annually at the Elk Grove plant. The water is shipped in glass lined railroad cars from Hot Springs, Ark.

You can taste the difference between the "real thing" in mineral waters, and the "cheaper waters," McNally said. His firm distributes a range of imported and domestic waters in sizes ranging from 7 ounces to five gallons.

ELK GROVE Village's municipal water, pumped from deep wells, is also bottled by Mountain Valley after it is purified. Sold under the name Sierra Water, it competes with other lower-priced waters.

The company also sells water coolers as well as hot-and-cold units.

Stores and homes are Mountain Valley's biggest customers followed by office users. Hotels and taverns often buy the smaller size bottles.

Another dimension was added to the industry by a cosmetics firm selling a mineral water spray as an "instant refreshment for jaded, faded skin."

Dwight Chattaway, director of sales and marketing for Hinckley & Schmitt, Chicago-based water company, predicts that the biggest appeal of bottled water will stay in the residential market. The firm is going more heavily into home delivery in addition to its store distribution. "WE SELL THREE types of water," said Chattaway. "One is a nursery water which is a formulation to provide optimal growth patterns for infants; then we have a spring pure product and a distilled water."

BOTTLE WASHING is followed by Paschal Crawford's careful inspection at the Mountain Valley Water Co. plant in Elk Grove Village. The firm bottles mineral water from Hot Springs, Ark., as well as purified Elk Grove municipal water. Imported waters are also distributed by the firm.

Chicago city water is bottled by Hinckley & Schmitt after it is processed. Chattaway said the firm's specialty water is distinguished from the "mass production" municipal water after it undergoes filtration, deionization, softening, distillation, ozonation (bubbling oxygen through it) and reconstitution (putting back the healthful minerals).

"I defy anyone to compare it with spring water," said Chattaway. He claims the difference can be seen (as in a brew of tea) as well as tasted.

An added attraction of the Hinckley & Schmitt water is the installation of a water cooler in your home, adds Chattaway. The company features a "gourmet" model with both cold and room temperature water.

He sees a new sparkle in bottled water sales as the public becomes more critical of the potability of their local drinking water. "Until two years ago 80 per cent of the bottled water drunk in this country was in the nine southern counties of California, and two thirds of this amount was distributed by two companies," Chattaway said. He estimates that over half the industry's U.S. sales are still in California, but said the Midwest market is expanding rapidly.

Small bottlers are now attracting customers turned off by tap water according to Chattaway. He foresees competition with giant corporations as Borden's, Nestle's and Coca Cola, recent entrants in the field traditionally composed of small local bottlers.

ning 1971 redesigns. The kitchen designs are free upon written request to Hinckley & Schmitt, Kitchen Designs, 6055 S. Harlem Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60638.

She Enlists Youth In Fight

Marcy Sneed Crusades For SOUL

"Abortion liberalization has not happened because there is a very politically organized group against it" — Dr. Lanny Myers, pro-abortion crusader.

Mrs. C. J. (Marcy) Sneed, 441 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, is one of the key persons in the power block against changing present Illinois abortion laws. She prefers to work behind the spotlight as advance man, organizer and contact among various groups. Her job is program chairman for the Illinois Right to Life Society in North Cook County and liaison between this parent group and the newly-organized college youth called SOUL (Save Our Unwanted Life).

The Right to Life was the single most powerful force in the defeat of abortion reform bills introduced this year into the Illinois legislature. It is a pressure group that coordinates other groups, (churches, women's societies, men's groups, the legislators themselves and most recently — collegians).

SIXTY EIGHT TO Livers are active in the area, the majority in Arlington Heights. Their telephone committee includes another 50 or so. But when their need arises to fight legislation, the power front unites. For example, 65,000 petitions were taken to Springfield to protest the Douglas abortion bill. (The bill later died in committee.) Legislators were flooded with an untold number of letters, 1,000 telegrams from people opposed to abortion, 500 of them from Arlington Heights.

The thrust of their effort is summed up in this from Mrs. Sneed: "When we work at it, we don't even have time to eat!"

Recently, Mrs. Sneed hosted a group of 80 SOUL members representing 23 area high schools and colleges. While SOUL is still in its infant stages, its biggest draw is from Palatine, Arlington Heights, Sacred Heart and St. Viator High Schools, says Mrs. Sneed. SOUL was begun at the University of Minnesota by two coeds who chose to campaign for the unborn. In less than five months SOUL has grown to 300 chapters throughout the country. Mrs. Sneed is the official contact in the state of Illinois.

SOUL CROPPED up as opposition to the legion of pro-abortion crusaders, and currently has a membership in dozens of colleges and universities. Its essence is pro-life, from opposing abortion to opposing selective breeding, genocide, mercy killing, war in Vietnam and capital punishment.

The youth group advocates Birthright Counseling Services, state financial aid for families with handicapped children, the removal of illegitimate identification from all birth certificates and legislation requiring hospital insurance to pay maternity benefits regardless of marital status or length of marriages.

Members work for widespread use of rubella and Rh vaccines, genetic counseling to help prevent birth defects, education for parenthood and establishment of family care centers.

A JOB LIKE Mrs. Sneed's demands resourcefulness. This volunteer seizes every opportunity to make contacts, get programs into schools, churches, college campuses. Lobbying, letter-writing and legislating are three important tools of the activist.

"We believe that one cannot protect life on one end of the spectrum and not the other," said Mrs. Sneed. "Protesting the destruction of baby seals and protecting the rights of the fetus are compatible."

PRO-LIFE CRUSADER Mrs. Marcy Sneed of Arlington Heights discusses the newly organized youth group, SOUL (Save Our Unwanted Life), with area teen-agers interested in its "protect life" aims.

Birth Notes

Stork Tricks PR Firm

Mr. Stork is a wily bird. He gave the Lawrence Harms of Palatine only a week's notice that he was going to leave two babies at their home instead of one, and then somehow tricked his public relations staff into reporting only one of the births.

So we herewith announce the birth of Burke Joseph Harr, 6 pound 6 ounce twin brother of Brian Louis Harr, 6 pounds 2 ounces. The babies were born Oct. 13 in Northwest Community Hospital and are now at home at 534 E. Robertson where 3-year-old Sheryl Elizabeth is acting as "tour guide" for the double attraction and one-year-old Steven spends a lot of time peeking into the bassinets.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: I once heard that one could put new zip into limp nylon curtains by dipping them in an Epsom salts solution. Have you ever heard of this?

—Mrs. Berenice Hanlon.

We've never had nylon curtains but have heard that an Epsom salts solution does give life to a too-soft nylon curtain. One friend put a cup of Epsom salts in a cup of hot water, and when it was dissolved, added 1 quart of cold water. The curtains were dipped in this and hung to drip dry — not wrung. Another reported using a solution of ½ cup starch to 1 gallon of water.

Dear Dorothy: There is an easy way to tell if a vacuum-packed jar of baby food has been opened by someone. Hold the jar in your hand and press your thumb down on the lid in the center. An unopened lid will not move but an opened one will go up and down under the pressure. Try it with two jars at home and you'll see how simple it is.

The young can experiment at home. We're beyond that point. Do think that if one sees some unthinking person open such a jar and taste it, it would be wise to turn it over to the manager. Of course, unthinking isn't the right word. Those who tinker with baby food in stores really deserve arrest.

Dear Dorothy: What is that thin, paperlike covering on lamb roasts? Does it have to be removed before cooking it?

—Mrs. Robert B.

It's called the "fell" and it isn't necessary to take it off when baking the meat. The seasoning will go right through into the meat. Some cooks think the lamb tastes better if the "fell" is left on — that it keeps the juices in.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 288, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60004.)

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

"Prairieville, USA"

by Daisy Paddock Daniels

Young, affluent, educated, sophisticated in taste and aspiration. This is the profile of Arlington Heights today.

Hardy, self-reliant, oriented to the soil, simple in taste and modest in aspiration. This is the Arlington Heights of yesterday.

How this change evolved and came about is told in "Prairieville, U.S.A.," a new book by Daisy Paddock Daniels which traces the history of Arlington Heights and surrounding communities from the time of the French and Indian Wars to the present.

This colorful and authoritative history will be published soon at price of $7.50 per copy.

Rolling Meadows firemen struggle with heavy canvas hoses in race against time.

Someday We May Need All Of Them

"Fifth Floor Please . . ."

Someday we may need all of them. The massed equipment of all the suburban fire departments presents an incredible variety and capability of fire-fighting equipment and men, and someday all of them together may be needed to meet a disaster head on. Against such a day, members of the Northwest suburb's mutual aid fire fighting system practice together. The first cooperative practice session was held at Randhurst, and the most recent one was held a few Sundays ago at the Arlington Park Race Track. The mock fire was planned to begin in the track's fifth floor kitchen area near the grandstands and spread from there. More than 100 firemen from 12 suburbs were called to assault the mock fire. The mutual aid program, which began last January, includes two training exercises a year. Under the plan a pre-arranged box alarm system with specific codes has been assigned to all locations and fire departments in the area. All of it ready . . . just in case.

Transportation Parley To Study Plan For Complex

by NANCY COWGER

The leaders of transportation companies in Schaumburg and Roselle, and officials from both village governments have been invited to a Nov. 2 evening meeting at Lancer's Restaurant, Meacham and Algonquin roads, to discuss plans for a major transportation complex in southern Schaumburg.

Main guest at the meeting will be Barney Cunningham, representing the newly formed Illinois Department of Transportation, which will coordinate the highway division with all state agencies dealing with other forms of transportation.

The proposal is for a complex, centralizing air, highway, rail and bus transportation on a 20 acre site bordering the Milwaukee Road Railroad tracks. The site is just west of the extensions of Springinguth Road in Schaumburg and Gary Avenue in Roselle.

The two roads will meet, and the junction will be south of the proposed Elgin-O'Hare Expressway interchange with Springinguth.

Atcher said he hopes major steps will be accomplished within 18 months.

Located on the site would be a depot for the Milwaukee Road Railroad, and acres of parking. Facilities for buses also would be provided, as well as shuttle service to Schaumburg Airport. The interchange expressway would be within easy reach.

As part of the plan, Mayor Robert O. Atcher said the village of Schaumburg would purchase Schaumburg Airport with state and federal help, and improve it by installing a 4,000-foot runway and eventually a control tower. The purchase probably would be handled through bonds, which could be retired with tie-down and landing fees, and the sale of gasoline and airplane supplies.

Atcher already has received indications from the Federal Aviation Agency and state Bureau of Aeronautics that they favor municipal ownership of the airport. The FAA suggested it could pay 50 per cent of the site purchase cost. The state bureau might also pay 25 per cent of the cost, leaving only 25 per cent for the village, said Atcher.

HIGHWAY DEVELOPMENT already has been slated for the area. Construction on the Elgin-O'Hare Expressway, with the Springinguth interchange, is to be completed in five years. Atcher said one facet in question is the extension of Gary Avenue, but he has raised the suggestion with Roselle Village Mayor Robert Frantz that the expressway link Schaumburg and Roselle with Elgin, Streamwood, Hanover Park, Elk Grove Village, Bensenville and O'Hare Field. It also will connect with Interstate 90 and the extension for the Eisenhower Expressway. The Springinguth-Gary route will connect the area with Wheaton.

The railroad now provides both commuter and freight service, but commuters from Schaumburg now have to go into Roselle to catch the trains. Atcher is proposing the village build a depot for the rail firm at the complex.

Schaumburg Transportation Co. now provides commuter service to the railroad in Roselle and to Woodfield. Atcher is proposing expanded service to the new depot.

ALL OF THESE improvements will provide a tremendous growth boost for the southern section of Schaumburg, said Atcher, adding no objections are expected from the present owners of Schaumburg Airport concerning the village takeover. The village would purchase only land essential to airport operation, leaving a large tract for the owners to develop as an industrial park. Roselle also would benefit from an industrial growth boom, Atcher said.

Village expenses would be recouped through the expected development, and would be justified by the benefits transportation improvements provided to residents, he said.

Help is expected from the transportation department Atcher said. He explained the general plans for the complex were an outgrowth of recent conversations with Sigmund C. Ziejewski, chief engineer for the department. Ziejewski and his staff will help research and develop the plans, along with Schaumburg, Roselle, owners of the Schaumburg Centex Industrial Park, who also have other large property holdings in the village, and the railroad.

Specific aspects of the plan likely will be developed by smaller groups. For example, George Mansfield, president of Schaumburg Jaycees, has for some time been chairman of a committee studying the airport acquisition and expansion proposal, said Atcher.

Transportation Plan Backed

A proposed transportation complex in Schaumburg could be the catalyst for Schaumburg Village subsidies of public transportation firms.

Mayor Robert O. Atcher Friday discussed how the village could help Schaumburg Transportation Co., a bus line, and the Milwaukee Railroad better serve the village's residents.

Atcher was explaining a project under initial consideration, to link the village with Chicago, the rest of Illinois, and the entire nation through a comprehensive transportation network. It would include rail, bus, airplane and auto traffic, centralizing junctions of expressways, rail depots, bus passenger collection and discharge and private plane facilities.

Such development would encourage tremendous industrial growth in southern Schaumburg and Roselle, with firms locating on sites advantageous to best use the conglomeration of transport facilities, he said.

TO MAKE IT ALL work, the transportation services must be available and adequate.

Currently Schaumburg Transportation Co. serves commuters with bus runs con-

"HAVE A PICKLE chip cookie?" Diana Sherwood, 8, Susan Shaffic, 12, in rehearsals for a play to be presented Friday by Schaumburg Park District drama class.

Apartment Burglary Loss Is $7,250

An apartment burglary and theft of money and jewelry valued at more than $7,000 was one of several thefts investigated by Schaumburg police over the weekend.

Ronald D. Lutes, 1912 Prairie Sq., Schaumburg, told police Friday his apartment had been ransacked, and possessions valued at $7,250 were taken. Listed as stolen were $6,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds of $25 and $50 denominations; three watches with a total value of $250, described as diamond, plain gold and plain silver; a $250 coin collection; seven rings, including a $300 star sapphire, two $50 class rings, a $65 jade ring, a $30 cats eye ring, two $80 friendship rings, and five sets of cuff links, valued at a total of $95.

Police said the apartment had been torn apart, with personal papers, boxes and furnishings strewn in the hallway and living room. Entry apparently was gained with a key or lock pick, police said and a metal locked box was opened with two kitchen knives, one of which had been broken in the process.

THEFT OF A $2,500 car was reported by Suburban Volkswagen, 320 W. Golf Rd., Friday morning. A customer came into the store Wednesday and looked at a Super Beetle, saying he did not like the color. The following day he returned, asking to take a test drive. He never returned with the 1971 auto, according to a police report.

The theft of a $1,000 two-way radio from a Schaumburg Civil Defense ambulance was reported Sunday afternoon by Hermin Yeargin, assistant director. The theft occurred the previous week on Wednesday or Thursday, Yeargin said, while the ambulance was at the village fire station, 1435 W. Schaumburg Road. Removal of the radio would require special tools and a key, he said.

Rachel Seymour, 1110 E. Algonquin Rd., reported the theft of rear bumper of her car Friday morning. The culprits removed the side and rear door panels and rear window bracket to get to bolts holding the bumper, said police. The bumper was valued at $85. Police said nothing else was taken.

Edward Holie, auto dealer at Roselle

Dodge, 208 W. Golf Rd., reported Sunday afternoon two tires and wheels, valued at $112, were taken from a car inside the fenced area at the dealership. The fence was cut to get into the lot, police said.

King's In A Pickle For School Play

A king who loves pickle chip cookies and his efforts to marry off his princess daughter to keep all the cookies for himself form the basis for a play to be staged at 7 p.m., Friday, in Jane Adams School, 700 Springinguth Rd., Schaumburg. The play is being put on by the Schaumburg Park District drama class.

With 19 characters in the play, the entire drama class is able to participate. Class members are aged 7 to 13. Admission to the play is free.

In the play, directed by Jeanne List, the king puts his daughter's many suitors to a test to see which is worthy of her. He is anxious for his daughter's marriage, because the suitors frequently dine in the palace and eat the pickle chip cookies, his favorite food.

Man Charged With Molesting Schaumburg Boy

A Buffalo Grove man was charged with assault and taking indecent liberties with a child after a 15-year-old Schaumburg boy identified the man in a police line-up as the one who attacked him Thursday at International Village apartments, Algonquin and Meacham roads, Schaumburg.

Sam August Marsala, 725 Grove Dr., Buffalo Grove, is to appear at 11 a.m. Nov. 2 in Niles Felony Branch, Cook County Circuit Court, to answer the charges. Marsala will be 21 years old Thursday.

Police were informed of the alleged incident Thursday night when the boy and his father came to headquarters. The boy said he had been delivering newspapers at International Village at 4:10 p.m. Thursday, when a man driving a white pick-up truck approached him, opened the passenger side door, and asked him if he wanted to buy "dirty magazines."

The boy said he refused, and went into the building. When he came outside again, he said, the man again offered to sell him the magazines, and the boy again refused.

The man then grabbed him by the arm, pulled him into a storage room at the apartment building at 1320 E. Algonquin Rd., and molested him, said the boy.

The boy described the man and his truck to police, giving the truck's license number which was registered to Marsala. Schaumburg police, accompanied by Buffalo Grove Police, arrested Marsala at his apartment.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

As the Pentagon took 2,000 troops off standby alert, pouring rain washed out an opening antiwar protest in Washington, but its organizers vowed to conduct a year-long campaign against President Nixon's reelection next year. About 400 persons showed up at the Washington Monument and nearly all sought cover when the skies opened with a torrent. John Froines, a Chicago Seven defendant and a leader in the antiwar movement, said the events would be held today.

A few hundred persons dotted Arlington National Cemetery to honor America's veterans, including those of the Vietnam War who Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said have "paid a higher price than usual."

An announcement on the date of President Nixon's visit to mainland China is expected soon after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returns today from Peking.

A dynamite blast caused extensive damage to the Detroit Police Officers Association headquarters in what police called an "obvious attempt to assassinate police officers." No one was injured but damage was estimated at $3,000.

The War

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 40 guerrillas in scattered clashes, mostly in the southern half of the nation as action remained light. B52 bombers stayed out of Vietnam for the second straight day, hitting supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

The World

Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, beginning his first official visit to a Western nation, smiled his way through a lukewarm welcome in Paris and promised President Georges Pompidou to wipe out traces of the Cold War.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

American officials said the South Vietnamese government would have to direct its own relief efforts in the wake of typhoon Hester, although U.S. helicopters moved swiftly to rescue thousands of homeless refugees.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $1.3 million federal grant to rehabilitate 1,500 persons on welfare. Ogilvie said the grant — to which Illinois will add $200,000 — will rehabilitate 1,000 persons in Chicago and 500 in the Peoria area so they can get jobs.

A birth control pill taken within 72 hours after sexual intercourse has been shown successful in tests upon 1,000 women of child-bearing age without serious side-effects, a physician reported. Dr. Lucille Kirtland Kuchera of the University of Michigan Health service said nearly 900 of the women had used no form of protection.

The Market

Stock prices moved lower in the dulltest session since mid-August of last year. Neither the softness nor the lagging pace of trading was expected. Observers noted the list, marking its ninth consecutive decline, was under pressure from a number of continuing economic and business factors. The Dow Jones industrial average, measuring 30 selected blue chips, eased another 3.87 points to 848.50. The Dow lost more than 22 points last week. Of the total 1,586 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances, 804 to 434.

5 Persons Charged With Theft From Woodfield

A security guard at Madigan's, a Woodfield clothing store, was responsible for the arrests Saturday and Sunday of five persons, allegedly caught shoplifting.

Saturday afternoon Barbara Daleiden was working in the women's apparel department when she allegedly observed two girls enter fitting rooms with numerous articles of clothing. When they came out later, each was carrying one less item than she had taken in with her, said the security officer. She stopped the girls, and each allegedly was wearing a $10 sweater that had not been purchased.

Charged with petty theft was Susan Lynn Davis, 18, of 3509 Mallard Ct., Rolling Meadows, and another Rolling Meadows girl, who was a juvenile. Miss Davis is to appear at 9:30 a.m., Dec. 15 in Schaumburg Court. The second girl was released to the custody of a juvenile officer.

Saturday Miss Daleiden allegedly watched while three persons placed four leather coats in clothing storage bags they were carrying, and attempted to leave the store. She stopped the group, and while two returned with her to the store security office, the third person allegedly ran.

Schaumburg Police Patrolmen Arturo Pedraza and Bud Fischer stopped the third person at the intersection of Rte. 72 and Plum Grove Road, after a radio message on him was broadcast. He later was identified by Miss Daleiden.

Charged with grand theft were Peter Brown, 17, of 431 N. Central, Chicago, and Harry J. Williams, 31, of 5561 Gladys, Chicago. The third person was a female juvenile, who was released in her parent's custody. Brown and Williams are to answer the charges Nov. 16 in Niles Felony Branch, Cook County Circuit Court.

Hearing On Complex Tonight

A preannexation hearing concerning 40-acres planned for development of a sextrominium complex on Higgins Road will be continued when Schaumburg Village Board members meet tonight.

The project, Del Lago Villas, is planned for construction on land just west of Plum Grove Road settled in about 1850 by the Winkelhake family.

Until recently the land has been farmed by descendants of these early Schaumburg settlers.

Members of the village zoning board of appeals recommended planned unit development zoning for the property last month following public hearings.

At the village board meeting last week, discussion of the proposal was deferred because materials for study had reached trustees too soon before the meeting.

Consumers Development and Construction, Ltd., developers of the property, agreed to make a $5,000 donation to the village police department for vehicle purchase.

Trustees will meet in regular session at 8 p.m. tonight in the Great Hall.

Voter OK Needed

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Board of Education will go to the voters Saturday to request approval of a building program referendum for the construction of three schools. In this second of a three part series, Herald staff writer Jo Ann Van Wye explains the referendum. For more information about the referendum voters may call 358-4409 and ask for referendum direct line.

by JO ANN VAN WYE

Palatine Hills Junior High School has been planned as the first school in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 to house only junior high students.

Approved by voters in 1969, the school has been in the planning stages for the last two years. Construction of the school now hinges on a successful referendum this Saturday.

Voters approved $2 million for construction of Palatine Hills Junior High in 1969 but the school as planned will take $3 million to build. The extra cost results from inflated construction costs and the architect underestimate of the cost of the building.

In order to get construction under way as soon as possible, the board of education is seeking voter approval to transfer $1 million currently earmarked for an elementary school on the Dawngate site into the junior high building fund.

If approved, Palatine Hills Junior High, located on an 18 acre site on Smith Street in Palatine, will be opened in the fall of 1973. It is planned to be a tri-level building fitting into the contour of the land.

OPENING OF PALATINE Hills will allow the district to move seventh and eighth grade students out of Sanborn and Paddock Schools. It will also allow the district to advance its master plan of making Palatine Hills, Sandburg in Rolling Meadows and Plum Grove in Palatine solely junior highs. Winston Park School in Palatine is slated to become a kindergarten through eighth grade school with practical art facilities added. Also being discussed is the conversion of Marion Jordan School in Palatine into a junior high.

The neighborhood school concept is no longer feasible, according to Marion Omiatek, assistant superintendent for instruction. He explained it is not economical to provide practical art courses and departmentalized classes at all schools for just seventh and eighth graders. By bringing the seventh and eighth grade students together the district is able to offer them more programs.

Junior high students are going through a mental as well as physical change, Omiatek explained. The mental transition is from a pupil centered instruction where the emphasis is on basic skills to placing the emphasis on special skills which requires teachers who have specialized in certain areas.

"We hope to be able to provide junior high students with as many opportunities and experiences as possible so they will be better able to make choices about their future," said Omiatek.

BASED ON THIS philosophy, it was decided the school should exemplify unlimited flexibility, livability, functionalism and financial longevity.

Several committees consisting of administrators and teachers were involved in the planning. The committees visited various schools trying to take the best from each.

The proposed Palatine Hills Junior High would have a capacity of 1,000 students and employ the open space concept.

The 12 science, math and language arts classrooms would form a hexagon around a resource center. The resource center would be designed to be easily accessible from all the classrooms and would provide students with a place to work with a variety of media individually, in groups or as a class.

The classrooms would have sliding doors dividing them which would offer teachers an opportunity to teach in teams. The resource center could also be divided in thirds so groups of teachers could bring their classes together in large areas for interdepartmentalized instruction.

Practical art rooms, foreign language rooms, reading laboratories and an auditorium are also planned. The auditorium would provide the students with a place to meet in assemblies and would double as instructional space and space for music classes.

OTHER FEATURES of the proposed school are a special education wing to house the special education district staff and provide classroom space, a storage area to serve the entire district, a cafeteria where food could be prepared and shipped to other schools in the area, a transportation wing for all district buses and a gymnasium which would be easily accessible to the public.

The school would be carpeted, air conditioned and would be wired for the future installation of televisions in the classrooms.

District officials have stated the junior high needs are critical. Enrollment growth has changed from being the greatest in the primary grades to being higher at the junior level.

"Our current junior high school space simply is not adequate to take care of the children who will be coming," said Board President Walter Sundling.

Tomorrow: An explanation of how the referendum will affect the tax rate in Dist. 15.

Board Will Award Safety Work Pacts

Contracts for reworking Campanelli, Hillcrest and Lakeview schools in School Dist. 54 to meet life safety code requirements were awarded Thursday when the school board met.

General contractor is Gebhardt Construction with a bid of $12,990; heating, J. W. Hardy, $30,046; plumbing, H. A. Neises, $3,360, and electrical work, Mau Electrical. All awards went to low bidders.

The board also accepted a $6,400 damages settlement from general contractors who built the Jane Addams Junior High School in 1969. The money was part of a clause in the contract that stipulated a $100 payment to the district for every day over the date of promised completion of the finished building.

The district's third junior high was occupied on Dec. 1, 1969, 94 days after the builders had promised it would be ready. The school board accepted the $6,400 instead of the $9,400 they could have demanded on the advice of the board attorney and engineers who cited bad weather as responsible for most of the delay.

IN OTHER business the board.

-Granted a maternity leave to Mrs. Georgia Pottinger, and accepted the resignation of Mrs. Sharon Shopper.

-Approved the employment of Thomas Connell and LeRoy Watkins as custodians at salaries of $8,700 per year effective, Oct. 6 and accepted the resignation of Arnold Schevikhoven, custodian.

-Agreed to allow Girl Scout Troop 485 to use an art room at the Hillcrest School for a sewing class to be conducted by badge mother Mrs. Viola Delaquila.

A report showed enrollment figures for the end of September at 13,655 and an average class size of 26.9 students per class.

The board set finance committee meeting for 8 p.m., Oct. 28 in the district offices at 804 W. Bode Rd. and a building and sites committee meeting in the district office at 8 p.m., Nov. 8.

'Court' To Be Explained

What parents can do for their children by being involved in the School District 54 language arts course "open court" will be explained Wednesday at the Twinbrook School, 400 Ash Road, Hoffman Estates.

Principal Darrell Little said first grade teacher Diane Brooks will hold a morning class for parents from 10:45 to 11:45 to explain the Open Court system of teaching to parents.

Parents of first, second and third graders are urged to attend the session planned during Education Week, the week of Oct. 25.

The open court system of teaching uses a higher structure of language arts and does not depend on the look and see program followed in the past. It is a phonetic ic approach to language and parents will be told how it is practiced and how they can help children at home.

Salary Is $16,500 Annually

Stricker Plans Personnel Department, Job Screening

by ANNE SLAVICEK

The creation of a formal personnel department and of procedures for screening job applicants will be among the first jobs Roger Stricker will tackle in his new post as administrative assistant to the Wheeling village manager.

Stricker began his new post with the village 10 days ago after resigning his elected position as a village trustee.

Stricker will receive an annual salary of $16,500. He had been administrative assistant to the vice president of a manufacturing firm in Huntley.

In talking about his new position, Stricker emphasized the goal was to bring the village up to professional standards in its hiring practices and to get away from the "ma and pa operation" Wheeling has had since it was a small village.

THROUGH THE new personnel department Stricker will advertise and do the preliminary screening of all employees except village firemen and policemen. They are hired by a civil service-type commission.

He explained, however, that village department heads and the village manager (currently acting village manager George Passolt) will review all applicants before selecting one for a position.

Stricker explained the personnel department would be given high priority because there are currently vacancies in the village which should be filled as soon as possible.

Stricker said under the new procedures the village will advertise all openings "in some way," something the village hasn't always done in the past.

He said the only exception would be in cases in which the village had excess applicants from an advertisement for one job and a similar position became vacant. The original applicants might be used to fill the second post, he said.

"IN THE PAST we haven't been all that professional," Stricker said, "but now we're going to refine the operation."

Passolt explained that the village board's decisions to set up an administrative assistant position and a wage and salary committee of village employees this year was "a major — and a good — departure" from past practices in the village.

In his new post Stricker will also become part of that employee committee which is setting up specifications for all village jobs and working on a manual for new employees.

His job as "personnel officer" will also include reviewing the organizational structure of each village department and making recommendations to the village manager on any changes needed.

In addition to his duties as a "personnel officer" Stricker will have other hats to wear as an administrative assistant.

A DUTY WHICH he says will also be a priority item will be reviewing possibilities for federal and state grants to aid the village. That duty will tie in directly with his job as a liaison for the village manager to the police, fire and civil defense departments because many of the grants available are earmarked for emergency vehicles or law enforcement, Stricker pointed out.

Currently Wheeling has applied for four or five grants for purchasing items.

Stricker explained that filling out the grant applications and researching whether they are suitable to Wheeling's needs has heavily taxed Passolt's time. Passolt said he thought Wheeling has probably missed some grants in the past and explained he had given Stricker that duty because "we want to make sure we don't miss opportunities."

Other duties the new administrative assistant will assume include working on the design of the new fire station building the village will build soon, and as the liaison to three departments he will be involved in budget preparation.

STRICKER WILL assist the manager in all areas on an individual assignment basis. He will assume the duties of the acting manager in his absence when designated to do so by the manager or by the village board.

In the long range Stricker will review building and equipment needs for all departments in conjunction with the various department heads. He will prepare specifications for those needs and submit them with recommendations to the manager.

Stricker will also assist the village manager in all zoning and planning matters. Stricker and Passolt admitted that exactly what Stricker's involvement will be in those areas is not clear yet.

Passolt said Stricker might take over preapplication conferences now held by Michael Valenza, acting director of planning or Douglas Cargill, acting zoning administrator.

However, pointing to Pres. Ted C. Scanlon's recent statement that Valenza will retain the plan commission posts he now holds, Passolt said the planning and zoning activities may be restricted to answering questions that occur when Valenza is not available.

STRICKER SERVED on the village plan commission for three years before he became a village trustee.

Stricker explained that most municipalities have separate zoning and planning administrators.

Wheeling however has those duties assigned to the village manager and as a result "this is where the manager needs help," Stricker said.

Stricker said he sees his immediate job as "playing a catch-up game." Passolt has been "swamped" with duties in the acting manager post and as a result things "have backlogged — not by neglect but by sheer lack of time" Stricker says.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE assistant says he expects the new job to take more than 40 hours a week, especially since under the current economy most business executives find a need to work excess hours.

"This is the most frustrating period for me — there's so much to do but I have to establish duties, priorities and rules before I can start," Stricker said.

Ponder School Bus Storage Zoning Here

Wheeling's village board tonight will consider zoning for a school bus storage facility, and allowing eight concrete silos in a materials yard.

The 8:30 p.m. meeting will be held tonight instead of Monday night the usual board meeting day, because of Veterans Day yesterday.

Other items on the board's agenda include a closed session to discuss personnel, annexation of land for Cornell Avenue into the village, changing an ordinance to allow pennants to be flown by businesses in the village, and a request to waive bidding procedures for hauling of the dirt from Husky Park.

At 7:30 p.m. the streets public buildings and grounds committee will discuss the possible location for a youth center at a meeting with local youth group representatives.

Opinions

New Holiday Reactions Are Mixed

Many American holidays are no longer celebrated on their original date, due to a recent act of Congress. Columbus Day was celebrated on Monday, Oct. 11 this year rather than on Oct. 12. Veteran's Day was observed yesterday, instead of on Nov. 11.

The new policy of celebrating holidays on Mondays or Fridays gives schoolchildren and many adults a three-day vacation. However, Wheeling and Buffalo Grove residents interviewed for "Opinions Please" were not unanimous in approving of the change in holiday dates.

MRS. JACK ARNOLD, 842 Colonial, Wheeling, said she has mixed feelings about the new holiday schedule.

"I like having holidays on Monday or Friday. It makes a long weekend and gives you more time to spend with the family. Mondays are fine for giving people a three-day weekend," Mrs. Arnold noted.

She added, "On the other hand, it seems like changing some of our holidays is changing our history, just so a holiday can fall on a particular day."

RAYMOND BENSON, 392 Indian Hill, Buffalo Grove, was an enthusiastic supporter of the new policy for holidays.

"I like it. It doesn't give us a broken up week. Having a Wednesday off isn't too great. It gives us a long weekend. You can do something with the family," Benson said.

A resident with mixed emotions about the new Monday holidays was MRS. JAMES BREDFIELD, 392 S. Meadowbrook Ln., Wheeling.

"For some holidays I think it's good, but for some it seems ridiculous," she stated. "It seems silly to celebrate Veteran's Day today (Monday) when it's really Nov. 11."

Mrs. Bredfield said the three-day weekends don't give her any additional time with her family, as some residents said was the case.

"My family isn't in school yet, so it really doesn't make too much difference," she said.

MRS. JAMES GARNETT, 595 Thornwood, Buffalo Grove, said she favors the new Monday holidays and the three-day weekends they create.

"I think that giving people a three-day holiday is better than just scattering them around," she said.

She added that she does feel that Veteran's Day should be celebrated a little closer to its original date of Nov. 11.

"I don't understand why Veteran's Day is celebrated in October. I think it should at least be celebrated in the same month as it originally was," she said.

"I think it should be celebrated the first Monday in November. That's a little closer to its original date."

Mrs. Garnett noted that many families can't take advantage of the three day weekends that the Monday holidays now create.

"In many cases it doesn't give more time to devote to the family since so many husbands have to work anyway and really can't go anywhere," she said.

GERALD HARTWIG, 603 St. Mary's Pkwy., Buffalo Grove, said he favors the new three-day weekends caused by Monday holidays "because I'm a fisherman."

He said the three-day weekends allow him to plan more family activities.

Bank's Growth Parallels Village's

The growth of the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank, which celebrates its 50th anniversary today, closely parallels the development of the village.

Wheeling became something more than a quiet farm community in the years after World War I. The auto had become popular and the village at the intersection of Dundee Road and Milwaukee Avenue found that it was a popular place for travelers to stop on the way to Milwaukee or summer homes at Fox Lake.

"We've never had commuter train service here, so Wheeling's always been dependent on the automobile," Marshall Balling, bank vice president said. "After the war the old roadhouse developed and that was one of Wheeling's original industries."

Until then the village's farmers and businessmen were satisfied with occasional trips to Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights and even Lake Zurich for banking service.

BUT BY 1920, "Wheeling was booming as an eating center," Balling said. "It was a prosperous little town and the roadhouses needed a bank. They didn't want to go all the way to Des Plaines.

"So a group of local businessmen (including Balling's father, Charles), organized the bank with the help of men from Niles Center and a Loop bank."

In 1921 the bank, then known as the Wheeling State Bank, began operations with 32 checking accounts, 49 savings accounts and assets of $39,000. In addition to the roadhouse owners, "The bank was supported by the dairy farmer community from Libertyville on the north to Palatine on the west," Balling said.

The bank's first home was a small brick building on the southeast corner of Milwaukee Avenue and Dundee Road. That building disappeared a few years ago in the widening of the intersection but the bank had moved across Milwaukee Avenue to its present home long before then.

That move came in 1927, a time when the village seemed on the verge of a new boom.

THE NEW two-story bank building was "huge for that time in this area," Balling said, and advertisements announcing the opening spoke of the "opening of a new era."

"Land values had boomed after World War I," Balling said, "and they had begun to subdivide land — that was something new. Things looked so good they built a new bank."

The boom never materialized and the new era turned out to be the Depression. In the spring of 1933, the bank — along with all the banks in the nation — was closed.

"We had to raise a certain amount of money to reopen," Balling said. "They asked the larger depositors to pledge a certain percentage of their savings. The directors went around to farmers and businessmen — the community was still intimate enough so people could be approached in this way."

"The people here had faith that things would change and they pledged the money. They got enough to reopen and all of it was paid back with interest."

The next two decades were quiet ones for the village and bank. Both grew steadily but slowly. By 1951 the bank's assets totaled $2,800,000.

SOON AFTERWARD the long-delayed boom began. "Wheeling didn't really blossom until 1954 when the Dunhurst Heights Subdivision was laid out with 1,000 homes," Balling said. "Then Wheeling became a desirable, middle-income housing area."

Since then, the bank has twice remodeled its building and its assets have grown to $48 million.

The management of the bank changed in 1950 and Howard A. McKee, a Chicago attorney became chairman of the bank's executive committee. "He added a trust department to the bank and in 1960, the bank's name was changed to the Wheeling Trust and Savings Bank," Balling said.

Balling said McKee and Neale Gripenrot, the bank's presidents' had "spear-headed the bank's progress" in recent years.

The War

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 40 guerrillas in scattered clashes, mostly in the southern half of the nation as action remained light. B52 bombers stayed out of Vietnam for the second straight day, hitting supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, beginning his first official visit to a Western nation, smiled his way through a lukewarm welcome in Paris and promised President Georges Pompidou to wipe out traces of the Cold War.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

American officials said the South Vietnamese government would have to direct its own relief efforts in the wake of typhoon Hester, although U.S. helicopters moved swiftly to rescue thousands of homeless refugees.

Reformed Alcoholic Speaks

We're No Good To Anybody When We Drink: Priest

by KAREN RUGEN

"Our real motivation for joining the program is personal selfishness. But it's not as bad as it sounds because we're no good to anybody when we drink."

That's what Father Bowler, a Catholic priest and admitted alcoholic, told about 40 residents, alcoholics and relatives of heavy drinkers about Alcoholics Anonymous. Father Bowler was a member of a panel that spoke Friday night about AA, Al-anon (for relatives of alcoholics) and Alateen (for teens who have alcoholic relatives) at St. Raymond Catholic School in Mount Prospect. The panel was part of a five-part seminar, open to the public, sponsored by St. Raymond's adult education group.

Father Bowler, now stationed at a parish near Norridge Park, told of some of his experiences before he joined AA.

"I started out with parties. At the end I was drinking half a fifth of scotch a day, sometimes a whole fifth," he said.

"I used to have to set the clock for 4:30 a.m. to give me time for a few more belts so I wouldn't have the shakes during the day."

"I KNEW AA WAS available but I didn't take advantage of it for three years," he said. "In the back of my mind I didn't want to admit I was an alcoholic." But eventually he did, and like other alcoholics who band together in AA, a non-profit corporation, was on his way to stop drinking.

"After a period of years you lose the taste and the desire, but you never lose the caution," Father Bowler said. "You know that one drink can start you right off again. Like a diabetic who doesn't take his insulin, an alcoholic can end up in a coma and die."

"Alcoholism is a disease — when it reaches the central nervous system it's part of an alcoholic. One doesn't have to be staggering — the important thing is the need. In AA we band together with a common goal to stay sober from day to day."

Mary R., an AA member who appeared to be in her early 30s, has stayed sober for nearly five years. As she introduced herself, she explained, "I have the disease; it's arrested."

Raised by Irish Catholic parents, Mary started drinking when she was 16. "I found a release in it right from the start — one my personality needed. I found I was a little more comfortable in situations. Right from the start I like it too much and started to black out — by not remembering what happened. From there, I progressed very quickly downhill. I wanted to learn how to drink like a lady, but I couldn't."

When she was 21, she went to AA meetings but felt she didn't belong. After she met her husband, had two children and began to drink daily, she turned to AA for good.

"I JUST COULDN'T stand myself anymore. I didn't stop drinking right away, but I found comfort in AA," she explained. "AA is a fellowship for men and women to share hopes and experiences. I felt other members cared, and I knew I belonged there."

Mary said that through the 12 steps of AA, from admitting to alcoholism to a spiritual awakening, she has learned to live her life day by day.

"Before I quit, I was wandering, frightened, anxious, and mentally a wreck. I used to spend 99 per cent of my time worrying about what I did yesterday," she said. "Now I consider myself blessed with real good friends. They understand me."

Understanding is also important for people closest to the alcoholic. According to Father Bowler, statistics say that for every alcoholic four other people are involved. Fran C. is one of those other people.

"I am the recovering wife of a recovering alcoholic," she told residents. "I say recovering because I was sick and the cure is an ongoing process. We are still working on our problem and lives so that alcohol doesn't affect us."

Fran joined Al-anon after her husband joined AA. "It's a group of people, not alcoholics, who live with the alcoholic problem. It helps us understand ourselves and understand that alcoholism is a disease."

BROUGHT UP IN a Midwest home, Fran said she was taught to handle her own problems. In college, both she and her husband drank, but she never realized it was a problem until he started drinking heavily and missing dinner.

"My first reactions were all the wrong things. I hid the liquor; I poured it out. I had a different reason for why he drank every day," she explained. "I finally decided he was sick and wasn't acting normal. He joined AA and for five years he's never had a sip. On the AA program, he became someone I didn't know. I resented it and then realized I needed help."

Fran found that help in Al-anon, which follows the same 12 steps as AA. She still attends group meetings "to help me grow and change," and she sponsors an Alateen group.

Maura S. is a member of Alateen Maura, who has 10 brothers and sisters, found it hard to accept the fact that her father was an alcoholic.

"My Dad had martinis before and after dinner so I thought all parents did this. I thought our family was the ideal family," she said. "But my father was getting so bad my mother kicked him out of the house for about six months. My mother wanted a divorce, but he wanted to keep the family together so he went into the hospital. Since he's been out, he's been sober."

Maura explained she attends Alateen meetings to help herself, not just for her father. "We go to help ourselves. Most of the time we don't even talk about the alcoholic parent. I realized helping myself was just as important."

Charge Chicago Man Resisted Arrest Attempt

A Chicago man was charged with obstructing justice Sunday after Wheeling Police stopped the car in which he was riding.

Police said Dennis J. Greco, 33, of Chicago, a passenger in the car, was arrested after he swore at police, drank a portion of the evidence, slammed a car door on a policeman's leg and threw a glass from the squad car into a parking lot.

Wheeling police had stopped Charles M. Caddy, 28, of 1409 S. Wolf Rd., Wheeling for driving through a red light at Milwaukee Avenue and Wolf Road. He was also charged with having open liquor — a glass of spiked tomato juice — in the car.

Police said Greco was charged after he interfered with police, drinking from the tomato juice glass after police had taken it from the driver, throwing the glass into the parking lot nearby and slamming the car door on a policeman's leg, police said.

Both men will appear in Arlington Heights District Court on the charges on Dec. 17.

Board Objects To Park Site At Tarkington

The Wheeling Park District Board has objected to the Dist. 21 School Board's decision to allow the Buffalo Grove Park District to develop a park at Tarkington School.

The school is located in the Wheeling Park District.

The Wheeling park board voted Thursday to notify Dist. 21 that the Wheeling Park District has not taken any formal action releasing the Tarkington site or any other site from the contract signed by Dist. 21 and the Wheeling Park District.

"We're not waiving our rights to that park," Comm. Gene Sackett said at the Wheeling Park District meeting.

The Wheeling park board action followed a discussion in which park board members castigated the Dist. 21 Board for authorizing the Buffalo Grove Park District to develop the school site as a park.

THE PROPERTY lies within the boundaries of the Wheeling Park District and is one of the school sites covered in the school-park agreement which gives the Wheeling Park District use of the land in exchange for maintaining it.

However, Buffalo Grove park officials want to develop a park at the site for residents of their district who live nearby. They say the Wheeling district has shown no interest in developing the site.

Wheeling park commissioners said

Thursday night that they had had an informal meeting with officials of the school district and the Buffalo Grove Park District last week.

Commissioner Sackett said the Wheeling park representatives at the meeting had indicated they were "favorably inclined" to allowing the development of the Tarkington site by the Buffalo Grove Park District.

However, Sackett said, the Wheeling park representatives had said they wanted to take the matter back to the district board for further discussion before taking any formal action on releasing the site.

"BUT WITHIN 25 hours of that meeting the school board had authorized the Buffalo Grove Park District to develop the property," Sackett said.

Under the school park agreement there must be a 90-day notification if any changes are to be made in the agreement, park commissioners said.

As a result the park board decided to notify the Buffalo Grove park board that the matter of developing the Tarkington School site had been placed in a Wheeling park district committee for discussion at a later date.

The letter will also point out that "we can take no formal action until the 90 day clause is adhered to," park commissioners said.

New County Sure: Hanrahan

A secession of the Northwest suburban area from Cook County is inevitable, but Lincoln County is the wrong name, Edward Hanrahan, Cook County state's attorney, said Saturday.

Hanrahan's comment came at the dinner dance of the Democratic Organization of Schaumburg Township. Other key Democrats who appeared included County Board Pres. George Dunne and gubernatorial hopeful Thomas Foran.

Hanrahan said he doesn't endorse the idea of a separate county for the Northwest suburbs, as proposed by a group of area Republicans, but he sees the move as inevitable based on the amount of growth and the surprising size of the court records he sees.

But the new county, if it evolves, should be named for Harry Truman, Franklin Roosevelt or John F. Kennedy, said Hanrahan, citing the former Presidents as leaders of our time who set the way for modern-day society.

The committee studying the Lincoln County idea, which would involve the secession of six area townships from Cook County, is awaiting a clarification from the state attorney general's office on legalities involved in such a secession.

Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, a member of the committee, has written the attorney general requesting the interpretation of the statute but has not yet received a statement.

Merwin Soper, Palatine trustee and chairman of the study committee, said yesterday he did not expect the next meeting to be held until November or early December, depending on when the attorney general responds to Graham's request.

HANRAHAN'S comment followed those of John Morrissey, Schaumburg Township Democratic committeeman, who said the Republicans proposing Lincoln County are doing so because of the Democratic sweep in the last county election.

"When the Democrats sweep up in the next state and national election those Republicans will want to secede from the union," said Morrissey, drawing a laugh from the crowd of nearly 250.

Foran spoke of the disillusionment of youth with politics, and with reference to the race track scandal. He said politics has "lost its heroes."

He said it is up to the Democratic Party, through politics, to bring new and worthy heroes to elected office. He called politics the only way to forge forward in modern times and a great way to show youth how society can work.

DUNNE, PRESENT for only a few moments, thanked the local Democrats for their support in his last election.

He later reiterated having no intention of running for governor.

"I have enough to do," said Dunne, adding that the idea he was interested in the governor's position originated with the press, not himself.

Bill Colson, campaign manager for Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, another Democratic gubernatorial candidate, also attended the dinner dance.

Sewage Plant Ownership Nears End

"Only administrative procedures" must be completed before Buffalo Grove sells its sewage treatment plant to the Lake County Public Works Dept., Village Mgr. Daniel Larson told the Herald yesterday.

When the plant is taken over by Lake County, the village will be completely out of the sewage treatment business. Sewage treatment in Cook County is handled by the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

The Lake County plant has been the object of a number of complaints from residents living near it. They have complained about the odor coming from the plant periodically.

The village has voted to install a water main to the plant as a partial solution to the problem. Other improvements have been recommended but now they probably won't be made until Lake County assumes control of the plant.

Larson said Village Atty. Richard Rayssa has reviewed the sale contract, noted some changes, and sent it back to Lake County officials.

The major change involves the handling of money. Rayssa had raised the question that the holders of village bonds issued to buy the plant might object to the sale of the plant to Lake County.

Rayssa's change would allow for the village to still collect money from customers. The village would use the money to pay the bondholders and then give the remaining money to Lake County.

"All we are waiting for is a couple of changes in the agreement," Larson said. He felt that neither Lake County nor the bondholders would object to the revised agreement.

Larson said the construction plans have already been drawn and estimated that bids would be advertised for next month.

Lake County will purchase and operate the plant through the sale of revenue bonds and with grants from the state and federal governments, according to Larson.

Another proposal pending in the state legislature would create waste water districts in Lake County which would be responsible for treating all sewage in the county. The districts would have taxing and bonding power and operate much in the same way that the Metropolitan Sanitary District does in Cook County.

However, Larson indicated that whether that measure is approved or not, Lake County still plans to buy the sewage treatment plant.

No one was home when the burglary occurred.

New Holiday Reactions Are Mixed

Many American holidays are no longer celebrated on their original date, due to a recent act of Congress. Columbus Day was celebrated on Monday, Oct. 11 this year rather than on Oct. 12. Veteran's Day was observed yesterday, instead of on Nov. 11.

The new policy of celebrating holidays on Mondays or Fridays gives schoolchildren and many adults a three-day vacation. However, Wheeling and Buffalo Grove residents interviewed for "Opinions Please" were not unanimous in approving of the change in holiday dates.

MRS. JACK ARNOLD, 842 Colonial, Wheeling, said she has mixed feelings about the new holiday schedule.

"I like having holidays on Monday or Friday. It makes a long weekend and gives you more time to spend with the family. Mondays are fine for giving people a three-day weekend," Mrs. Arnold noted.

She added, "On the other hand, it seems like changing some of our holidays is changing our history, just so a holiday can fall on a particular day."

RAYMOND BENSON, 392 Indian Hill, Buffalo Grove, was an enthusiastic supporter of the new policy for holidays.

"I like it. It doesn't give us a broken up week. Having a Wednesday off isn't too great. It gives us a long weekend. You can do something with the family," Benson said.

A resident with mixed emotions about the new Monday holidays was MRS. JAMES BREDFIELD, 392 S. Meadowbrook Ln., Wheeling.

"For some holidays I think it's good, but for some it seems ridiculous," she stated. "It seems silly to celebrate Veteran's Day today (Monday) when it's really Nov. 11."

Mrs. Bredfield said the three-day weekends don't give her any additional time with her family, as some residents said was the case.

"My family isn't in school yet, so it really doesn't make too much difference," she said.

MRS. JAMES GARNETT, 595 Thornwood, Buffalo Grove, said she favors the new Monday holidays and the three-day weekends they create.

"I think that giving people a three-day holiday is better than just scattering them around," she said.

She added that she does feel that Veteran's Day should be celebrated a little closer to its original date of Nov. 11.

"I don't understand why Veteran's Day is celebrated in October. I think it should at least be celebrated in the same month as it originally was," she said.

"I think it should be celebrated the first Monday in November. That's a little closer to its original date."

Mrs. Garnett noted that many families can't take advantage of the three day weekends that the Monday holidays now create.

"In many cases it doesn't give more time to devote to the family since so many husbands have to work anyway and really can't go anywhere," she said.

GERALD HARTWIG, 603 St. Mary's Pkwy., Buffalo Grove, said he favors the new three-day weekends caused by Monday holidays "because I'm a fisherman."

He said the three-day weekends allow him to plan more family activities.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

As the Pentagon took 2,000 troops off standby alert, pouring rain washed out an opening antiwar protest in Washington, but its organizers vowed to conduct a year-long campaign against President Nixon's reelection next year. About 400 persons showed up at the Washington Monument and nearly all sought cover when the skies opened with a torrent. John Froines, a Chicago Seven defendant and a leader in the antiwar movement, said the events would be held today.

A few hundred persons dotted Arlington National Cemetery to honor America's veterans, including those of the Vietnam War who Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said have "paid a higher price than usual."

An announcement on the date of President Nixon's visit to mainland China is expected soon after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returns today from Peking.

A dynamite blast caused extensive damage to the Detroit Police Officers Association headquarters in what police called an "obvious attempt to assassinate police officers." No one was injured but damage was estimated at $3,000.

The War

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 40 guerrillas in scattered clashes, mostly in the southern half of the nation as action remained light. B52 bombers stayed out of Vietnam for the second straight day, hitting supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

The World

Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, beginning his first official visit to a Western nation, smiled his way through a lukewarm welcome in Paris and promised President Georges Pompidou to wipe out traces of the Cold War.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

American officials said the South Vietnamese government would have to direct its own relief efforts in the wake of typhoon Hester, although U.S. helicopters moved swiftly to rescue thousands of homeless refugees.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $1.3 million federal grant to rehabilitate 1,500 persons on welfare. Ogilvie said the grant—to which Illinois will add $200,000—will rehabilitate 1,000 persons in Chicago and 500 in the Peoria area so they can get jobs.

A birth control pill taken within 72 hours after sexual intercourse has been shown successful in tests upon 1,000 women of child-bearing age without serious side-effects, a physician reported. Dr. Lucille Kirtland Kuchera of the University of Michigan Health Service said nearly 900 of the women had used no form of protection.

Stock prices moved lower in the dull session since mid-August of last year. Neither the softness nor the lagging pace of trading was expected. Observers noted the list, marking its ninth consecutive decline, was under pressure from a number of continuing economic and business factors. The Dow Jones industrial average, measuring 30 selected blue chips, eased another 3.87 points to 848.50. The Dow lost more than 22 points last week. ### Reformed Alcoholic Speaks

by KAREN RUGEN

"Our real motivation for joining the program is personal selfishness. But it's not as bad as it sounds because we're no good to anybody when we drink."

That's what Father Bowler, a Catholic priest and admitted alcoholic, told about 40 residents, alcoholics and relatives of heavy drinkers about Alcoholics Anonymous. Father Bowler was a member of a panel that spoke Friday night about AA, Al-anon (for relatives of alcoholics) and Alateen (for teens who have alcoholic relatives) at St. Raymond Catholic School in Mount Prospect. The panel was part of a five-part seminar, open to the public, sponsored by St. Raymond's adult education group.

Father Bowler, now stationed at a parish near Norridge Park, told of some of his experiences before he joined AA.

"I started out with parties. At the end I was drinking half a fifth of scotch a day, sometimes a whole fifth," he said. "I used to have to set the clock for 4:30 a.m. to give me time for a few more belts so I wouldn't have the shakes during the day."

"I KNEW AA WAS available but I didn't take advantage of it for three years," he said. "In the back of my mind I didn't want to admit I was an alcoholic." But eventually he did, and like other alcoholics who band together in AA, a non-profit corporation, was on his way to stop drinking.

"After a period of years you lose the taste and the desire, but you never lose the caution," Father Bowler said. "You know that one drink can start you right off again. Like a diabetic who doesn't take his insulin, an alcoholic can end up in a coma and die."

"Alcoholism is a disease — when it reaches the central nervous system it's part of an alcoholic. One doesn't have to be staggering — the important thing is the need. In AA we band together with a common goal to stay sober from day to day."

Mary R., an AA member who appeared to be in her early 30s, has stayed sober for nearly five years. As she introduced herself, she explained, "I have the disease; it's arrested."

Raised by Irish Catholic parents, Mary started drinking when she was 16. "I found a release in it right from the start — one my personality needed. I found I was a little more comfortable in situations. Right from the start I like it too much and started to black out — by not remembering what happened. From there, I progressed very quickly downhill. I wanted to learn how to drink like a lady, but I couldn't."

When she was 21, she went to AA meetings but felt she didn't belong. After she met her husband, had two children and began to drink daily, she turned to AA for good.

"I JUST COULDN'T stand myself anymore. I didn't stop drinking right away, but I found comfort in AA," she explained. "AA is a fellowship for men and women to share hopes and experiences. I felt other members cared, and I knew I belonged there."

Mary said that through the 12 steps of AA, from admitting to alcoholism to a spiritual awakening, she has learned to live her life day by day.

"Before I quit, I was wandering, frightened, anxious and mentally a wreck. I used to spend 99 per cent of my time worrying about what I did yesterday," she said. "Now I consider myself blessed with real good friends. They understand me."

Understanding is also important for people close to the alcoholic. According to Father Bowler, statistics say that for every alcoholic four other people are involved. Fran C. is one of those other people.

"I am the recovering wife of a recovering alcoholic," she told residents. "I say recovering because I was sick and the cure is an ongoing process. We are still working on our problem and lives so that alcohol doesn't affect us."

Fran joined Al-anon after her husband joined AA. "It's a group of people, not alcoholics, who live with the alcoholic problem. It helps us understand our selves and understand that alcoholism is a disease."

BROUGHT UP IN a Midwest home, Fran said she was taught to handle her own problems. In college, both she and her husband drank, but she never realized it was a problem until he started drinking heavily and missing dinner.

"My first reactions were all the wrong things. I hid the liquor; I poured it out. I had a different reason for why he drank every day," she explained. "I finally decided he was sick and wasn't acting normal. He joined AA and for five years he's never had a sip. On the AA program, he became someone I didn't know. I resented it and then realized I needed help."

Fran found that help in Al-anon, which follows the same 12 steps as AA. She still attends group meetings "to help me grow and change," and she sponsors an Alateen group.

Maura S. is a member of Alateen Maura, who has 10 brothers and sisters found it hard to accept the fact that her father was an alcoholic.

"My Dad had martinis before and after dinner so I thought all parents did this. I thought our family was the ideal family," she said. "But my father was getting so bad my mother kicked him out of the house for about six months. My mother wanted a divorce, but he wanted to keep the family together so he went into the hospital. Since he's been out he's been sober."

Maura explained she attends Alateen meetings to help herself, not just for her father. "We go to help ourselves. Most of the time we don't even talk about the alcoholic parent. I realized helping myself was just as important."

Charge Chicago Man Resisted Arrest Attempt

A Chicago man was charged with obstructing justice Sunday after Wheeling Police stopped the car in which he was riding.

Police said Dennis J. Greco, 33, of Chicago, a passenger in the car, was arrested after he swore at police, drank a portion of the evidence, slammed a car door on a policeman's leg and threw a glass from the squad car into a parking lot.

Wheeling police had stopped Charles M. Caddy, 28, of 1409 S. Wolf Rd., Wheeling for driving through a red light at Milwaukee Avenue and Wolf Road. He was also charged with having open liquor — a glass of spiked tomato juice — in the car.

Police said Greco was charged after he interfered with police, drinking from the tomato juice glass after police had taken it from the driver, throwing the glass into the parking lot nearby and slamming the car door on a policeman's leg police said.

Both men will appear in Arlington Heights District Court on the charges on Dec. 27.

Palatine Hills —New Concept In Junior Highs

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Board of Education will go to the voters Saturday to request approval of a building program referendum for the construction of three schools. In this second of a three part series, Herald staff writer Jo Ann Van Wye explains the referendum. For more information about the referendum voters may call 358-4400 and ask for referendum direct line.

by JO ANN VAN WYE

Palatine Hills Junior High School has been planned as the first school in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 to house only junior high students.

Approved by voters in 1969, the school has been in the planning stages for the last two years. Construction of the school now hinges on a successful referendum this Saturday.

Voters approved $2 million for construction of Palatine Hills Junior High in 1969 but the school as planned will take $3 million to build. The extra cost results from inflated construction costs and the architect underestimate of the cost of the building.

In order to get construction under way as soon as possible, the board of education is seeking voter approval to transfer $1 million currently earmarked for an elementary school on the Dawngate site into the junior high building fund.

If approved, Palatine Hills Junior High, located on an 18 acre site on Smith Street in Palatine, will be opened in the fall of 1973. It is planned to be a tri-level building fitting into the contour of the land.

OPENING OF PALATINE Hills will allow the district to move seventh and eighth grade students out of Sanborn and Paddock Schools. It will also allow the district to advance its master plan of making Palatine Hills, Sandburg in Rolling Meadows and Plum Grove in Palatine solely junior highs. Winston Park School in Palatine is slated to become a kindergarten through eighth grade school with practical art facilities added. Also being discussed is the conversion of Marion Jordan School in Palatine into a junior high.

The neighborhood school concept is no longer feasible, according to Marion Omiatek, assistant superintendent for instruction. He explained it is not economical to provide practical art courses and departmentalized classes at all schools for just seventh and eighth graders. By bringing the seventh and eighth grade students together the district is able to offer them more programs.

Junior high students are going through a mental as well as physical change, Omiatek explained. The mental transition is from a pupil centered instruction where the emphasis is on basic skills to placing the emphasis on special skills which requires teachers who have specialized in certain areas.

"We hope to be able to provide junior high students with as many opportunities and experiences as possible so they will be better able to make choices about their future," said Omiatek.

BASED ON THIS philosophy, it was decided the school should exemplify unlimited flexibility, livability, functionalism and financial longevity.

Several committees consisting of administrators and teachers were involved in the planning. The committees visited various schools trying to take the best from each.

The proposed Palatine Hills Junior High would have a capacity of 1,000 students and employ the open space concept.

The 12 science, math and language arts classrooms would form a hexagon around a resource center. The resource center would be designed to be easily accessible from all the classrooms and would provide students with a place to work with a variety of media individually, in groups or as a class.

The classrooms would have sliding doors dividing them which would offer teachers an opportunity to teach in teams. The resource center could also be divided in thirds so groups of teachers could bring their classes together in large areas for interdepartmentalized instruction.

Practical art rooms, foreign language rooms, reading laboratories and an auditorium are also planned. The auditorium would provide the students with a place to meet in assemblies and would double as instructional space and space for music classes.

OTHER FEATURES of the proposed school are a special education wing to house the special education district staff and provide classroom space, a storage area to serve the entire district, a cafeteria where food could be prepared and shipped to other schools in the area, a transportation wing for all district buses and a gymnasium which would be easily accessible to the public.

Tomorrow: An explanation of how the referendum will affect the tax rate in Dist. 15.

You Can Vote In Referendum If You Meet Requirements

Only five days remain before the Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 building program referendum for the construction of three new schools.

In order to vote in Saturday's referendum, residents in the district must be registered voters.

Registration requirements include being over 18 years old, a U.S. citizen, residency in Illinois for six months and residency at the present address for 30 days.

Most Dist. 15 residents should register at the Palatine Township Town Hall, 39 N. Plum Grove Rd. On Tuesday, Thursday and Friday residents may register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday's registration hours are from 9 a.m. to noon. Residents may also register Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. by appointment. The township hall is closed on Wednesday.

PALATINE HILLS Junior High School, located on 18 acres on Smith Street in Palatine, is scheduled to open in the fall of 1973 if Saturday's Dist. 15 referendum passes. This architect's rendering of the school does not show the special education wing which has been added. The football field, track and baseball diamond are not planned in the original building stages.

Secession Sure: Hanrahan

A secession of the Northwest suburban area from Cook County is inevitable, but Lincoln County is the wrong name, Edward Hanrahan, Cook County state's attorney, said Saturday.

Hanrahan's comment came at the dinner dance of the Democratic Organization of Schaumburg Township. Other key Democrats who appeared included County Board Pres. George Dunne and gubernatorial hopeful Thomas Foran.

Hanrahan said he doesn't endorse the idea of a separate county for the Northwest suburbs, as proposed by a group of area Republicans, but he sees the move as inevitable based on the amount of growth and the surprising size of the court records he sees.

But the new county, if it evolves, should be named for Harry Truman, Franklin Roosevelt or John F. Kennedy, said Hanrahan, citing the former Presidents as leaders of our time who set the way for modern-day society.

The committee studying the Lincoln County idea, which would involve the secession of six area townships from Cook County, is awaiting a clarification from the state attorney general's office on legalities involved in such a secession.

Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, a member of the committee, has written the attorney general requesting the interpretation of the statute but has not yet received a statement.

Merwin Soper, Palatine trustee and chairman of the study committee, said yesterday he did not expect the next meeting to be held until November or early December, depending on when the attorney general responds to Graham's request.

HANRAHAN'S comment followed those of John Morrissey, Schaumburg Township Democratic committeeman, who said the Republicans proposing Lincoln County are doing so because of the Democratic sweep in the last county election.

"When the Democrats sweep up in the next state and national election those Republicans will want to secede from the union," said Morrissey, drawing a laugh from the crowd of nearly 250.

Foran spoke of the disillusionment of youth with politics, and with reference to the race track scandal. He said politics has "lost its heroes."

He said it is up to the Democratic Party, through politics, to bring new and worthy heroes to elected office. He called politics the only way to forge forward in youth how society can work.

DUNNE, PRESENT for only a few moments, thanked the local Democrats for their support in his last election.

He later reiterated having no intention of running for governor.

"I have enough to do," said Dunne, adding that the idea he was interested in the governor's position originated with the press, not himself.

Bill Colson, campaign manager for Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, another Democratic gubernatorial candidate, also attended the dinner dance.

Await MSD Decision On Sewer Permit

Sellergren Inc. and the Village of Palatine are still awaiting a final decision by the Metropolitan Sanitary District (MSD) on whether a sewer permit will be issued for construction of Ol' Madrid Apartments on the Pebble Creek Golf Course.

Although all sides in the controversy over the permit were heard Oct. 13 at a special meeting called by the engineering department, a report of the meeting was not issued to the full MSD board at its meeting Thursday and the decision was delayed.

The board previously denied the permit to Sellergren for his project on the golf course on the basis it was thought the project and surrounding developments would overload the existing sewer line.

However, Sellergren and Palatine officials have protested the denial, saying their reports from engineers have indicated no overloading would occur.

JAMES SELLEGREN, vice president of the Park Ridge developers building Ol' Madrid, said yesterday the "incredible amount of reporting to be typed and sent to the board" as a transcript of the Oct. 13 meeting probably is causing the delay of the decision. He said the meeting lasted 3½ hours, making the transcript lengthy.

"The whole discussion involved a question of capacity," Sellergren said. "It seems there will be more homeowners and projects tied in to the line than the sanitary district was previously told."

The MSD engineers made no recommendation for a decision on the sewer permit at the special Oct. 13 meeting, but told both Sellergren and Palatine officials their recommendation would be told to them prior to being presented to the full MSD board.

Although Sellergren said there are "legal remedies" to the situation, he is not planning any further action with the MSD at this time. "We're just waiting for them to make up their mind," he said. "We're entitled to a decision."

DELAYS IN THE granting of a sewer permit have not caused an actual delay in construction of the apartments, although "they have caused anxiety," Sellergren said.

Construction schedules call for occupancy of the first building by spring, which would require Sellergren to temporarily tie sewer lines into the sewer main in Rohlfing Road until completion of the large interceptor being constructed on Hicks Road.

Sellergren's project, which was annexed to Palatine in January, involves the construction of 1,090 units in four high-rise buildings.

Knifepoint Robbery At Motel Nets $230

Palatine police are investigating the robbery by knifepoint of $230 Sunday night at the Howard Johnson's Motel in Palatine.

Police said three men, armed with a knife, entered the motel at 9 p.m. and asked a desk clerk for money. The clerk gave them $230, and they left with two other men who were waiting outside in a parked car.

No description of the men or car was available. Sgt. Walter Schoenfeld is heading the police investigation.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

As the Pentagon took 2,000 troops off standby alert, pouring rain washed out an opening antiwar protest in Washington, but its organizers vowed to conduct a year-long campaign against President Nixon's reelection next year. About 400 persons showed up at the Washington Monument and nearly all sought cover when the skies opened with a torrent. John Froines, a Chicago Seven defendant and a leader in the antiwar movement, said the events would be held today.

A few hundred persons dotted Arlington National Cemetery to honor America's veterans, including those of the Vietnam War who Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said have "paid a higher price than usual."

An announcement on the date of President Nixon's visit to mainland China is expected soon after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returns today from Peking.

A dynamite blast caused extensive damage to the Detroit Police Officers Association headquarters in what police called an "obvious attempt to assassinate police officers." No one was injured but damage was estimated at $3,000.

The War

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 40 guerrillas in scattered clashes, mostly in the southern half of the nation as action remained light. B52 bombers stayed out of Vietnam for the second straight day, hitting supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

The World

Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, beginning his first official visit to a Western nation, smiled his way through a lukewarm welcome in Paris and promised President Georges Pompidou to wipe out traces of the Cold War.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

American officials said the South Vietnamese government would have to direct its own relief efforts in the wake of typhoon Hester, although U.S. helicopters moved swiftly to rescue thousands of homeless refugees.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $1.3 million federal grant to rehabilitate 1,500 persons on welfare. Ogilvie said the grant — to which Illinois will add $200,000 — will rehabilitate 1,000 persons in Chicago and 500 in the Peoria area so they can get jobs.

A birth control pill taken within 72 hours after sexual intercourse has been shown successful in tests upon 1,000 women of child-bearing age without serious side-effects, a physician reported. Dr. Lucille Kirtland Kuchera of the University of Michigan Health Service said nearly 900 of the women had used no form of protection.

The Weather

Temperatures from around the nation:

	High	Low
Atlanta	75	55
Houston	78	64
Los Angeles	64	50
New Orleans	79	55
New York	60	58

The Market

Stock prices moved lower in the duller session since mid-August of last year. Neither the softness nor the lagging pace of trading was expected. Observers noted the list, marking its ninth consecutive decline, was under pressure from a number of continuing economic and business factors. The Dow Jones industrial average, measuring 30 selected blue chips, eased another 3.87 points to 848.50. The Dow lost more than 22 points last week. Of the total 1,586 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances, 804 to 434.

Students 'Sample' Europe

Cultural Exchange Day — would you believe Food Exchange Day?

Planned to culminate a study of European nations, Cultural Exchange Day ended up resembling a study on international cuisines.

Dressed in European costumes typical of the country they studied, students from two seventh grade classes at Dist. 15's Winston Park School in Palatine passed around food commonly identified with the country they studied.

Asked to bring in just a small sampling of the food, some of the students outdid themselves and brought in a full-course meal.

Four boys who studied Ireland showed up with corn beef hash, baked potatoes, cabbage and shamrock shaped cookies. After a little prodding, they admitted receiving some help from their mothers in the food preparation.

OTHER ITEMS SERVED included German sweet chocolate cake, Spanish rice, Dutch chocolate milk, Danish pastries, French bread and puddings and Swedish meatballs.

Students who had worked together on the study of a particular country sat together at tables, but eagerly exchanged food with fellow classmates and served guests who wandered into the rooms.

The students are taught by Kim Kerrigan and Mrs. Scarlett Thoss. The unit on European nations was planned to coincide with the 25th anniversary of the United Nations.

Each class took half of the European nations and these nations were then distributed to small groups for extensive study and presentation before both classes.

The students made their presentations last week. Maps, costumes, customs, history, topography and industry were just some of the topics the students covered in their oral presentations.

Last year the same thing was done, but the students brought in the food as they gave their report. This year it was decided to save this part of the reports until the end.

Judging from the reaction of the students, they probably found the food to be the most interesting part of their study of Europe.

GERMAN SWEET CHOCOLATE cake anyone? This was Winston Park School in Palatine brought in for Cultural Exchange Day last week.

Government Leaders To Tour Schools

In observance of American Education Week, civic and governmental leaders have been invited to tour schools in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15.

The community leaders will have an opportunity to see "Education in Action" on Wednesday morning. The visitation will start at the E. S. Castor administration building where Supt. Frank C. Whiteley will welcome the leaders.

The group will then depart for a visitation of the schools. A total of 11 tours have been planned and each tour will cover three schools. The visitations are planned to show the diversity and quality of instructional materials, equipment and programs and the quality of instruction provided for all children.

The program will conclude with a luncheon and discussion period at the administration building.

THE THEME OF THIS year's American Education Week, which started yesterday, is "Help Schools Bridge the Gap."

Administrators stated Dist. 15 is constantly "striving to bridge the gaps that threaten the unity and strength of the nation, by promoting:

—"Understanding of the diverse ideas that lend vigor to our pluralistic society;

—"Realization for each person of his unique worth and capabilities; —"Opportunities for the development of each student's talents and character to enable him to determine his goals and to find fulfillment in reaching them;

—"The preservation of an environment that enriches the life of every human being and that supports the individual in his quest for satisfaction in worthy endeavors."

American Education Week as instituted shortly after World War I by the joint action of the American Legion and the National Education Association to enlist the help of the public in eliminating the high proportion of illiteracy and poor physical fitness prevalent among America's youth during the war.

The U.S. Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers became co-sponsors in 1922 and 1938 respectively. Beginning with President Warren Harding's special proclamation, American Education Week has been proclaimed almost every year by the President of the United States.

Palatine Youth Killed

Two young men, one from Palatine, were killed in separate accidents over the weekend.

Dennis N. Weidner, 42 S. Elm St., Palatine, was pronounced dead on arrival early Saturday at Condell Memorial Hospital in Libertyville.

Larry T. Hoffman, 23, of Augusta, Mich., was pronounced dead on arrival Saturday morning at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights.

According to unofficial reports, Hoffman was driving a car south on Elm Road, just south of Palatine Road in an unincorporated area of Palatine Township, when he apparently lost control of the car, which hit a tree. The accident occurred at 3:45 a.m.

Weidner, 19, was killed when his car, traveling westbound on Rte. 59 near Fox Lake, went out of control on a sharp curve at Squaw Creek Road.

The car hit a guard rail then jumped a bridge and landed in the creek, according to Lake County sheriff's police. The accident occurred at 1:52 a.m.

Funeral mass will be said for Mr. Weidner at 10 a.m. today in St. Theresa Catholic Church, 465 N. Benton, Palatine. Burial will be in St. Mary Cemetery, Buffalo Grove.

Continue Townhouse Hearing

A five-year battle by developer Al Zale to build housing on land near Plum Grove School will continue tonight at the Rolling Meadows City Council meeting.

Two weeks ago, the council voted 5-4 against Zale's latest proposal, a plan to build 246 three-bedroom townhouses on the 24-acre site just west of the school.

At that meeting Mayor Roland Meyer said he would appoint a committee to make suggested improvements in the project. At the time, Zale said he would comply with suggestions made by city officials.

City Mgr. James Watson said tonight's business will be an official attempt to keep alive Zale's chances of building on the land. The council will vote whether or not to reconsider Zale's proposal in light of whatever changes are suggested in the plans by the mayor's committee, which hasn't been appointed yet.

WATSON SAID THE council's negative vote two weeks ago killed the project, unless the council votes tonight to reconsider the plans.

Earlier this month the plan commission unanimously approved Zale's plans, after demanding minor revisions.

Opposition to the development has been led by Ald. Thomas Scanlon and Meyer. Meyer asked for a restrictive covenant on land owned by Zale west of the townhouses.

He asked that the remaining 36 acres be developed as single-family residences.

We're No Good To Anybody When We Drink: Priest

by KAREN RUGEN

"Our real motivation for joining the program is personal selfishness. But it's not as bad as it sounds because we're no good to anybody when we drink."

That's what Father Bowler, a Catholic priest and admitted alcoholic, told about 40 residents, alcoholics and relatives of heavy drinkers about Alcoholics Anonymous. Father Bowler was a member of a panel that spoke Friday night about AA, Al-anon (for relatives of alcoholics) and Alateen (for teens who have alcoholic relatives) at St. Raymond Catholic School in Mount Prospect. The panel was part of a five-part seminar, open to the public, sponsored by St. Raymond's adult education group.

Father Bowler, now stationed at a parish near Norridge Park, told of some of his experiences before he joined AA.

"I started out with parties. At the end I was drinking half a fifth of scotch a day, sometimes a whole fifth," he said. "I used to have to set the clock for 4:30 a.m. to give me time for a few more belts so I wouldn't have the shakes during the day."

"I KNEW AA WAS available but I didn't take advantage of it for three years," he said. "In the back of my mind I didn't want to admit I was an alcoholic." But eventually he did, and like other alcoholics who band together in AA, a non-profit corporation, was on his way to stop drinking.

"After a period of years you lose the taste and the desire, but you never lose the caution," Father Bowler said. "You know that one drink can start you right off again. Like a diabetic who doesn't take his insulin, an alcoholic can end up in a coma and die."

"Alcoholism is a disease — when it reaches the central nervous system it's part of an alcoholic. One doesn't have to be staggering — the important thing is the need. In AA we band together with a common goal to stay sober from day to day."

Mary R., an AA member who appeared to be in her early 30s, has stayed sober for nearly five years. As she introduced herself, she explained, "I have the disease; it's arrested."

Raised by Irish Catholic parents, Mary started drinking when she was 16. "I found a release in it right from the start — one my personality needed. I found I was a little more comfortable in situations. Right from the start I like it too much and started to black out — by not remembering what happened. From there, I progressed very quickly downhill. I wanted to learn how to drink like a lady, but I couldn't."

When she was 21, she went to AA meetings but felt she didn't belong. After she met her husband, had two children and began to drink daily, she turned to AA for good.

"I JUST COULDN'T stand myself anymore. I didn't stop drinking right away, but I found comfort in AA," she explained. "AA is a fellowship for men and women to share hopes and experiences. I felt other members cared, and I knew I belonged there."

Mary said that through the 12 steps of AA, from admitting to alcoholism to a spiritual awakening, she has learned to live her life day by day.

"Before I quit, I was wandering, frightened, anxious and mentally a wreck. I used to spend 99 per cent of my time worrying about what I did yesterday," she said. "Now I consider myself blessed with real good friends. They understand me."

Understanding is also important for people closest to the alcoholic. According to Father Bowler, statistics say that for every alcoholic four other people are involved. Fran C. is one of those other people.

"I am the recovering wife of a recovering alcoholic," she told residents. "I say recovering because I was sick and the cure is an ongoing process. We are still working on our problem and lives so that alcohol doesn't affect us."

Fran joined Al-anon after her husband joined AA. "It's a group of people, not alcoholics, who live with the alcoholic problem. It helps us understand ourselves and understand that alcoholism is a disease."

BROUGHT UP IN a Midwest home, Fran said she was taught to handle her own problems. In college, both she and her husband drank, but she never realized it was a problem until he started drinking heavily and missing dinner.

"My first reactions were all the wrong things. I hid the liquor; I poured it out. I had a different reason for why he drank every day," she explained. "I finally decided he was sick and wasn't acting normal. He joined AA and for five years he's never had a sip. On the AA program, he became someone I didn't know. I resented it and then realized I needed help."

Fran found that help in Al-anon, which follows the same 12 steps as AA. She still attends group meetings "to help me grow and change," and she sponsors an Alateen group.

Jewelry Is Taken In Home Burglary

A Palatine house was ransacked Friday night while no one was home.

Paul Denz, 9 N. Greenwood Dr., told Palatine police his house was entered between 5:45 and 11:30 p.m. Some costume jewelry was reported taken.

Police said a kitchen door was apparently pried open with a large screwdriver or tire iron. Footprints were found outside the house, which was left in disarray.

Denz did not estimate the value of the jewelry.

against opening and eating their candy before their parents have had a chance to look it over. Even wrapped and sealed treats aren't unquestionably safe for consumption.

Care should be taken in selecting costumes, too, Case said. Parents should advise children to wear costumes that are flameproof, and light in color, making them easier for motorists to see at night.

And the normal rules of traffic safety should be observed by both pedestrians and motorists, but with extra caution.

Trick-or-treaters should also be warned

Palatine Hills —New Concept In Junior Highs

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Board of Education will go to the voters Saturday to request approval of a building program referendum for the construction of three schools. In this second of a three part series, Herald staff writer Jo Ann Van Wye explains the referendum. For more information about the referendum voters may call 358-4400 and ask for referendum direct line.

by JO ANN VAN WYE

Palatine Hills Junior High School has been planned as the first school in Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 to house only junior high students.

Approved by voters in 1969, the school has been in the planning stages for the last two years. Construction of the school now hinges on a successful referendum this Saturday.

Voters approved $2 million for construction of Palatine Hills Junior High in 1969 but the school as planned will take $3 million to build. The extra cost results from inflated construction costs and the architect underestimate of the cost of the building.

In order to get construction under way as soon as possible, the board of education is seeking voter approval to transfer $1 million currently earmarked for an elementary school on the Dawngate site into the junior high building fund.

If approved, Palatine Hills Junior High, located on an 18 acre site on Smith Street in Palatine, will be opened in the fall of 1973. It is planned to be a tri-level building fitting into the contour of the land.

OPENING OF PALATINE Hills will allow the district to move seventh and eighth grade students out of Sanborn and Paddock Schools. It will also allow the district to advance its master plan of making Palatine Hills, Sandburg in Rolling Meadows and Plum Grove in Palatine solely junior highs. Winston Park School in Palatine is slated to become a kindergarten through eighth grade school with practical art facilities added. Also being discussed is the conversion of Marion Jordan School in Palatine into a junior high.

The neighborhood school concept is no longer feasible, according to Marion Omiatek, assistant superintendent for instruction. He explained it is not economical to provide practical art courses and departmentalized classes at all schools for just seventh and eighth graders. By bringing the seventh and eighth grade students together the district is able to offer them more programs.

Junior high students are going through a mental as well as physical change, Omiatek explained. The mental transition is from a pupil centered instruction where the emphasis is on basic skills which requires teachers who have specialized in certain areas.

"We hope to be able to provide junior high students with as many opportunities and experiences as possible so they will be better able to make choices about their future," said Omiatek.

BASED ON THIS philosophy, it was decided the school should exemplify unlimited flexibility, livability, functionalism and financial longevity.

Several committees consisting of administrators and teachers were involved in the planning. The committees visited various schools trying to take the best from each.

The proposed Palatine Hills Junior High would have a capacity of 1,000 students and employ the open space concept.

The 12 science, math and language arts classrooms would form a hexagon around a resource center. The resource center would be designed to be easily accessible from all the classrooms and would provide students with a place to work with a variety of media individually, in groups or as a class.

The classrooms would have sliding doors dividing them which would offer teachers an opportunity to teach in teams. The resource center could also be divided in thirds so groups of teachers could bring their classes together in large areas for interdepartmentalized instruction.

Practical art rooms, foreign language rooms, reading laboratories and an auditorium are also planned. The auditorium would provide the students with a place to meet in assemblies and would double as instructional space and space for music classes.

OTHER FEATURES of the proposed school are a special education wing to house the special education district staff and provide classroom space, a storage area to serve the entire district, a cafeteria where food could be prepared and shipped to other schools in the area, a transportation wing for all district buses and a gymnasium which would be easily accessible to the public.

Tomorrow: An explanation of how the referendum will affect the tax rate in Dist. 15.

You Can Vote In Referendum If You Meet Requirements

Only five days remain before the Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 building program referendum for the construction of three new schools.

In order to vote in Saturday's referendum, residents in the district must be registered voters.

Registration requirements include being over 18 years old, a U.S. citizen, residency in Illinois for six months and residency at the present address for 30 days.

Most Dist. 15 residents should register at the Palatine Township Town Hall, 39 N. Plum Grove Rd. On Tuesday, Thursday and Friday residents may register from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday's registration hours are from 9 a.m. to noon. Residents may also register Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. by appointment. The township hall is closed on Wednesdays.

PALATINE HILLS JUNIOR High School, located on 18 acres on Smith Street in Palatine, is scheduled to open in the fall of 1973 if Saturday's Dist. 15 referendum passes. This architect's rendering of the school does not show the special education wing which has been added. The football field, track and baseball diamond are not planned in the original building stages.

Secession Sure: Hanrahan

A secession of the Northwest suburban area from Cook County is inevitable, but Lincoln County is the wrong name, Edward Hanrahan, Cook County state's attorney, said Saturday.

Hanrahan's comment came at the dinner dance of the Democratic Organization of Schaumburg Township. Other key Democrats who appeared included County Board Pres. George Dunne and gubernatorial hopeful Thomas Foran.

Hanrahan said he doesn't endorse the idea of a separate county for the Northwest suburbs, as proposed by a group of area Republicans, but he sees the move as inevitable based on the amount of growth and the surprising size of the court records he sees.

But the new county, if it evolves, should be named for Harry Truman, Franklin Roosevelt or John F. Kennedy, said Hanrahan, citing the former Presidents as leaders of our time who set the way for modern-day society.

The committee studying the Lincoln County idea, which would involve the secession of six area townships from Cook County, is awaiting a clarification from the state attorney general's office on legalities involved in such a secession.

Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, a member of the committee, has written the attorney general requesting the interpretation of the statute but has not yet received a statement.

Merwin Soper, Palatine trustee and chairman of the study committee, said yesterday he did not expect the next meeting to be held until November or early December, depending on when the attorney general responds to Graham's request.

HANRAHAN'S comment followed those of John Morrissey, Schaumburg Township Democratic committeeman, who said the Republicans proposing Lincoln County are doing so because of the Democratic sweep in the last county election.

"When the Democrats sweep up in the next state and national election those Republicans will want to secede from the union," said Morrissey, drawing a laugh from the crowd of nearly 250.

Foran spoke of the disillusionment of youth with politics, and with reference to the race track scandal. He said politics has "lost its heroes."

He said it is up to the Democratic Party, through politics, to bring new and worthy heroes to elected office. He called politics the only way to forge forward in youth how society can work.

DUNNE, PRESENT for only a few moments, thanked the local Democrats for their support in his last election.

He later reiterated having no intention of running for governor.

"I have enough to do," said Dunne, adding that the idea he was interested in the governor's position originated with the press, not himself.

Bill Colson, campaign manager for Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, another Democratic gubernatorial candidate, also attended the dinner dance.

City Band Not Ready To Perform

The Rolling Meadows City Band hasn't performed publicly since last spring. Attendance has been up at rehearsals lately, but the band is still a long way from its next performance.

Lendell W. King, band director, said the group is seriously hurting for membership, although enrollment has doubled since he assumed the directorship six weeks ago.

Band membership has been on a roller coaster for several years, King said. When he started in September only 15 people showed up for the first rehearsal. He said the band now has 30 members, but at least 50 are necessary for a performance.

King said he thinks the band has suffered in membership and quality because too many young people with too little musical experience were admitted to its ranks.

"I had heard from the older members," he said, "that there used to be a lot of adults in the band. But a lot of students were let in and that lowered the level of music."

"A lot of the older members left, and we have only six or seven adults now."

King said he'd "love to have the adults back, and if it meant limiting the enrollment to adults, that's what we might have to do."

Right now, he said, the band has too few of almost every instrument.

"WE DON'T have enough saxophones, trombones, baritone horns or drums. And we could use some more color instruments like clarinets and oboes," he said.

The band rehearses every Tuesday night from 7:30 until 9, and anyone with some musical experience who is interested in joining can come to the rehearsals at the Trinity Lutheran church, King said. Applicants are welcome from all over the area, not just from Rolling Meadows.

King, the full-time band director at Rolling Meadows High School, said he took the city job on a trial basis for six months. He said at the end of that period he'll decide whether or not it's worth his while to stay with the job.

Scouts Slate Pumpkin Sale

Boy Scout Troop 180, Rolling Meadows Community Church, is holding a Halloween pumpkin sale this week.

The sale started Saturday and will continue through Saturday, the day before Halloween. The sale is being held at the corner of Meadow Drive and Kirchoff Road.

The scouts will be selling pumpkins every day, from the time school lets out until dark. On Saturday the sale will run from noon until dark.

The proceeds will be used to finance troop activities.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

As the Pentagon took 2,000 troops off standby alert, pouring rain washed out an opening antiwar protest in Washington, but its organizers vowed to conduct a year-long campaign against President Nixon's reelection next year. About 400 persons showed up at the Washington Monument and nearly all sought cover when the skies opened with a torrent. John Froines, a Chicago Seven defendant and a leader in the antiwar movement, said the events would be held today.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

American officials said the South Vietnamese government would have to direct its own relief efforts in the wake of typhoon Hester, although U.S. helicopters moved swiftly to rescue thousands of homeless refugees.

The State

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $1.3 million federal grant to rehabilitate 1,500 persons on welfare. Ogilvie said the grant — to which Illinois will add $200,000 — will rehabilitate 1,000 persons in Chicago and 500 in the Peoria area so they can get jobs.

Stock prices moved lower in the duller session since mid-August of last year. Neither the softness nor the lagging pace of trading was expected. Observers noted the list, marking its ninth consecutive decline, was under pressure from a number of continuing economic and business factors. The Dow Jones industrial average, measuring 30 selected blue chips, eased another 3.87 points to 848.50. The Dow lost more than 22 points last week. ## Park District's Winter Schedule Has 27 Programs

The Prospect Heights Park District has announced a winter schedule that includes 27 different programs.

Some of the programs have already started; others will start later this week. Still others are scheduled for later this year.

Ronald Greenberg, park director, said that persons can register for any of the programs in person at the park district office, 98 Elmhurst Rd., Prospect Heights. The office is open 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. Persons also may register by mail.

Saturday morning flag football is being conducted for boys in the fifth through the eighth grades at MacArthur Junior High School. Registration fee is $2. Greenberg said that men who would be interested in coaching a flag football team should contact the park district.

A combination program that will include basketball and gymnastics for boys in the fifth through the eighth grades will start Dec. 4 at MacArthur Junior High. In the weekly program, boys will be involved in basketball for an hour and gymnastics for the second hour. Fee is $12.

A SECOND COMBINATION program, this one including basketball and floor hockey will be held on Saturdays for third and fourth grade boys at Eisenhower School. The program will be held on Saturday afternoons. Fee is $8.

Two sessions of gymnastics for girls in the sixth through the eighth grades are scheduled. The first will start Dec. 4; the second will start Jan. 29. Both will be held at MacArthur Junior High. A $3 fee will be charged.

Women's competitive volleyball will be offered from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesdays at Wheeling High School. Fee is $4. Co-recreational volleyball is also scheduled for 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesdays at Wheeling High. For more information on these two programs, contact the park district office.

Three different skiing instruction programs are being offered in connection with the Fox Trails ski facility at Cary. The two group lesson series will be held in January. Fees for students with their own ski equipment will be slightly less. A one-day ski instruction session is planned for Dec. 30. For more information on any of these programs, contact the park district office.

Wrestling classes for boys in the sixth, seventh and eighth grade are scheduled to begin Nov. 16. The classes will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays at John Hersey High School. Fee is $3.

A ROLLER SKATING program is tentatively scheduled for early November at Wheeling High on Saturday afternoons. Skating sessions will last from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. A 25-cent skate rental fee will be charged. Dates of the sessions will be announced later.

The starting date of the district's ice skating instruction program will also be announced later. The program will be held Saturday mornings at Lions Park. All ages are permitted to register. There will be group lessons for beginning and advanced students, and private lessons can be arranged. Fee for the group lessons is $2.50.

Ice skating sessions will be held seven days a week this winter, weather permitting. The rink will be at Lions Park. Also, this winter, park officials are planning to organize an ice hockey league. Anyone interested in helping to form such a league should contact the park district office.

Knitting, crocheting for knitters and crocheting are three programs set for John Hersey High School. Fee for the knitting class, which starts next Monday, is $10 for eight lessons. A $10 fee will also be charged for the crocheting lessons which begin Monday. The class for knitters who want to learn to crochet will start Jan. 3. Fee is $5 for four lessons.

BATON CLASSES, which started earlier this month, are being held Saturday afternoons at Hersey High. Fee is $8 for eight weeks. A second session begins Jan. 8. Girls five years old and up are eligible.

Cheerleading instruction for girls in the fifth through the eighth grades will start Nov. 6 at Hersey High. Classes will be held Saturday mornings. Fee is $2.

UNIT LEADER MARY Ann Rushing teaches mixed numbers, a math objective, to students who feel they need instruction. Objectives are a major part of Individually Guided Education (IGE), a new learning program introduced this year at St. Raymond Catholic School in Mount Prospect.

St. Raymond Meets Individual Needs

School Is 'Free Enterprise' Plan

by KAREN RUGEN

There was a time when parochial school students couldn't make a move in the classroom without permission from the teacher.

But those times are changing — especially at St. Raymond Catholic School in Mount Prospect. In certain subjects this year, students are learning when and how they want to. It's part of a program called Individually Guided Education (IGE).

"Our biggest thrust is to meet the individual needs of the kids," explained Sister Joan, principal. "Under this non-graded program a child can progress as fast as he is able in subjects that are easy for him. He then has the opportunity to take more time with difficult subjects."

St. Raymond's is one of 300 nonpublic schools across the country selected to participate in the new program. IGE is sponsored by the Kettering Foundation which provides in-service training to get faculties ready for the individualizing process.

The first thing you notice when you walk into the school, 300 S. Elmhurst Ave., is the noise. Students walk in and out of classrooms, stand in corridors and talk to their friends. Except for the start and dismissal of school, there are no bells to tell them what they should be doing and where they should be doing it.

"IT IS A risky business to give kids responsibility because you can't grab it back again," admitted Sister Joan. "But silence doesn't bespeak that learning is going on. We do give the kids free reins. But the kids are much happier about school and are honest about what they are learning."

Most of the IGE program, used in first through eighth grades, is conducted during the morning in mathematics, language arts and sometimes in science. Instead of grade levels, the nearly 900 students are grouped into various age units. There are six units, with groups varying from sixth, seventh and eighth grade students to those in first and second grade. There are four classrooms for each unit with four teachers, one assigned as unit leader.

Key words to the program are assessment, objectives, learning activities and reassessment. When a child first starts the program, he is tested for what he knows. Then after teachers decide what their students need to learn, they set up objectives. An objective can be anything from multiplication of fractions to understanding synonyms; each objective harder than the previous one. Students then choose which objectives they need to learn and how they want to learn them.

"THEY CAN use anything from tapes, books, the teacher to other children and aides to help them learn a certain objective," explained Sister Joan. Volunteer aides, numbering 10 to 18 per unit, work individually with kids needing help with certain skills.

"If a child can learn from a book, other materials or another child, he does not necessarily need formal instruction," said Sister Joan. "But if he does need help, he can sign up and the teacher will schedule a time when she will teach that objective."

Reassessment or in laymen's terms, determining if the child has learned his objective, can be done in various ways. Sometimes he is tested; other times he tells his teacher about it during individual conferences scheduled periodically.

During IGE, students are permitted to work along, with an aide, or small or large groups. That's where the four rooms come in handy. Within each unit, one room is usually designated as a quiet room, one as a testing room and the other two rooms for group teaching. There is also what the school calls an "R and R room" with resources and multi-visual materials.

MOST OF THE decisions on just how the learning process is carried out are made by each unit. "The teachers get together after each day and plan," said Sister Joan. "They decide who's going to teach what and how they are going to do it. Teacher direction also comes in when they watch if a child is learning too much of one thing and not enough of another."

The instructional improvement committee, composed of unit leaders, Sister Joan and the assistant principal, is the highest decision making structure. "We try to set up a routine for the smoother running of things," Sister Joan explained. "Eventually we will evaluate the program."

Evaluation of the program is a big problem, according to Sister Joan. "We have to think through that a little bit further," she said. But teachers involved al-

Good School Addition Plan Sought

School officials in River Trails Dist. 26 are still looking for a suitable building plan for an addition to River Trails Junior High School in Mount Prospect.

Architect Wayne Fritch, of the Berger-Kelly-Unteet-Skaggs firm, last week presented three construction schemes to the school board. The board, which has not formally acted on any of the proposals, had already seen two other plans.

The three latest proposals will be turned over to teachers at the Junior high school for their recommendations, according to Thomas Warden superintendent. "We want to keep the teachers involved," he said.

In September, teachers were asked to make suggestions as to what they wanted in the new addition. Warden said those suggestions have been kept in mind in planning the $525,000 addition, approved as a bond sale by voters in April.

BUILDING COST estimates of the new plans range from $445,700 to $433,000, not including the price of equipment and furnishings. Square footage in the new plans varies from 19,200 to 18,800. Originally the board had considered an addition of 22,000 square-feet which would have been too expensive.

"I'm beginning to wonder how we are going to get the space we want for the funds we have," said Board Pres. Harold Haney. "And we've got 3,000 less square feet than we started with in February."

Preliminary plans for the addition include a home arts room, an art room, a band and general music area, a social studies area and a typing room. Each plan proposed building the additional rooms at different parts of the existing school. The addition would increase the school capacity from 600 to almost 1,000.

"We have to take into consideration that the bigger space you have, the more differentiated staff," said Warden, referring to use of aides and para-professionals. "We're looking for a flexible plan. We still have the traditional approach in the existing building. Now we want flexibility."

Warden suggested consideration of teaching stations instead of classrooms. He said five stations could be placed in one classroom which could be expanded by moving portable walls.

Girl Is Injured In 'Haunted House'

The annual Campus Life haunted house claimed its first victim Saturday night.

The house, which is located in Mount Prospect's old Central School this year, is a Halloween fright fest, aimed at scaring up to 10,000 visitors this year.

While visiting the malevolent mansion with some friends, 16-year-old Lauri Zagorski was struck by a falling locker.

A Mount Prospect Fire Department ambulance took the girl, who lives at 210 Kingman, Hoffman Estates, to Northwest Community Hospital where she was examined and released.

Tape Player Stolen

A $150 stereo tape player was taken about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday from the car parked at the Randhurst Shopping Center, Mount Prospect police said. Police said about five tapes also were taken from the car, which belonged to A. Stametelaky, 37, of Glenview.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

Public Servants' Strikes Opposed

With contract negotiations such a hot issue in several area school districts, thoughts of possible teachers' strikes have crossed people's minds more than once in the last year.

Legally, there is no provision in Illinois law for public servants (people paid by tax money) to strike or collectively bargain for wages. Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights residents polled at random by the Herald yesterday were asked if such a provision should be made.

"It seems to me the collective bargaining is all right," said Mrs. Ronald Benson, of 1805 Catalpa Ln., in Mount Prospect. "But I am opposed to the striking especially by teachers. I feel they have a professional ethic and that when they strike, the children lose out."

Mrs. Bertsen, who lives in Elk Grove Township Elementary School Dist. 59, said she was opposed to a teacher walk-out earlier this year. "I think they acted rather hastily," she said. "I also think that firemen and policemen are people who should be above striking."

Mrs. Norman Hobbs, 108 E. Camp McDonald Rd. in Prospect Heights, agrees: "I think that anybody who works for the public should not have the right to strike because they went into the job with the idea that they are working for the people," she said. "If they go into something like that, they should know how it's going to be from the beginning."

Mrs. Ronald von Busch, of 112 Indigo Dr., Prospect Heights, thinks striking sets a bad example for children. "I think it hurts because public employees are supposed to set an example," she said. "It just shows a lack of regard for the rules although they should do something to get higher pay. Teachers are even more of an example to the kids and striking hurts them because it comes out of our children's school year."

"I think they should have the right to collectively bargain, but as far as a strike is concerned, I am opposed," said Raymond Collins of 4 E. Sunset Rd. in Mount Prospect. "Effects of a strike on the community are very detrimental. I think they can collectively bargain without going on strike."

Mrs. Thomas Cunningham of 912 Waverly Ave., in Mount Prospect thinks public servants should "absolutely" not be able to strike. "It's illegal and that's good enough for me," she said. "It hurts the public because people are without the benefits of these groups."

Mrs. Carl Nelson of 210 W. Ridge Ave. in Prospect Heights is also opposed. "A strike deprives the children of a day of school which they have to make up," she said. "And I think we would be in trouble if police and firemen went on strike."

Meet Individual Needs

ready have some opinions on the program.

"We're teaching them (the pupils) how to work on their own and they're not used to that," said unit leader Mary Ann Rushing. "They have to unlearn and we have to be patient with them. But we do have less discipline problems, probably because the kids are given freedom to move around. If a child is antsy, he can get up and move around. The catch comes when he is responsible for his own movements."

Children are more responsible toward each other under the new program, according to Sister Marjion who works with first and second graders. "When there is a classroom meeting, the kids aren't afraid to tell each other anything — like if someone is making too much noise when he studies," she explained. "And they listen to each other."

STUDENTS LIKE the new program, according to Mrs. Jean O'Malley. "They are gung-ho, even the older kids who had reservations being with sixth graders," she said. Sister Joan admits that by implementing the new program, St. Raymond's is "fighting a big battle because we're coming out of a system where kids have not been responsible for their own learning. We have been spoon-feeding them," she said.

She feels the program will be successful and eventually will be used in other subjects and during the whole school day. "We're on a course we're not going to turn back from," she said. "And that course is individualization."

Today Is Cutoff For Police, Fire Exams

Today is the last day applications will be accepted in Mount Prospect for Saturday's police and firemen examinations.

A secretary for the fire and police committee said the cutoff date was set up so that the written examinations can be ordered in time for the testing at 9 a.m. Saturday at Prospect High School, 881 W. Kensington Ave.

Over 80 men have applied for the 12 available positions.

Kelley Will Be Candidate

John P. Kelley, 40, of Schaumburg, announced his intent to run for the Illinois House of Representatives Saturday during the dinner dance of the Democratic Organization in Schaumburg Township.

Kelley, a 14-year resident of Schaumburg Township, is past president of the Democratic Organization there.

His announcement came on the heels of that of State Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, who announced she will be the first state official who will work for approval of an interchange for the Northwest Tollway at Roselle Road. Her announcement was interpreted as a hedge on Kelley's statement.

Kelley said he was moved to bid for the candidacy because of the trend during the last three or four elections toward a more Democratic vote in Schaumburg Township, traditionally a Republican stronghold.

THE CONSTRUCTION of apartments, condominiums and townhouses in Schaumburg Township, numbering in the thousands, has brought a younger, more liberal voter to the area, voters to whom Kelley said he feels he can appeal.

The redistricting of state legislative districts will also work to his advantage, Kelley believes. He does not now view Mrs. Chapman as a competitor and hopes the added Democratic Party strength in the area will allow for two candidates from his party on the ticket. "My hope is we'll both be elected," said Kelley.

Should only one Democrat be feasible for the ticket, Kelley said he'll have the advantage because more Schaumburg Township precincts were placed in the new district than precincts from Mrs. Chapman's Wheeling Township. The new district consists of the southwest portion of Mrs. Chapman's present 3rd District and includes considerable portions of Schaumburg Township.

Kelley, his wife Patricia and their eight children live at 1324 Chartwell Rd., Schaumburg.

He served eight years as village prosecutor in Hoffman Estates where he formerly lived, is currently legal counsel to the Schaumburg Township Democrats, and is on the lay advisory board at St. Viator Catholic High School.

MRS. CHAPMAN left the dinner immediately before Kelley's announcement but not before telling the crowd of nearly 250 of the role she and former Gov. Samuel Shapiro played in obtaining the tollway interchange for Arlington Heights Road.

The same effort is needed for getting a Roselle Road interchange, she said, declaring herself the first state official to show an interest. Mrs. Chapman reviewed the efforts of a local ad hoc committee of Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg and Harper Junior College officials who are preparing a local survey to show the need for the Roselle Road ramps.

"They're taking the wrong approach," she said, adding that she sent a letter to the Illinois State Tollway Commission Saturday urging a professional study be arranged now to certify the need.

Tollway officials have said the study should not be conducted until completion of construction on major arterial roads through the area, including expansions on Rte. 53, Algonquin, Golf and Higgins roads.

Mrs. Chapman said preparations for the study should be arranged now so it can be carried out immediately upon the completion of road construction and to avoid any unnecessary delay.

Middleton Bomb Trial Continued To Nov. 10

The federal bomb charges trail of Dr. James G. Middleton, a Des Plaines physician, have been postponed until Nov. 10 for a hearing on a defense motion to suppress evidence.

Middleton, who has offices at 69 Elmhurst Rd., Des Plaines, was arrested by federal agents Dec. 31 during a raid on his office and charged with illegal possession of explosives.

Agents reportedly confiscated bombs and explosive devices at the doctor's office and Chicago apartment in simultaneous raids. A federal grand jury returned an eight-count indictment against the doctor July 27, charging him with making and possessing bombs on three different occasions.

U.S. District Court Judge James Parsons ordered the trial continued until Nov. 10 after Santo Volpe, Middleton's lawyer, filed several pretrial motions, including one to suppress all evidence and statements. Volpe alleged that the evidence and statements were obtained in violation of the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth amendments to the Constitution.

Judge Parsons said the motion will be argued in a hearing in court Nov. 10 before he makes a decision. Earlier the judge denied a defense motion to dismiss the indictments.

Middleton, whose medical license has since been revoked by the state, is facing state charges of deviate sexual assault, aggravated battery and theft.

Two Teenagers Are Charged

Two 17-year-old Mount Prospect youths were arrested by Des Plaines police Saturday night after the youths allegedly were found sniffing paint in a car with two juvenile boys.

Arrested were David Lee Olafson and Edward S. Crestoni, both of 123 Morrison St., Mount Prospect.

Des Plaines police said Olafson and Crestoni were charged with illegal use of intoxicating compounds and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Patrolman Mike Albrecht said he stopped the car Olafson was driving for alleged traffic violations Saturday night near the intersection of Cumberland Parkway and Fletcher Avenue. Crestoni was a passenger in the front seat and two 14-year-old Des Plaines boys were in the back seat, Albrecht said.

The patrolman said as he approached the car he noticed an odor similar to glue and then saw a can of spray paint on the floor in the front of the car.

A SECOND patrolman, Kenneth Randolph, then arrived at the scene and reportedly found a paper bag, coated inside with silver paint, under the rear portion of the front seat.

The patrolmen also said Crestoni had a paper bag, also sprayed inside with silver paint, and a piece of cloth heavily coated with paint in his possession.

One of the juvenile boys reportedly had silver paint on his hand. Police said the boy also had dilated pupils and the other boy's eyes were described as "red and watery."

Olafson and Crestoni are scheduled to appear in the Des Plaines branch of the county circuit court Dec. 3. The juveniles were released to their parents.

PTA Notes

The Chicago Percussion Ensemble of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra will present two concerts at Westbrook School Thursday afternoon. The ensemble is directed by Albert Payson.

Both performances will be held in the multi-purpose room at the school. The first is set for 1:15 p.m.; the second for 2:15 p.m. Parents and friends are invited.

The performance by the ensemble is sponsored by the Westbrook PTA as one of a series of cultural arts programs.

A room mothers' tea will be held the afternoon of Oct. 28 in Indian Grove School, Prospect Heights. The affair, sponsored by the PTA, is to thank room mothers for their volunteer efforts. Besides organizing room parties at Indian Grove, the mothers have also set up parties at the district's River Road School at the Maryville Academy for Dependent Children in Des Plaines.

An open house will be held tomorrow night at River Trails Junior High School in Mount Prospect. The event, sponsored by the school's PTA, starts at 7:30 p.m. Parents can tour the school, visit classrooms and meet their children's teachers.

Lists Items Taken On Oct. 8 Theft

An inventory of stolen items has been given Mount Prospect police for the Oct. 8 theft at 122 Indigo Dr., Mount Prospect.

Among the items listed as missing from David E. Tanner's home were silverware, a television set, a clock radio, a jewelry case and many pieces of jewelry, two wedding rings, 25 records, a camera and flash attachment, three watches and a 35 mm. Kodak camera.

The Tanners were helping relatives move the night of the theft. Police said the thieves apparently used a service road of the Soo Line R.R. to approach the house.

Independent Bus 'Questionable,' Hughes Declares

"The possibility of running an independent bus service in Mount Prospect is highly questionable," according to Richard Hughes, chairman of the Mount Prospect Chamber of Commerce transportation committee.

Hughes based his statement on the results of a transportation study conducted last summer by members of his committee in cooperation with Harper College.

According to Hughes, an area mass transportation district would be much more feasible than a bus service serving only Mount Prospect.

Currently Hughes' committee is readying a report for the Chamber that will contain recommendations on mass transportation in the village. The report is based on a telephone survey in which about 600 Mount Prospect households were questioned as to their needs and desires for a bus service in the village. Hughes said yesterday the recommendations in the report would not be made public before the Chamber's board of directors received the report.

HUGHES SAID, however, there were no real surprises in the committee's findings. "The older persons definitely want a bus service," he said. They indicated they would use it for shopping trips, both to Randhurst Shopping Center and to the downtown area, and "simply as a means of getting around the village."

According to Hughes, "Younger people indicated they wanted the service available if they didn't happen to have a car available that day."

Another of the reasons for a bus service, according to those polled, was that it could serve as a means of transportation to the village train station.

Hughes said the survey led him to conclude a mass transit district was the most feasible means of handling the public transportation need in the Mount Prospect area.

Euclid-Lake Group To Hear Town Officials

Mount Prospect Mayor Robert Teichert and Village Mgr. Robert Eppley will speak at the fall general meeting of the Euclid-Lake Association tonight.

The two will discuss the recent annexation by Mount Prospect of parts of unincorporated Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Burning Bush Park Fieldhouse, 303 Lee St.

According to William Hasse, association president, "Following a short business session, the meeting will be turned over to discussion of the area annexation which was approved Sept. 28. After short statements by Teichert and Eppley, the floor will be open for questions and discussion of the time schedule for implementation of the various services."

The meeting is open to anyone in the area recently annexed.

Literacy Center Needs 20 Tutors

The Trinity-Laubach Literacy Center in Mount Prospect needs about 20 additional volunteer tutors.

A 15-hour training course for prospective tutors will begin Nov. 2. The three-hour training sessions will be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays thereafter through Nov. 16.

Working with students on a one-to-one basis, tutors teach English writing and speaking. Students include both those learning English and those seeking to improve their knowledge of the language. Thus far about 35 students have taken the free lessons at the center.

The center, located at Trinity United Methodist Church, 605 W. Golf Rd., is self-sustaining and operates without any financial support beyond the donation of the hall by the church. "Students buy their own books and materials, and the teachers' materials are bought by the tutors (at a cost of $7)," said Sandy Leneau, one of the center's co-directors.

For more information, call either Mrs. Leneau at 259-9236 or Patricia Sandberg at 358-9362, evenings.

St. Raymond Meets Individual Needs

School Is 'Free Enterprise' Plan

by KAREN RUGEN

There was a time when parochial school students couldn't make a move in the classroom without permission from the teacher.

But those times are changing — especially at St. Raymond Catholic School in Mount Prospect. In certain subjects this year, students are learning when and how they want to. It's part of a program called Individually Guided Education (IGE).

"Our biggest thrust is to meet the individual needs of the kids," explained Sister Joan, principal. "Under this non-graded program a child can progress as fast as he is able in subjects that are easy for him. He then has the opportunity to take more time with difficult subjects."

St. Raymond's is one of 300 nonpublic schools across the country selected to participate in the new program. IGE is sponsored by the Kettering Foundation which provides in-service training to get faculties ready for the individualization process.

The first thing you notice when you walk into the school, 300 S. Elmhurst Ave., is the noise. Students walk in and out of classrooms, stand in corridors and talk to their friends. Except for the start and dismissal of school, there are no bells to tell them what they should be doing and where they should be doing it.

"IT IS A risky business to give kids responsibility because you can't grab it back again," admitted Sister Joan. "But silence doesn't bespeak that learning is going on. We do give the kids free reins. But the kids are much happier about school and are honest about what they are learning."

Most of the IGE program, used in first through eighth grades, is conducted during the morning in mathematics, language arts and sometimes in science. Instead of grade levels, the nearly 900 students are grouped into various age units. There are six units, with groups varying from sixth, seventh and eighth grade students to those in first and second grade. There are four classrooms for each unit with four teachers, one assigned as unit leader.

Key words to the program are assessment, objectives, learning activities and reassessment. When a child first starts the program, he is tested for what he knows. Then after teachers decide what their students need to learn, they set up objectives. An objective can be anything from multiplication of fractions to understanding synonyms; each objective harder than the previous one. Students then choose which objectives they need to learn and how they want to learn them.

"THEY CAN use anything from tapes, books, the teacher to other children and aides to help them learn a certain objective," explained Sister Joan. Volunteer aides, numbering 10 to 18 per unit, work individually with kids needing help with certain skills.

"If a child can learn from a book, other materials or another child, he does not necessarily need formal instruction," said Sister Joan. "But if he does need help, he can sign up and the teacher will schedule a time when she will teach that objective."

Reassessment or in laymen's terms, determining if the child has learned his objective, can be done in various ways. Sometimes he is tested; other times he tells his teacher about it during individual conferences scheduled periodically.

During IGE, students are permitted to work along, with an aide, or small or large groups. That's where the four rooms come in handy. Within each unit, one room is usually designated as a quiet room, one as a testing room and the other two rooms for group teaching. There is also what the school calls an "R and R room" with resources and multi-visual materials.

MOST OF THE decisions on just how the learning process is carried out are made by each unit. "The teachers get together after each day and plan," said Sister Joan. "They decide who's going to teach what and how they are going to do it. Teacher direction also comes in when they watch if a child is learning too much of one thing and not enough of another."

The instructional improvement committee, composed of unit leaders, Sister Joan and the assistant principal, is the highest decision making structure. "We try to set up a routine for the smoother running of things," Sister Joan explained. "Eventually we will evaluate the program."

Evaluation of the program is a big problem, according to Sister Joan. "We have to think through that a little bit further," she said. But teachers involved al-

Good School Addition Plan Sought

School officials in River Trails Dist. 26 are still looking for a suitable building plan for an addition to River Trails Junior High School in Mount Prospect.

Architect Wayne Fritch, of the Berger-Kelly-Unteet-Skaggs firm, last week presented three construction schemes to the school board. The board, which has not formally acted on any of the proposals, had already seen two other plans.

The three latest proposals will be turned over to teachers at the Junior high school for their recommendations, according to Thomas Warden superintendent. "We want to keep the teachers involved," he said.

In September, teachers were asked to make suggestions as to what they wanted in the new addition. Warden said those suggestions have been kept in mind in planning the $25,000 addition, approved as a bond sale by voters in April.

BUILDING COST estimates of the new plans range from $445,700 to $433,000, not including the price of equipment and furnishings. Square footage in the new plans varies from 19,200 to 18,800. Originally the board had considered an addition of 22,000 square feet which would have been too expensive.

"I'm beginning to wonder how we are going to get the space we want for the funds we have," said Board Pres. Harold Haney. "And we've got 3,000 less square feet than we started with in February."

Preliminary plans for the addition include a home arts room, an art room, a band and general music area, a social studies area and a typing room. Each plan proposed building the additional rooms at different parts of the existing school. The addition would increase the school capacity from 600 to almost 1,000.

"We have to take into consideration that the bigger space you have, the more differentiated staff," said Warden, referring to use of aides and para-professionals. "We're looking for a flexible plan. We still have the traditional approach in the existing building. Now we want flexibility."

Warden suggested consideration of teaching stations instead of classrooms. He said five stations could be placed in one classroom which could be expanded by moving portable walls.

Girl Is Injured In 'Haunted House'

The annual Campus Life haunted house claimed its first victim Saturday night.

The house, which is located in Mount Prospect's old Central School this year, is a Halloween fright fest, aimed at scaring up to 10,000 visitors this year.

While visiting the malevolent mansion with some friends, 16-year-old Lauri Zagorski was struck by a falling locker.

A Mount Prospect Fire Department ambulance took the girl, who lives at 210 Kingman, Hoffman Estates, to Northwest Community Hospital where she was examined and released.

Tape Player Stolen

A $150 stereo tape player was taken about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday from the car parked at the Randhurst Shopping Center, Mount Prospect police said. Police said about five tapes also were taken from the car, which belonged to A. Stametelaky, 37, of Glenview.

The Market

Stock prices moved lower in the dullest session since mid-August of last year. Neither the softness nor the lagging pace of trading was expected. Observers noted the list, marking its ninth consecutive decline, was under pressure from a number of continuing economic and business factors. The Dow Jones industrial average, measuring 30 selected blue chips, eased another 3.67 points to 348.50. The Dow lost more than 22 points last week. Of the total 1,586 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances, 804 to 434.

Former Members Of Board Eye Proposed Change

by SANDRA J. BROWNING

It was old home week recently around the Municipal Building as five former members of the Arlington Heights Village Board gathered to discuss the village's form of government.

The reunion was last week and included men who served on the hot seats on the village board or as the village president during the 1960s. The gathering was arranged by the Form of Government (FOG) committee which wanted to hear the men's opinions on possible changes in the village's operations.

Although not all the men served at the same time, they did have one thing in common: The four village board members all served under the same village president — John G. Woods who was in office from 1961 to 1969.

The village board members and their terms in office included Roy Bressler, 1965-69; Thomas Hanlon, 1965-67; Carl Mees, 1963-67; and William J. Moore, 1961-65.

FOG ASKED THE MEN about their ideas of the village board members being elected from certain geographic areas, rather than at large as they are now and were, when the men were elected.

Three of the five said they felt the geographic or ward system was undesirable because it leads a village board member to think only about one area and its interests rather than the whole community. The three in agreement were Woods, Moore and Bressler.

Mees said he felt it was time to look at a different type of representation, because the town had become too large for any one person to know the whole town. He suggested a set up where candidates would be required to be a resident of one specific area of town but would be elected at large.

A different type of representation was needed, Mees said, "not that our system hasn't been a good one, but this town is different now than it was 20 years ago when I moved here."

Hanlon said he felt the ward system might serve the village better as Arlington Heights becomes larger and older. At present, the "general problems are more important than area problems, but this may change as the community ages," he said. Geographic representation would be better, Hanlon said, when the village reaches 80,000 people.

IN COMMENTING ON his feelings about a possible ward system, Moore said that type of representation was "horrendous." Serving on the village board has a tremendous impact on the individual, Moore said, because it forces each individual to grow as he finds "you cannot be blindly beholden to any one group — you had to think of the whole community."

As an attorney representing zoning cases and trying to get developments approved, Moore said he would rather go into a town with ward representation because "it's easier for me to win." Boards with members elected by districts tend to form voting blocks whereas the at-large system in Arlington Heights makes it so a person can't predict how individuals on the board will vote, Moore said.

Citing an example of why he felt at-large election was best, Woods said he personally had run into having to vote on a special assessment project which involved his own neighborhood. He said the pressure from neighbors was great, but with being elected at large "it was much easier to face that type of decision and vote in favor of the assessment. I was able to look at the whole community rather than just by neighborhood."

ALSO, WOODS SAID he feared a ward system would hasten the involvement of national political parties in local elections which would be a disadvantage.

Bressler said geographic representation ties an official to a "neighborhood mandate" which is not in the best interest of the whole community.

Also during the meeting, the former village officials agreed it would be best to maintain the present general structure of the hired administrator, the village manager. They also agreed that perhaps two village board members could be added to the present board to ease the individual work load. At present, the board includes six trustees and the village president.

VFW Holds Veterans Day Ceremonies

A four-gun salute to veterans startled downtown shoppers in Arlington Heights Monday morning as the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Arlington Post 981, conducted brief Veterans Day ceremonies at the village flag pole on Davis Street.

Four shiny-helmeted soldiers in full dress uniform from the 45th Artillery Brigade, Arlington Heights, marched a few feet to the flag pole and stood at attention during the ceremony, with rifles resting on their shoulders. Members of the American Legion Merle Guild Post 208 fired the three-round salute.

The Rev. Eugene Birmingham, pastor of St. John United Church of Christ, offered a prayer for the invocation, and said benediction. Col. Edward L. Mills, U.S.A.F.R., spoke in tribute to the 27 million living and 10 million deceased veterans in the United States and gave a short history of how Veterans Day came about.

Besides Mayor John J. Walsh, nearly 50 veterans, including several members of the Lady's Auxiliary Post 981 were present. A taxi cab driver and his passenger got a perfect view of the gun salute and benediction when they parked next to the gunners.

After the ceremony, all attending were invited to an informal luncheon at the American Legion Hall on Douglas Avenue.

Meetings This Week

The low and moderate-income housing study committee will meet at 8 tonight in the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd. The committee includes members of the Arlington Heights Village Board and Plan Commission.

Link K-Mart Opening To 'Buffer Zone'

The K-Mart department store in southern Arlington Heights may not open its doors for business Thursday as scheduled.

A spokesman at the Arthur Rubloff development said yesterday he was uncertain whether the department store at the intersection of Golf and Algonquin Roads will open Thursday. He refused any comment on why the development's opening might be delayed except to say "we have several matters to clear up."

The delay may be because of stipulations in the subdivision agreement which requires a "buffer zone" between the K-Mart and the Surrey Ridge subdivision. Yesterday the buffer was not installed between the homes and the store. The Arlington Heights Plan Commission required a 20-foot barrier between the store and the nearby homes.

VILLAGE MGR. L. A. Hansen said a cash bond might be required, unless the plan commission stipulations are met by the developer. Hansen said the cash bond will assure the buffer zone to be installed, even if the village has to do the work.

According to members of the plan commission, there are other requirements which Rubloff has not complied with, including planting of trees in the parking lot of the store.

The plan commission approved the K-Mart plans in May 1970 after six months of committee study. Considerations of the plan commission included traffic, drainage, lighting, landscaping, sidewalks, and the complaints of Surrey Ridge homeowners who objected to the project.

Scouts Will Pick Up Newspapers

If you live in northeast Arlington Heights, save your newspapers.

Members of Explorer Post 386 and Girl Scout Troop 249, both of Arlington Heights, will pick up papers Saturday for recycling.

The collection, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., will cover an area bounded by Palatine Road on the north, Northwest Highway on the south, Arlington Heights Road on the west and the village boundary on the east.

Persons living outside the area may bring newspapers to the collection point at Frederick and Pine streets, (the St. James Catholic Church parking lot).

Residents of the collection area are asked to tie the newspapers in a bundle and leave them at the curb. Magazines may not be included.

The newspapers collected will be processed by the Pioneer Paper Co. of Chicago for re-use.

The scouts hope to fill one box, which holds 20 tons of newspapers.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

As the Pentagon took 2,000 troops off standby alert, pouring rain washed out an antiwar protest in Washington, but its organizers vowed to conduct a year-long campaign against President Nixon's reelection next year. About 400 persons showed up at the Washington Monument and nearly all sought cover when the skies opened with a torrent. John Froines, a Chicago Seven defendant and a leader in the antiwar movement, said the events would be held today.

An announcement on the date of President Nixon's visit to mainland China is expected soon after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returns today from Peking.

The War

A few hundred persons dotted Arlington National Cemetery to honor America's veterans, including those of the Vietnam War who Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said have "paid a higher price than usual."

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 40 guerrillas in scattered clashes, mostly in the southern half of the nation as action remained light. B22 bombers stayed out of Vietnam for the second straight day, hitting supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

The World

Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, beginning his first official visit to a Western nation, smiled his way through a lukewarm welcome in Paris and promised President Georges Pompidou to wipe out traces of the Cold War.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

Bressler Would Like 'Teeth' In Plan Commission

Former Village Trustee Roy Bressler would like to put some "teeth" into the Arlington Heights Plan Commission.

Bressler, now a member of the Arlington Heights Park Board, said giving more power to the plan commission was one of the top priorities for a change in the village's government.

While speaking to the Form of Government Committee at a meeting last week, Bressler said that too often in recent years, recommendations made by the plan commission have been reversed by the village board.

Bressler recommended changing the commission from a recommending body to allowing it to make final decisions on some zoning and annexation matters. He suggested making a two-thirds vote by plan commission stand as the final decision on any matter unless the village board members decided by a unanimous vote to place the matter on their agenda.

THE FACT THAT the plan commission is only a recommending body with the village board always having the final say results in "developers coming in and playing the plan commission off the village board," Bressler said, adding that the village board often has to take "too much time" in hearing testimony on zoning and annexation matters.

Since the plan commission only makes recommendations, too often developers and local residents may wait until the village board hears the matter before bringing out additional testimony. Thus, the village board is spending time hearing information which should have been covered in the public hearings held by the plan commission, he said.

Bressler said the present plan commission has good geographic representation, with commissioners living in many areas of the village. "Believe me, these are 13 dedicated, hard-working individuals and they need leverage. This would get them the leverage they need," he said.

Moore, a local attorney who frequently represents clients in Arlington Heights and surrounding towns on zoning cases, said he felt Bressler's ideas would give too much power to the appointed members of the plan commission. Annexation and zoning decisions are in the realm of policy decisions which belong in the hands of elected officials like the village board.

The function of the plan commission is to hold public hearings to allow the petitioner to present facts and allow residents "to come in and scream and shout." As an appointive body, the commission would be making some "highly emotional policy decisions," which should be left to the elected village board, Moore said.

HANLON AGREED WITH Moore, saying that anyone who makes a final policy decision should be elected.

Former Village President Woods agreed the plan commission should be given more power, but did not agree with Bressler's specific suggestions. Any question of land use should be reserved for a final decision by the village board, he said.

Perhaps the system could be set up so that any unanimous recommendation by the plan commission would require more than simple majority approval by the village board, Woods said.

Also, some changes could be made in procedural matters, such as limiting the amount of time for testimony before the village board because public hearings on the matter had already been held, Woods said. He added that zoning and planning matters "took a real toll on the time of trustees" when he served as village president and added the board was often criticized for allowing so much time for citizens' comments.

Bressler also suggested the Board of Local Improvements, (BOLI) should be increased from its present five to seven members. He said a quorum of three are sometimes discussing and deciding important issues at present. The board is responsible for initiating special assessments on local residents to pay for sewer, water, paving and other improvements.

WITHIN THE NEXT six or seven years, the plan commission will become less active and the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) will become more active, Bressler predicted. This will happen as the village slows down its expansion and annexation. By 1975, ZBA will need additional members to handle the workload and Bressler suggested adding two members to bring the board to a total of nine.

Bressler also suggested the forming of another standing committee of the village board and dropping the public relations committee. He said a committee on parks and recreation should be one of the committees of the board.

"Sitting on the park board, I see a need for this committee on the village board because there's so much overlap," Bressler said.

Math Teacher Is Apple Of Pupils' Eyes

Teachers in general are not usually very popular among the students, and mathematics instructors tend to be especially disliked.

But that didn't prevent Raymond Thibodeau, a math teacher at Rolling Meadows High School, from coming out on top in a popularity contest of sorts.

As part of the school's "Roundup Week" activities, students were asked to give an apple to their favorite teacher last Wednesday.

Thibodeau, 32, of 850 Checker Dr., Buffalo Grove, received about 15 apples, and not one had a worm. "I just lucked out, I guess," he laughed.

He did admit to giving examinations occasionally, and said he did not know why he remains well liked by his students.

Then, after a moment's thought, Thibodeau suggested, "I think they're trying to butter me up."

Before Rolling Meadows High School opened this fall, he taught two years at Elk Grove High School and four years at Forest View High School. He has been teaching mathematics for 11 years.

"Yesterday," Thibodeau said Thursday, "I ate six or seven apples, I don't remember."

He paused. "I don't think I'm going to eat any today."

Des Plaines Priests Back Housing Plan

by LEON SHURE

Five priests from the three Des Plaines Roman Catholic churches have decided to support proposals for development of low and moderate-income housing in Des Plaines.

The Rev. Martin Farrell, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Pearson and Prairie, and the associate pastors from St. Mary's, St. Stephen's Church, 1267 Everett and St. Zachary's Church, 567 Algonquin Rd., as well as 18 priests from Park Ridge, Niles and Chicago have signed a petition asking for changes in the city zoning codes and active city efforts to create new housing.

The priests, all members of the Northwest Vicariate of the Chicago Roman Catholic Archdiocese, signed the petition Oct. 11, several weeks after 14 clergymen from many of the largest Des Plaines churches signed a similar petition, according to an announcement made yesterday by the Concerned Metropolitan Citizens Committee, (CMCC), sponsor of the low-income housing proposals.

THE CITY COUNCIL'S health and welfare committee has scheduled a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 11, on the proposed changes. Ald. Robert Sherwood, committee chairman, said yesterday he hopes to present recommendations to the council at its Nov. 15 meeting.

The city is now seeking federal approval for construction of a low-income apartment building for senior citizens. None of the groups opposing low-income housing for families have issued statements opposing low-income housing for the elderly.

The low-income proposals, presented to the council last summer by the CMCC, which has waged a so-far unsuccessful campaign for low and moderate-income housing in Arlington Heights, have also been endorsed by the Des Plaines Human Relations Commission.

The Des Plaines League of Women Voters has called for creation of a housing authority to develop low-income housing on scattered sites in the city, but has taken no stand on the CMCC proposals.

Eighty members of the Lake Park Civic Assn. on the city's south side have voted to oppose low-income housing. The Des Plaines Residents' Organization, a newly formed group with about 20 members, has decided to begin a city-wide campaign against the proposals.

Besides Father Farrell, who also was one of the 14 members of the Des Plaines Ministerial Assn. who signed a petition for low-income housing, the other Des Plaines priests who signed the Oct. 11 petition were the Rev. Gerald Dodge, St. Mary's; the Rev. Donald Hughes, St. Stephen's; the Rev. Robert Melcher, St. Stephen's and the Rev. William O'Connor, St. Zachary's.

There are about 18,000 members of the three parishes, although part of the St. Zachary's parish is in Mount Prospect, according to a spokesman for the Archdiocese of Chicago.

The Rev. John Petersen, CMCC Des Plaines spokesman, said the members of the Northwest Vicariate voted to back the proposals after they heard speeches from himself, and Larry Rosser, CMCC chairman.

Reverend Petersen, a Des Plaines resident who heads the housing and racial justice division of the Lutheran Welfare Service of Illinois, said he is pleased "these men representing a major denomination would feel that they can put their faith to work (on this issue)."

He said the CMCC has not asked the clergymen to speak to their congregations about low-income housing, but added he hoped they would.

Father Farrell said he feels Des Plaines clergymen are "standing solidly" in favor of low-income housing, and he has not yet detected any opposition from his congregation, or heard of any in other congregations.

He said low income housing is "morally necessary," and the fight for low-income housing is "the right thing for a Christian to do."

Father Melcher said persons who work in Des Plaines and help to support it should benefit as much as any Des Plaines city resident, and should have the right to live in the city.

Joseph Botte, 560 Webford Ave., organizer of the Des Plaines Residents' Organization, yesterday said he feels the priests may be overlooking the needs of residents here. He said they would be denied "justice" if low income groups came to Des Plaines and lowered community standards.

DURING A SERIES of meetings this summer, the CMCC charged that Des Plaines officials have been guilty of "unconscious racism and discriminatory zoning laws." They said there is much overcrowded and unsafe housing in Des Plaines and that many persons who work in Des Plaines can't afford to live here.

Members of the Des Plaines Residents' Organization said low-income housing is an "inevitable failure" which always lowers the cultural and economic level of communities while raising crime rates and fears of residents.

RAYMOND THIBODEAU takes his place at the head of a class in Rolling Meadows High School. A freshman and sophomore math teacher, he was determined last week to be the most popular instructor.

A program for youngsters and parents interested in 4-H programs will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Camelot Park, Brighton Place and Safford Drive, Arlington Heights.

Although the program is aimed specifically towards residents of the village who live north of Palatine Road and south of Dundee Road, any interested residents have been invited to attend.

Residents in other areas of Arlington Heights will have meetings scheduled in their sections of the village in coming months.

Wednesday's program will include the showing of a film depicting 4-H work. Manuals about 4-H projects will be available.

After this meeting, separate clubs will be organized to suit the needs of people interested in joining a 4-H group. For more information about 4-H programs, contact Mrs. Dorothy Jacobs, 4-H program assistant for Arlington Heights. Mrs. Jacobs, phone number is 392-3418.

The United Fund supports numerous clubs and service organizations in this area.

Parishes Will Get Food For Needy

Nearly 700 cans of food will be taken to five local parishes this week for later distribution to needy families.

The foodstuffs were collected by residents in the area of Heritage Park, Victoria Lane and Highland Avenue, Arlington Heights. The collection campaign was started by Pat Donahue, a part-time recreation leader for the Arlington Heights Park District.

Donahue supervises the after-school park district program offered at Juliette Low School adjacent to Heritage Park. Collectors of the food included children and adults in the area of the school-park site.

'Mighty Army' Slated

"Like A Mighty Army," a film tracing the growth of a Florida church, will be shown Sunday evening in the Arlington Countryside Chapel.

The film, starring Chris Robinson, is about Coral Ridge Church in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., which grew from 17 to more than 2,000 members over a 9-year period.

It will be shown at 8:30 p.m. in the chapel, 916 E. Hints Rd. at Elm Lane, Arlington Heights.

Priests Support Low, Moderate Income Housing

by LEON SHURE

Five priests from the three Des Plaines Roman Catholic churches have decided to support proposals for development of low and moderate-income housing in Des Plaines.

The Rev. Martin Forrell, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Pearson and Prairie, and the associate pastors from St. Mary's, St. Stephen's Church, 1267 Everett and St. Zachary's Church, 567 Algonquin Rd., as well as 18 priests from Park Ridge, Niles and Chicago have signed a petition asking for changes in the city zoning codes and active city efforts to create new housing.

The Rev. John Petersen, CMCC Des Plaines spokesman, said the members of the Northwest Vicariate voted to back the proposals after they heard speeches from himself, and Larry Rosser, CMCC chairman.

Father Melcher said persons who work in Des Plaines and help to support it should benefit as much as any Des Plaines city resident, and should have the right to live in the city.

Joseph Botti, 560 Webford Ave., organizer of the Des Plaines Residents' Organization, yesterday said he feels the priests may be overlooking the needs of residents here. He said they would be denied "justice" if low income groups came to Des Plaines and lowered community standards.

Members of the Des Plaines Residents' Organization said low-income housing is an "inevitable failure" which always lowers the cultural and economic level of communities while raising crime rates and fears of residents.

The CMCC proposals call for:

—Creation of a new zoning classification for multi-family low and moderate-income units. This classification would include small developments with only low- and moderate-income units and larger, mixed-income complexes.

—High quality construction, adequate open-space, maximum number of low-income units consistent with economic feasibility and units large enough to house large families.

—Selection of sites for low- and moderate-income housing scattered throughout the community and chosen to avoid concentration in any one area of the city.

—Use of all available federal and state funds for housing.

—Participation of Chicago area citizens and minority groups in carrying out housing developments.

DES PLAINE COMMUNITY Chest officials, with a little help from the city's public works department, record the amount of gifts received so far in the Chest's 1971-72 charity drive. Raising the tem-

Police To Present Wage Proposals

Des Plaines police patrolmen will present wage raise proposals this week to city officials to begin negotiations on salaries for the 1972 city budget.

Patrolman John Meese, who heads the 50-member local chapter of the Cook County Police Association (CCPA), said the proposals will be presented directly to Mayor Herbert Behrel. He expects formal negotiation to begin soon after the city has studied the wage requests.

Agreement on the percentage increase the CCPA will seek was reached last Friday at a general meeting of the local membership. Before the meeting, Meese said he hoped "this year will be the year we will catch up with the higher salaries" he said are paid to policemen in nearby municipalities.

CCPA OFFICIALS are still trying to determine what effect President Nixon's new economic policies and newly-established wage-price boards will have on salary negotiations for policemen.

Des Plaines police did not receive a two per cent raise, scheduled to begin

Oct. 1, because of the wage-price freeze.

Meese has said he thinks the new boards would set a guideline for raises at "five or six per cent" which he says would not be enough.

In March, 1971, the police association and city officials agreed after four months of negotiation and federal arbitration to a three-step raise, which would have increased salaries by an average of 9½ per cent over the year.

Top pay for patrolmen and firefighters increased by 8 per cent to $11,610, then increased by another 2 per cent in July. If the final 2 per cent raise had not been prevented by the freeze, top pay would have been $12,040.

Negotiations for the police association will be conducted by Meese, and patrolmen, William Spyrisson, local vice president; Mike Albrecht, also a vice president; and Ken Randolph, secretary-treasurer of the Des Plaines Chapter.

City negotiations last year were conducted by Mayor Behrel, City Atty. Robert DiLeonardi, and City Comptroller Duane Biletz.

Mediator For Custodian Negotiations

Both sides have agreed a federal mediator is needed to help settle custodian salary negotiations between representatives of the Des Plaines Elementary School Dist. 62 Board of Education and the Custodian and Maintenance Assn.

According to Ed Crestoni, president of the 40-member custodians' union, the district has offered between 4 and 5 per cent increases, while the workers have "scaled their salary requests from 14 down to 8 per cent increases" since negotiations began in May.

"We had a meeting Oct. 21 and didn't agree on anything," Crestoni said. "At that point we suggested a federal mediator, and both sides agreed to submit to that."

A federal mediator will not be appointed, Crestoni said, until Board President Robert Claus, who is currently out of town, returns to approve the action.

REPRESENTING THE board in the negotiations are members Nancy Sherden and J. Clayton MacDonald and Harold Brieschke, the district's business manager.

Crestoni said his union is also requesting an added salary increase for those custodians and maintenance workers who have at least 15 years of experience.

"Since really skilled workers have come in, we've upgraded our performance and eliminated lots of contracts and service calls," he said.

The workers are also negotiating against the district's policy of hiring new persons for 12-month probationary periods, often without giving them a raise during the entire 12 months.

"We want a four-month probationary period with raises during that time," Crestoni said. "We think that's fair. We know it's not fair for some of the guys to have worked a year without a raise."

"The board was responsive to that request, but the administration wasn't," Crestoni said.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

As the Pentagon took 2,000 troops off standby alert, pouring rain washed out an opening antiwar protest in Washington, but its organizers vowed to conduct a year-long campaign against President Nixon's reelection next year. About 400 persons showed up at the Washington Monument and nearly all sought cover when the skies opened with a torrent. John Froines, a Chicago Seven defendant and a leader in the antiwar movement, said the events would be held today.

An announcement on the date of President Nixon's visit to mainland China is expected soon after presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger returns today from Peking.

A dynamite blast caused extensive damage to the Detroit Police Officers Association headquarters in what police called an "obvious attempt to assassinate police officers." No one was injured but damage was estimated at $3,000.

The War

South Vietnamese troops reported killing 40 guerrillas in scattered clashes, mostly in the southern half of the nation as action remained light. B52 bombers stayed out of Vietnam for the second straight day, hitting supply routes in Laos and Cambodia.

The World

Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, beginning his first official visit to a Western nation, smiled his way through a lukewarm welcome in Paris and promised President Georges Pompidou to wipe out traces of the Cold War.

Gunmen shot and wounded two British soldiers and a policeman and held up a post office and a bar in separate incidents in Northern Ireland. The incidents followed a weekend of violence in which seven persons died, including a youth shot by police who said the youth had helped plant a bomb in a crowded Belfast night club. The club was evacuated before the bomb exploded.

The U.N. general assembly voted to seat Communist China in the United Nations and to oust Nationalist China.

Gov. Ogilvie announced a $1.3 million federal grant to rehabilitate 1,500 persons on welfare. Ogilvie said the grant — to which Illinois will add $200,000 — will rehabilitate 1,000 persons in Chicago and 500 in the Peoria area so they can get jobs.

A birth control pill taken within 72 hours after sexual intercourse has been shown successful in tests upon 1,000 women of child-bearing age without serious side-effects, a physician reported. Dr. Lucille Kirtland Kuchera of the University of Michigan Health service said nearly 900 of the women had used no form of protection.

The Market

Stock prices moved lower in the dulltest session since mid-August of last year. Neither the softness nor the lagging pace of trading was expected. Observers noted the list, marking its ninth consecutive decline, was under pressure from a number of continuing economic and business factors. The Dow Jones industrial average, measuring 30 selected blue chips, eased another 3.87 points to 848.50. The Dow lost more than 22 points last week. Of the total 1,586 issues traded, declines outnumbered advances, 804 to 434.

The pick-up schedule for "leaf days" has been released by the city, so man your rakes and get ready.

New residents take note: once a week city trucks will pass down your street and sweep up leaves that you have raked to the curb. No need for the big, cumbersome plastic bags or dozens of bushel baskets. Just rake them into the street next to the curb on the side or front of your house. The city takes it from there.

Mondays and Tuesdays the trucks will cover all streets north of the Chicago and North Western Ry. tracks. Wednesdays and Thursdays they will clean up the area south of the tracks and north of Algonquin Road. The area south of Algonquin Road will be taken care of on Fridays.

This service is provided by the city at no cost to the residents. With seven trees on my little bit of land I really appreciate the convenience.

JUDGING FROM the amount of noise that was being generated from the huge tent in Spiegler's parking lot last Friday night, people were having fun at the Oktoberfest sponsored by the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce and the Des Plaines Jaycees.

I had a good time, anyway. And so did my kids, my red-headed friend and her husband, and her kids. And so did the two firemen we met over there when we ducked out of the office 15 minutes early to have a quick beer before going home. And so did Ald. Robert Michaels who was selling tickets later in the evening (and did it with a German accent to boot).

And so did Jaycee Pres. Chuck Fries and ex-president Mike Conley who were manning the beer booth and asking for ID's from any woman under 90. And so did Tony Kaitschuck, executive secretary for the Chamber, whose eyes gleamed everytime he had to go to the ticket booths and clean out some of the money. We managed to find our way out of there about 9 p.m. and am I glad I wasn't driving.

I'VE ALWAYS admired women with perfect fingernails and long slender, uncalloused fingers. After working on my treasure chest-type trunk all weekend, my hands are a lovely mixture of black paint, green fabric dye and irritation red. But the trunk is magnificent.

The paint went on the ornate metal trim that was once black but had turned to rust. The dye covered the areas of canvas which were once green but had been taken over by mildew. The irritation-red came from the varnish remover (four coats) and varnish. The only non-damaging thing (for my hands, not the trunk) I used was saddle soap — for the leather straps and fittings — and that was rather soothing.

All that's left to do is polish the brass locks and get rid of the musty smell inside the trunk. Then it will be ready for the living room and I'll be ready for a bit of relaxation.

This do-it-yourself business has got to stop. It always seems so simple when you're buying the piece. It is invariably a misery while you're doing it. But in the case of my masterpiece it was almost worth it.

A LITTLE BIT OF PAINT, a good design and a lot of patience can do a lot for a basement brick wall. Rod Bennett helps give some color to the teen facility at the Mount Prospect Park District's Lions Park Recreation Center. Since September, about 20 teens have been painting designs chosen during the summer by a teen committee.

Two Teenagers Are Charged

Two 17-year-old Mount Prospect youths were arrested by Des Plaines police Saturday night after the youths allegedly were found sniffing paint in a car with two juvenile boys.

Arrested were David Lee Olafson and Edward S. Crestoni, both of 123 Morrison St., Mount Prospect.

Des Plaines police said Olafson and Crestoni were charged with illegal use of intoxicating compounds and contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Patrolman Mike Albrecht said he stopped the car Olafson was driving for alleged traffic violations Saturday night near the intersection of Cumberland

Parkway and Fletcher Avenue. Crestoni was a passenger in the front seat and two 14-year-old Des Plaines boys were in the back seat, Albrecht said.

The patrolman said as he approached the car he noticed an odor similar to glue and then saw a can of spray paint on the floor in the front of the car.

A SECOND patrolman, Kenneth Randolph, then arrived at the scene and reportedly found a paper bag, coated inside with silver paint, under the rear portion of the front seat.

The patrolmen also said Crestoni had a paper bag, also sprayed inside with silver paint, and a piece of cloth heavily coated with paint in his possession.

One of the juvenile boys reportedly had silver paint on his hand. Police said the boy also had dilated pupils and the other boy's eyes were described as "red and watery."

Olafson and Crestoni are scheduled to appear in the Des Plaines branch of the county circuit court Dec. 3. The juveniles were released to their parents.

With the issue of aid to non-public schools featured prominently in the Illinois news these days, and considering that the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers Delegate Assemblies committed PTA's to participate in legal action aimed at preventing public funds from being diverted to non-public schools, the meeting will provide information concerning "why" PTA takes the stand it does and "What action" PTA can take.

Featured at this meeting will be Mrs. Peggy Norton, who has been active in PTA for many years and has played a significant role in educational issues. She is currently Executive Secretary of PEARL — Public Education And Religious Liberty — a not-for-profit incorporation of more than 30 organizations working to preserve our public schools. ## Students OK Constitution 269-69

Oakton Community College students approved a new Student Government Constitution, last week by a vote of 269 to 69.

According to the new five-page document, Oakton's student government will consist of a seven-member elected board of student affairs and a three-member appointed student judicial board.

In charge of the boards will be a student coordinator, who will also serve on the college's president's advisory committee and act as an official representative of Oakton at public events.

Elections for coordinator and board of student affairs will be held in November, Oakton officials said. Any student enrolled at Oakton at the time of the election and during the one-year term of office is eligible to run.

The three judicial board members will be appointed by the new student coordinator, with the approval of the board of student affairs.

The new constitution also provides guidelines for the organization of elections, powers and duties of student government members, vacancies and removal from office, recognition of new organizations and clubs at Oakton, allocation of moneys from the student activities fund and formation of student-run organizations.

The document was prepared for Oakton's 2,350 students by Brian Sundquist of Des Plaines, John King of Park Ridge, Don Tadish of Niles and Adam Lewkowicz and Dan Abrams of Skokie. Steve Helfgot, a member of Oakton's student development staff, acted as faculty advisor.

According to Lewkowicz, during Oakton's first year of existence last year there were several student leaders but no written form of government.

Copies of the new constitution were distributed throughout the college and voting took place Oct. 18 and 19.

Woman Shoots Self In Hand During Party

A west suburban Bellwood woman was injured Saturday night when she accidentally shot herself in the hand during a party at a Des Plaines home. Injured was Margaret Meyer, 48, of 3923 W. Adams St., Bellwood.

Police said the accident occurred at the home of Richard Klass, 1165 Southwest Pl., a relative of the injured woman. Several relatives and friends were at the home, police said, when the accident occurred shortly after 9 p.m.

Police said the gun, a .357 Magnum revolver owned by Kenneth Arner, 59 S. Cumberland Pkwy., was apparently being inspected by guests at the party when the incident occurred.

Witnesses told police Mrs. Meyer was pointing the gun at the floor when it discharged. The bullet struck a table, ricocheted off two walls and came to rest on the couch on which the woman was sitting, police said.

Police said the woman suffered the injury on the little finger of her left hand from either the bullet itself or the muzzle blast from the weapon. She was treated and released at Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines.

Nancy Teaches A No-Gender Subject

by ELEANOR RIVES

When Nancy Lawler, armed with bachelor and master's degrees in economics and political science, went job hunting in New York City, the first question she was asked was, "Can you type?"

The second was, "Are you married?"

The third was, "Do you plan on having children?"

"It's a tragedy in American life that women are forced to go to such lengths to use their education," she exclaimed, tossing her long black hair. "Men can deduct client entertainment expenses on their income tax. Women can't even deduct child care."

Nancy can type, is married and does have children — two active 4-year-old twin boys. At the same time she is using her education, pursuing a career that brings her not only satisfaction but real joy. She is a full-time teacher of political science and economics at Oakton Junior College.

MR. AND MRS. Andrew Lawler have lived in Des Plaines for three years. They moved here from New York City, "an exciting place," where Nancy was an economist with the Federal Reserve Bank. Before that she was a student, first for a year in Switzerland, then at the University of Dublin's Trinity College where she not only earned her degrees but fell head over heels in love with Ireland.

"When I enrolled at Trinity, I was determined to study something I hadn't had before," she explained. "Economics sounded interesting — there is very little gender involved in economics."

How to make the best use of her background after the twins were born was Nancy's nagging problem. "I was extreinely tired of housework," she said.

"The walls began to move in on me. I decided that as soon as Colin and Andrew were old enough, I would send them to a good nursery school."

BECAUSE THEY ARE twins and twins must learn to play and work as individuals, she enrolled them in a Montessori school, where children are encouraged to be independent and to develop individually.

"They are there five days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 12:15, and they just love it," she said. "The first day there they cried, not to leave, but because they didn't want to go home."

"I'm much happier, so the kids are much happier."

Mrs. Lawler began teaching at Oakton last year, part-time at first, then full-time during the summer. She has three morning classes and one evening class, at which time her husband or a sitter cares for the twins. There is no required attendance at Oakton. From 17 to 40 students attend her classes.

NANCY TRIES to make her subjects as interesting and attractive to students as possible. She spends a good deal of time studying different approaches. Should she spend a whole semester on one political issue? Should she use various media as an introduction to political theory? Should she focus on one particular place, such as Chicago? These are some of the things she asks herself.

Her method of teaching depends greatly on the needs of the students. The tutorial method stresses working with the individual. The lecture-discussion method reaches more students at one time. The open admission policy of Oakton Junior College produces a broad spectrum of student abilities.

"I try to offer as broad a range of method and approach as possible within the framework of the subject matter," she said.

NANCY LAWLER believes that economics is not only essential to understanding modern life, but also a marvelous intellectual exercise. "It's not mainly for business majors — it's for everybody. It really fits into the liberal arts category. Whenever I can I try to recruit non-business majors," she said.

She thinks Oakton is a very exciting, wonderful place where teachers can give time to the individual student. She encourages her students to question constantly. "I want them to realize that just because something is in print, it's not necessarily true. They must learn to interpret — not just to memorize what I tell them and parrot it back to me," she said, her dark eyes flashing.

MRS. LAWLER "just loves teaching" and hopes to engage in her profession throughout her life. Next semester she and teacher Bill Taylor will be team-teaching political science and economics, tandem courses taken concurrently by students, an innovative procedure at Oakton.

"Everyone here is always looking for new and better ways to do things," she said rather proudly.

Nancy and her husband, Andrew, a toy salesman for Ertl and Daisy Co., hope some day to buy a summer home in Ireland and eventually to live in that relaxed, congenial country. The vitality of the conversation, the way people there enjoy life, appeals to them.

Will she teach? Of course. For the rest of her life, if possible. Even though she can type.

TWINS COLIN AND ANDREW Lawler give Mama a hand as she decides on a new teaching approach for her political science and economics classes at Oakton Community College. While Nancy pursues her teaching career, her active 4-year-old sons attend a Montessori nursery school.

Clearbrook Brunch 'Tops' In Attendance, Proceeds

The eighth annual Clearbrook Brunch, sponsored by the 26 members of Friends of Clearbrook, topped all other years in both attendance and proceeds. More than 700 guests attended the benefit held Oct. 17 — 100 more than last year.

Tickets, at $7.50, were oversold. Proceeds of more than $10,000 plus private donations may total nearly $16,000, nearly closing the Friends' two-year pledge of $17,000 in one year, according to Mrs. Richard Cameron, chairman from Plum Grove Estates, Palatine, and Mrs. Robert Drake, co-chairman from Arlington Heights. Mrs. Drake's parents, the Jack Harrisons of Lincolnwood, financed this year's benefit. Proceeds will go toward three new classrooms for the Clearbrook Center for the Retarded.

THE BENEFIT brunch was held in the Jimmy Durante Rooms of the Arlington Park Towers. The first brunch was held in 1963 with a few hundred guests gathering in a basement room of the Arlington Carousal.

Entertainment that year consisted of a two-piece combo which has now grown to 20 area musicians, "The Clearbrook Symphony," who play "just for fun" and donate their talents to Clearbrook. The band includes many who once played with such greats as Jimmy Dorsey and Glen Miller.

Clearbrook Center is located in Rolling Meadows with branches in Des Plaines and Elk Grove Village. The Rolling Meadows Center opened in 1956 in a converted barn with mothers of children as teachers. Later it was housed in the city's new Community Church and then in the First Presbyterian Church, Arlington Heights.

THE SCHOOL'S own building on Campbell St., in Rolling Meadows, opened in 1966 with a full complement of professional teachers. It has evolved into a private non-profit agency licensed by the state to provide day care services for mentally retarded children in Palatine, Wheeling, Schaumburg, Elk Grove and Maine Townships.

The Rolling Meadows facility provides a children's day school and center as does the center in Des Plaines which meets in the Church of the Master. The Elk Grove facility, in the Centex complex, houses a vocational rehabilitation center and sheltered workshop. Four of the workshop "graduates" had purchased tickets and were among the guests at Sunday's benefit.

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: I once heard that one could put new zip into limp nylon curtains by dipping them in an Epsom salts solution. Have you ever heard of this?

—Mrs. Berenice Hanlon.

We've never had nylon curtains but have heard that an Epsom salts solution does give life to a too-soft nylon curtain. One friend put a cup of Epsom salts in a cup of hot water, and when it was dissolved, added 1 quart of cold water. The curtains were dipped in this and hung to drip dry — not wrung. Another reported using a solution of ½ cup starch to 1 gallon of water.

Dear Dorothy: There is an easy way to tell if a vacuum-packed jar of baby food has been opened by someone. Hold the jar in your hand and press your thumb down on the lid in the center. An unopened lid will not move but an opened one will go up and down under the pressure. Try it with two jars at home and you'll see how simple it is.

The young can experiment at home. We're beyond that point. Do think that if one sees some unthinking person open such a jar and taste it, it would be wise to turn it over to the manager. Of course, unthinking isn't the right word. Those who tinker with baby food in stores really deserve arrest.

Dear Dorothy. What is that thin, papery covering on lamb roasts? Does it have to be removed before cooking it?

—Mrs. Robert B.

It's called the "feli" and it isn't necessary to take it off when baking the meat. The seasoning will go right through into the meat. Some cooks think the lamb tastes better if the "feli" is left on — that it keeps the juices in.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Save Your Pet Food Labels, Help Juniors Help The Blind

Dog and cat owners are urged to save Vet's, Perk and Peak pet food labels during the coming year for the Junior Woman's Club of Des Plaines Coupons found on Perk Food Co. products will provide a blind serviceman with a seeing-eye dog from the Pilot Guide Dog Foundation.

To help in the collection of coupons, the Juniors' community service committee members have placed containers in chain food stores, grocery stores and meat markets in Des Plaines, Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights. Clipped coupons can also be sent to Mrs. Robert Kase, 718 Mark Ave., Des Plaines, the veteran's service chairman.

Coupons collected by the Juniors last year have been credited to their account at Pilot Guide Dog Foundation. The club will continue to collect the labels through March, 1972. About 30,000 coupons are needed to purchase one dog.

Seeing-eye dogs provide travel, mobility and an opportunity for economic self-sufficiency for the blind. The serviceman receiving a guide dog from the Foundation will also receive free transportation to and from the training center and four weeks board and lodging while being trained to use the dog.

Elk Grove Clinches South Title; St. Viator Rolls To 28-7 Victory

Elk Grove captured the Mid-Suburban League South Division championship, Forest View clinched second place in the same division. St. Viator remained on top of the Suburban Catholic Conference and Maine East, Notre Dame and Harper absorbed losses in area football action over the weekend.

ELK GROVE 35, CONANT 0

With this awesomely impressive victory, the Grenadiers won the South Division crown and will represent the South in the MSL championship game Saturday, Nov. 6 against the North Division winner.

The North Division champ will either be Wheeling or Hersey, who play each other this Friday. The winner of Friday's clash will go against the Grenadiers for the league championship.

A 33-yard scamper of Gary Martin and an extra point by Gary Adams gave Elk Grove a 7-0 lead early in the first quarter. A one-yard plunge by Dave Chernick and another Adams kick made it 14-0 before the first period ended.

Jim Leopardo tallied on a five-yard run and Adams placement was accurate to put Elk Grove on top 21-0 in the second quarter.

An 18-yard run by Scott Bentall and an extra point by Adams gave Elk Grove a 28-0 lead early in the fourth quarter and another one-yard plunge by Chernick and an extra point by Adams made it 35-0.

The Grenadiers rolled for 276 yards in total offense, 253 coming on the ground. Leopardo was the leading ground gainer with 91 yards on 22 carries. Martin had 53 yards on six carries, Bentall had 33 on five tries, Frank Taucher had 31 on seven and Jeff Stewart had 28 on four.

Elk Grove's defense had a fantastic game, limiting Conant to only 66 yards in total offense. Only six of these yards came on the ground.

The Grenadiers are 4-0 against South Division competition and are 5-1 overall. Their only loss came at the hands of Hersey.

FOREST VIEW 49, PROSPECT 18

With Dave Schneider getting 160 yards and Mike Pryor 131 yards, Forest View's offense put on its best display of the season as the Falcons rolled to their fifth victory of the season against one loss.

It was hardly a contest throughout as Forest View took a 16-0 lead in the first quarter and led 30-0 at halftime.

Schneider's yardage came on only 18 carries and Pryor carried the ball 19 times.

Pryor scored the first two Falcon touchdowns, one from 36 yards out and the other from 24 yards away. Pryor ran for the first two-point conversion and Schneider ran for the second.

A two-yard run by Schneider and a two-point conversion run by Pryor made it 24-0. Bill Millner hit Dale Schoenbeck with a 3-yard touchdown pass before the half ended to make it 30-0.

After Prospect scored six points, Schneider exploded for an 84-yard run and Matt Cotten kicked the extra point to make it 37-6. A 15-yard run by Don Divito made it 43-6 and a 50-yard run with an interception by Rich Hoyt made it 49-6. Prospect scored two meaningless touchdowns in the fourth period.

The Falcons picked up 411 yards in total offense, 370 of which came on the ground.

ST. VIATOR 28, ST. JOSEPH 7

Once again Joe Bombicino supplied much of the offensive thrust as St. Viator remained undefeated in the Suburban Catholic Conference and retained a one-game lead.

Bombicino picked up 159 yards on 21 carries and scored two touchdowns. Stan Bobowski contributed 97 yards on 12 tries and added a touchdown.

An 85-yard run by Bombicino and an extra point Frank Cliggett gave St. Viator a 7-0 lead. Tom Chapman scored on a 16-yard run and Cliggett again kicked the extra point to give the Lions a 14-0 lead before the first quarter ended.

Neither team scored in the second period.

St. Joseph closed the gap to 14-7 in the third quarter on a 16-yard touchdown pass, but Bobowski scampered 54 yards for a Lion touchdown later in the third period to make it 20-7. Cliggett kicked the extra point to make it 21-7.

A one-yard plunge by Bombicino and an extra point by Cliggett ended the scoring.

The Lion defense had another fine day, holding St. Joseph to 62 yards rushing and 72 yards passing. St. Joseph completed only four of 18 pass attempts.

HOLY CROSS 21, NOTRE DAME 0

The Dons were all but mathematically eliminated from the Suburban Catholic Conference title with this loss to Holy Cross.

Notre Dame now has a 2-2 SCC mark and trails St. Viator, which is 4-0, by two full games with only three remaining on the schedule.

Holy Cross, meanwhile, stayed one game behind the Lions with a 3-1 record. Holy Cross and St. Viator will encounter Sunday.

RIVERSIDE-BROOKFIELD 14, MAINE EAST 0

The Demons came up with their best defensive performance of the season but still lost the West Suburban League clash.

A year ago, Maine East saved its best game for the Bulldogs and did the same this season but could not pull out the victory.

Riverside-Brookfield took a 7-0 lead in the first quarter and led 14-0 at halftime.

The Demons are now 0-6 and has a 13-game losing streak and will play Hinsdale Central, a 64-0 winner over York this past weekend, this Saturday.

TRITON 40, HARPER 0

Triton showed why it is the 18th ranked junior college football team in the nation as it rolled for 367 yards in total offense and held Harper to a mere 72.

Triton led 13-0 in the first quarter, 26-0 at halftime and 33-0 at the end of three periods.

The loss was Harper's fifth of the season with one win to its credit.

RON RAMBLES. Maine West tailback Ron Siska picks up seven yards during Saturday's 15-12 loss to Deerfield. Siska paced the Warriors in rushing with 39 yards on 12 carries. In background is quarterback Frank Mitchell.

THE BEST IN Sports

Harper Runners Fifth In Invite

The College of DuPage Invitational just may be a preview to the national cross country championship.

Running on the Maryknoll Seminary grounds in Glen Ellyn, 14 teams, including Harper College, saw possibly the top team in the nation in Vincennes of Indiana. This team easily won the meet with 18 points with the University of Illinois frosh-soph team taking second with 67.

The Hawks finished fifth behind third place Florissant Valley (96) and DuPage (97) with 194 points.

Pat Dunning, who probably would have finished second last year because of the competition, according to head coach Bob N. Van, ended up in 21st place with a time of 21:54.

Three Hawks finished in less than 23 minutes over the four-mile rolling course — John Geary in 30th (22:10), Frank Savage in 38th (22:20) and Steve Feutz in 43rd (22:25).

Dave Wittenburg was 62nd (23:40) and Vince Weidner in 78th (25:25) among the over 100 young men competing.

"I thought we did pretty well as a team," said Nolan. "I thought fourth or fifth was all we could have done there. With 15 teams, the competition was quite a bit stronger than last year."

Harper recently finished its dual season with a perfect 14-0 overall mark.

Harper Golfers Three Strokes Off The Pace

Harper College, co-champion in the Skyway Conference last year, nearly gained a share of the title again this season at Midlane Country Club.

The Hawks, tied for second place with two other teams heading into the SC championship meet Friday, finished three strokes off the pace of Lake County, the only undefeated league entrant, 326 to 329.

Rated the fourth toughest course in the Chicagoland area, Midlane proved a mystery for Frank Fenton, Harper's ace from St. Viator High School. The talented freshman couldn't break out of the 40's with a 43-41-84 finish.

Leading the Hawks to outright second place was Scott McMillion with a very solid 79 (38-41), good enough for third in the individual medalist battle.

Steve Leggett was the second best shooter for Harper with an 82 (41-41) with Brad Stake matching Fenton with an 84 (42-42).

Finishing the top medalist was Tim Hibbing with a 75 over the demanding par 72, 6800-yard layout.

Harper will host College of DuPage and Morton this afternoon at 1:00. Then the team will move on to the Region IV finals at Champaign on Friday and Saturday.

Falcons Chase Palatine Harriers

Forest View Just Misses A Title

by LARRY EVERHART

"If the race had been 100 yards shorter we would have won."

That correct statement from Forest View coach Bill Mohrmann described just how close and exciting was the Mid-Suburban League cross country meet Saturday in Lombard on a misty, overcast day.

Few sports thrills can match a race's whirlwind finish with the winner coming on to pass up the leaders on the home stretch. That was the case in this race as the eventual top three runners rallied over the last portion of the course.

Palatine's youthful team, with the steady veteran one-two punch of Brian Barnett and Fred Miller as fourth and fifth runners in the meet, nosed out Forest View for team honors with 53 points to the Falcons' 59. Fremd, the other pre-meet favorite along with the Pirates and Falcons totaled 34 for third while Elk Grove was fourth, Hersey fifth and Arlington sixth.

It was the first time in four years that Fremd failed to win the conference meet. The last non-Viking winner was Arlington in 1967.

This was also Palatine's first conference title in cross country since 1963

Mark Nugent

(when it was a member of the North Suburban Conference) and the Pirates' first MSL championship in anything since 1967 in track.

The individual scramble was just as interesting as the team chase. Mark Nugent, who has emerged as Fremd's No. 1 man in the latter part of the season, won in 13:45, a seven-second margin over Brian Powell of Elk Grove. Damian Archbold of the Grenadiers, who like Nugent put on a furious finish, grabbed third ahead of Barnett and Miller.

Next came a pair of Falcons, Rick Wis and Scott McGovney, followed by sophomore Arnold Jackson of Schaumburg, who had the best record in dual meets of anyone in the conference.

The big pack, which went around the course three times, was led by Jackson for the first third before McGovney took over for the middle part of the race. McGovney led as the runners disappeared around a hill for the last go-around. What followed was a wild ending as Nugent and Archbold came out of nowhere.

Another interesting thing about the win, besides the hair-raising ending, is the youth of the Pirates. Only their top three men are seniors, combined with two juniors and two sophomores.

"It was so close," said Palatine coach Joe Johnson, "that I wasn't sure right away that we had won. We had to wait until the official announcement."

He added, "This was a real team effort. The guys had to put out extra because Mark Johnson, who has been our second or third man all year, sprained an ankle early in the race. Things like that seem to have been happening to us a lot lately."

Johnson kept running but could get only sixth for us (in the meet). So (junior) Scott Williams, usually our sixth man, ran fourth and beat all the other men's third men. And Steve Peterson (another junior) got third instead of his usual fourth (among Pirate runners).

Forest View coach Bill Mohrmann commented, "Our guys really gave it 100 per cent. We want to congratulate Joe Johnson and his fine team. They overcame a lot, having to get really worked up for two meets in a row."

The other had been last Tuesday when Palatine gained a "must" 23-33 win over Fremd to throw the league race into a three-way tie with everything riding on Saturday's showdown.

The Pirates started out slowly but have come on like gangbusters in the last few meets, improving their times more than any other team in the MSL.

"We didn't have organized workouts in the summer like some teams (such as Fremd)," Johnson says. "So I knew we wouldn't be real tough early in the season. I just hoped we could come along as we have."

"These guys were all real dedicated. They would run on their own, mornings before school, without being required to.

We couldn't have one practice at the school all year because our track has been under construction. It will be a real help to have the new one ready this spring."

Fremd, of course, had perennially dominated the league until this year. The Vikings were dethroned not because of a decline on their part but because of a tremendous improvement in overall caliber of competition in the MSL.

"I had been very confident we were ready to go," said Viking coach Ron Menely. "I thought we'd come back strong after that loss to Palatine and I felt we had the ability to do it."

"But five of our top seven kids have had very little experience in big meets (three sophomores and two juniors). The pressure just got to them. Of course, that's not really an excuse, because look at Palatine!"

Of the Pirates, Menely commented, "They can run even better than that. Their first two men could get better. They have tremendous potential and, I think, a good chance to place in the state meet. Their sophomores and juniors showed a great deal of poise under pressure."

He was referring to sophs Paul Kearns and Dave Tehle and juniors Williams and Peterson. But Barnett, Miller and Johnson (if his ankle is fit) are the Pirates to watch in the state elimination series beginning today.

West To Host District Test

The first step on the road to the state meet will be held today as Maine West High hosts a district meet starting at 4 p.m.

The top five teams and the top 10 individual runners will advance to the Barrington Sectional meet on Saturday at 11 a.m.

Teams entered in the Maine West District besides the host Warriors are Arlington, Forest View, Hersey, St. Viator, Maine North, Maine East, Maine South, Elk Grove, Evanston, Prospect, Notre Dame, Rolling Meadows, Niles East, Niles North and Niles West.

The meet promises to be an interesting one since a number of top teams are entered. Maine East is the defending state champion, Maine West won the Central Suburban League championship, Notre Dame won the Suburban Catholic Conference championship and Forest View finished second in the Mid-Suburban League and Evanston was a third place finisher in the state meet last fall.

The meet will be held on the Maine West campus at Oakton and Wolf roads in Des Plaines.
